LA JOLLA
CLASS of '83
The Oxford Anthology of English Literature
VOLUME I
LA JOLLA HIGH SCHOOL

SENIORS

In its three year tenure at La Jolla High, the class of '83, through hard work and enthusiasm, left a strong mark. The class' spirit showed brightest at Blast-Off, Homecoming and other traditional student activities. Because of their diligence for perfection, the class of '83 had a record number of National Merit Semi-finalists, and the Varsity sports had one of the finest years in the history of the school. The class of '83 will long be remembered in the annals of La Jolla High.

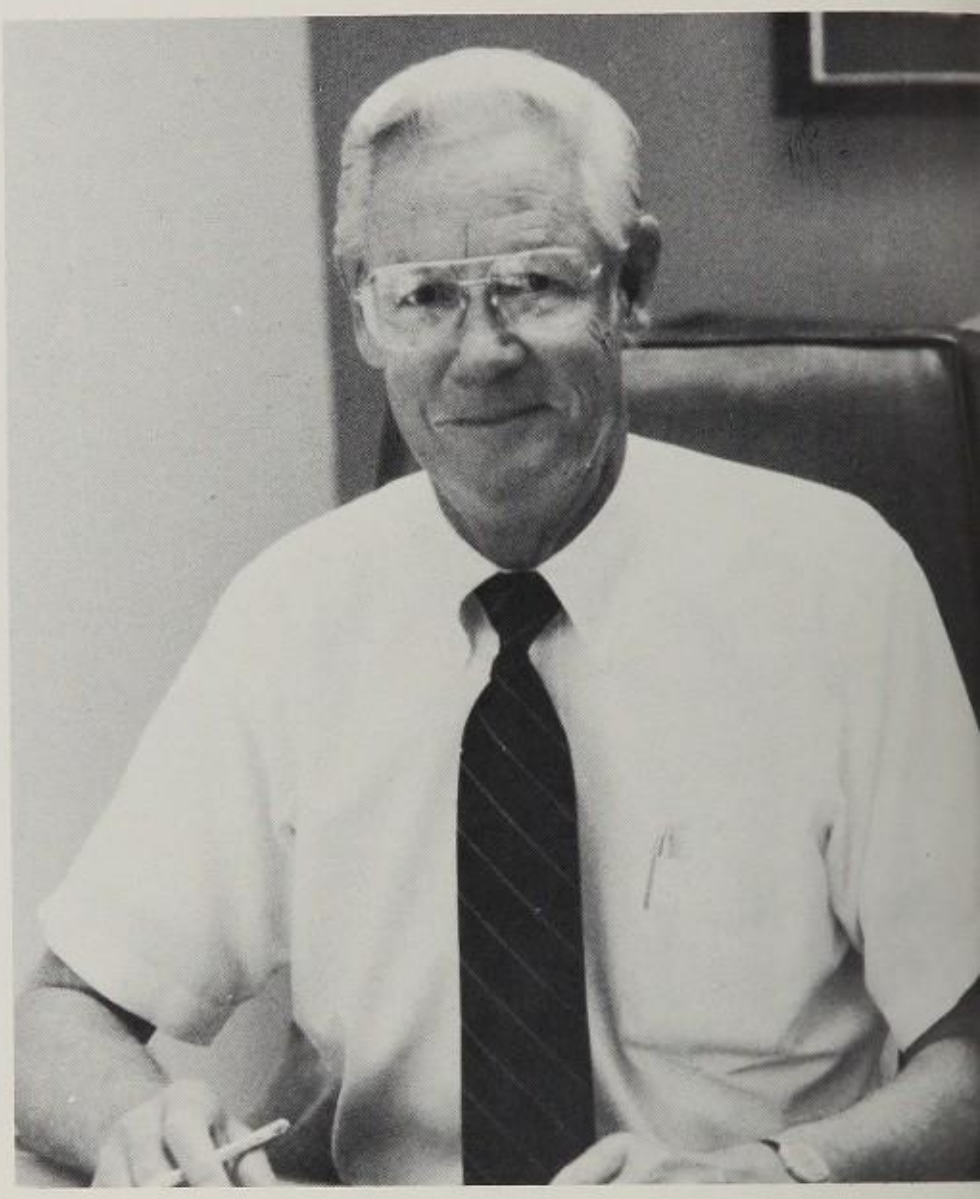
ADMINISTRATION

Mr. Charles Clapper: Mr. Clapper a jetfighter? Yes, this is what the principal of our school would be, if he could be anyone else in the world. Mr. Clapper has been here for fifteen years, and in the beginning, he faced many rebellious students of the Vietnam time period. Now he is a stable force in the administration, and enjoys the highly dedicated teaching staff. He prides himself on the fact that the students of La Jolla High School want a good education.

Dr. Joy McAllister: If Dr. McAllister could be anyone at any time, she would love to be Queen Elizabeth. Dr. McAllister has been the girls' Vice Principal at La Jolla High for eleven years and spends much of her time supervising athletics and working with the integration program. She thinks that she would have been a famous writer or traveler if she hadn't become an administrator at La Jolla High.

Mr. Michael Lorch: The next goal of Mr. Lorch, the boys' Vice Principal at La Jolla High, is to become the Superintendent of the School District. During his three years here at La Jolla High, Mr. Lorch has undertaken such responsibilities as planning the master schedule, and the supervision of math, science, and P.E. classes. Designing and building furniture is what Mr. Lorch would most like to do in the future, when he retires.



COUNSELING

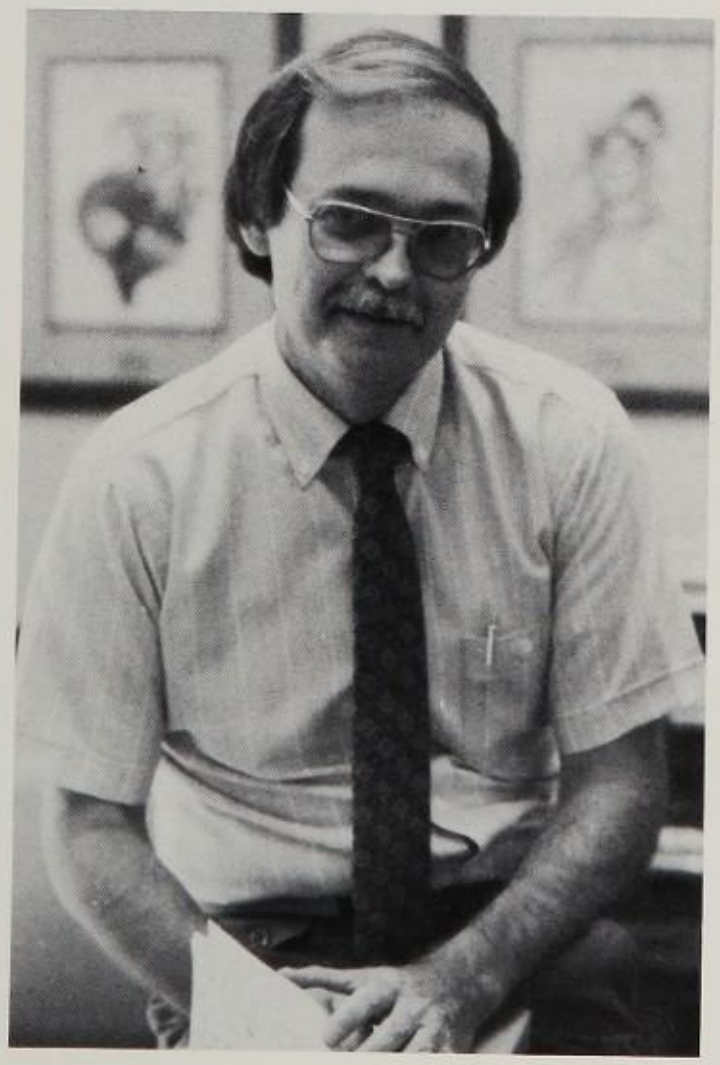
Mr. Bill Harris: The dreams of Mr. Harris, the head counselor at La Jolla High, are of being a skipper in the American Cup. He graduated from Indiana State, and has been a counselor here at La Jolla High for a number of years. He has always wanted to be a counselor, but when he retires, he will spend much of his time sailing.

Mr. Dennis Adams: Mr. Adams' best experience at La Jolla High School was going to the ten-year reunion of his first class. He felt proud of the successes of many of his ex-students. This he feels is the only true satisfaction he needs from counseling.

Mr. Art Northrop: White-water rafting in Chile and Africa is Mr. Northrop's desire for himself when he retires. For nineteen years, Mr. Northrop has been a diligent counselor at La Jolla High. His favorite experience was when his first daughter graduated from this school.

Miss Mary Porter: If Miss Porter could retire now, she stated that she would travel. Where she traveled was not the important thing. She has always wanted to be a counselor because of the satisfaction she gets from helping kids. Miss Porter has been at this school for twenty years.

(Clockwise from top left): Mr. Charles Clapper; Mr. Bill Harris; Miss Mary Porter; Mr. Art Northrop; Mr. Dennis Adams; Mr. Michael Lorch; Dr. Joy McAllister.



SECRETARIES

Mrs. Francisca Albanil: Mrs. Albanil, the junior clerk, enjoyed her first year at La Jolla High. She claims that it was primarily because of the sensational staff, which helped her through the tough moments.

Mrs. Mintie Bowman: Unfortunately for Mrs. Bowman, the registrar secretary, her job includes dealing with the dreaded computer. Since you can't blame a computer for failing, its programmer, Mrs. Bowman, gets the blame.

Mrs. Jean Britt: Mrs. Britt had a novel answer when asked why she enjoys working here. Her response was because of her enjoyment of the drive along Highway 52.

Mrs. Dee Engelken: Mrs. Engelken, the new counseling secretary, reflects on her first day working here with amusement. She was faced with many questions she couldn't answer. Now her biggest problem is her cluttered desk.

Mrs. Dorothy Haven: Mrs. Haven loves her job because she has the privilege of seeing what colleges the students attend. Her main dislike about her job is that some of the students need to have things done "right now."

Mrs. Olga Mendoza: Being one of the attendance secretaries, Mrs. Mendoza has the privelege of dealing with parents who their kids are perfect. When they receive calls from Mrs. Mendoza, many parents find it hard to believe their children are out of class frequently.

Mrs. Barbara Morales: Mrs. Morales, one of the attendance secretaries, dislikes dishonest students who call trying to excuse themselves from school. The faculty and her hours have kept her working here for five years.

Mrs. Elizabeth Nemeth: Mrs. Nemeth is the financial secretary at La Jolla High. Her work comes in spurts, meaning that sometimes she can't stop to breathe. Her job entails budgeting instructional supply money, depositing money from ticket sales, and ordering all supplies.

Mrs. Gerie Stallé: Mrs. Stallé, the principal's secretary, believes that her best experience here at La Jolla High was being presented with eight long-stemmed roses at the beginning of this year. Bells not ringing on time seemed to be her only frustration in working here.

SPECIALIZED TEACHERS

Mrs. Carolyn Blatt: Mrs. Blatt is a Teacher's Instructional Aide. She finds math the most important subject to teach since it is used so much in everyday life. Mrs. Blatt would love to travel around the world and enjoys cooking exotic Chinese and Italian dishes.

Miss Jeri Haven: Miss Haven is also an Instructional Aide. She teaches P.E. and English. Relating to students on a one-to-one basis and communication are important to Miss Haven. Her worst experience at La Jolla High was having to sub in a Biology class.

Mrs. Jean Ilstrup Mrs. Ilstrup, the Assistant Librarian, came to La Jolla High this year. She is in charge of textbook circulation and processing new books. She enjoys her job, except when it calls for operating the mimeograph machine.

Mr. Paul Jewell: Mr. Jewell, the Media Service Director, feels that accuracy, neatness, and high quality are important in the communication business. Though he is frustrated by being interrupted, Mr. Jewell enjoys the highly motivated and energetic students. Someday, he'd like to own his own Commerical Television facility.

Mrs. Barbara Mondt: Mrs. Mondt, the Assistant Career Counselor, enrolls students in ROP class, keeps college catalogs current, and administers career planning inventory. She enjoys being so well-accepted by the students, but could do without the mice in her room.

Mrs. Phyllis Roeder: This is Mrs. Roeder's first year at La Jolla High. She is the Administrative Assistant. Her job includes supervision, coordinating federal lunches, and scheduling team and VEEP buses. When asked why she likes her job, she replied, "I like people. Nothing really bugs me."

Mrs. Alice Buschmann: The nurse, Mrs. Buschmann, has been at La Jolla High for 21 years. She enjoys the great people here, but gets frantic because she can only do one thing at a time and there's never enough time or privacy for students with special problems.

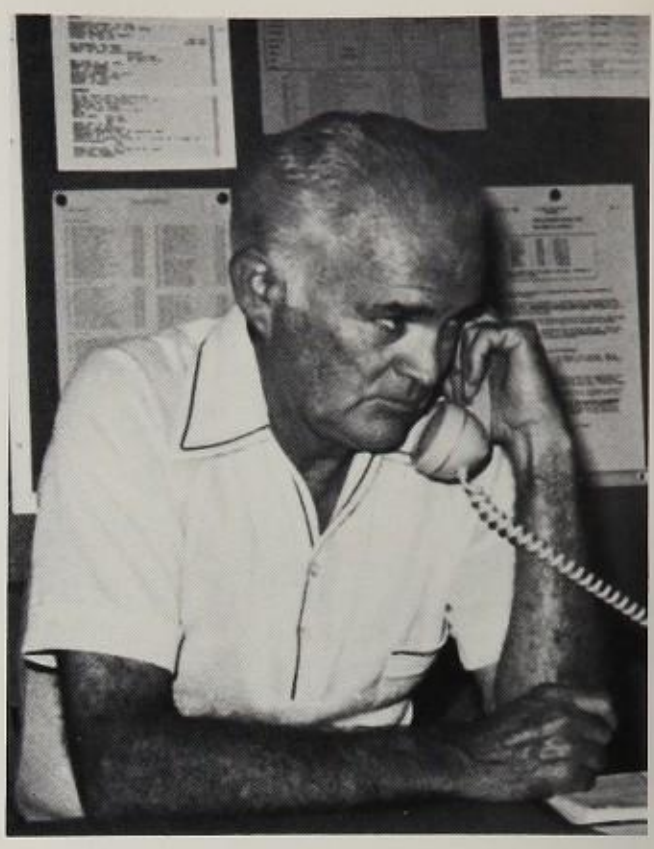
Mr. Chet Cooper: Mr. Cooper, the District Counselor, has also been at La Jolla High for 21 years. He is rewarded by seeing students he has worked with graduate. Mr. Cooper's job involves dealing with attendance, truancy, and home problems.

Mrs. Ellen Fisher: When Mrs. Fisher, the Social Concerns Counselor, was asked why she likes her job, she replied, "Because everyone is interested in sex." She also likes the politeness, humor, and caring of the people at La Jolla High.

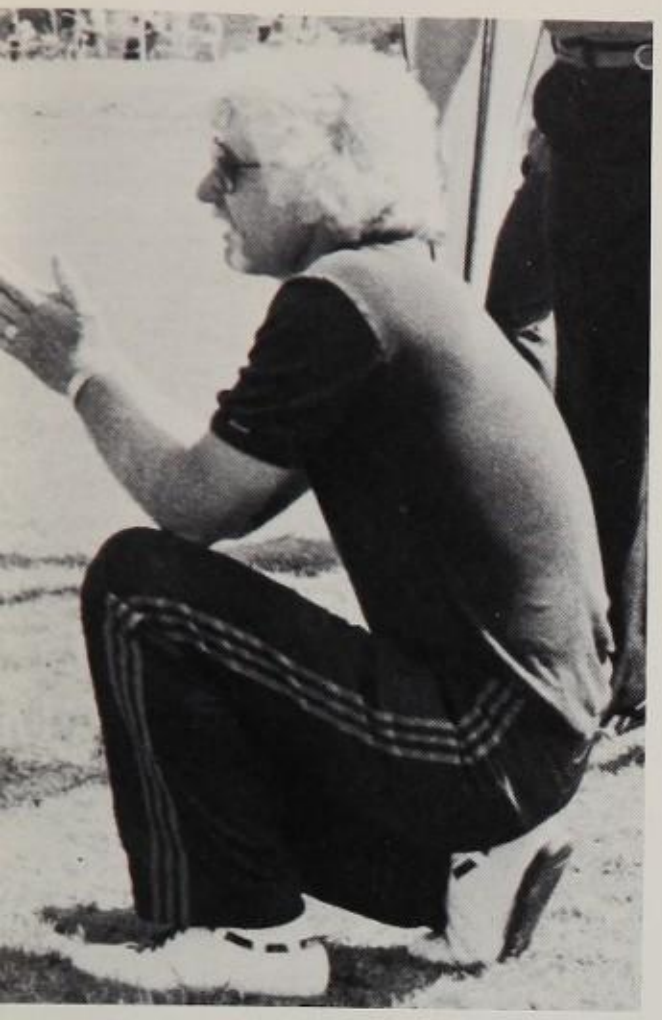
Mrs. Vel Landi: The head librarian at La Jolla High, Mrs. Landi, says her best experience in working here was planning and moving into the new Media Center. Never being able to finish one thing without being interrupted with another and the rudeness of some students seem to be the only things Mrs. Landi dislikes about her job.

Mrs. Beth Rosenberg: Mrs. Rosenberg, the Speech Therapist, tests students with various speech, language and hearing disorders, and meets them on an individual or group basis. She enjoys working with high school students, but is tired of all the paperwork and working at four different locations in the district.

Mr. Lou Severson: La Jolla High's Career Counselor, Mr. Severson, enjoys the positive attitude of the students and cooperation of the faculty. His only bad experiences here have been playing partners with Mr. Carey in bridge and learning of the difficulty in finding jobs for students bused in from Southeast San Diego.



(This page, clockwise from top left): Mr. Lou Severson; Mr. Chet Cooper; Mrs. Vel Landi; Mrs. Beth Rosenberg; Mrs. Ellen Fisher; Mrs. Alice Buschmann. (opposite page, counter-clockwise from top left): Mr. Wayne Bartos; Mrs. Kathy Atassi; Mrs. Beth Behnke; Mr. Bill Ames; Mrs. Lynn Boden.



TEACHERS

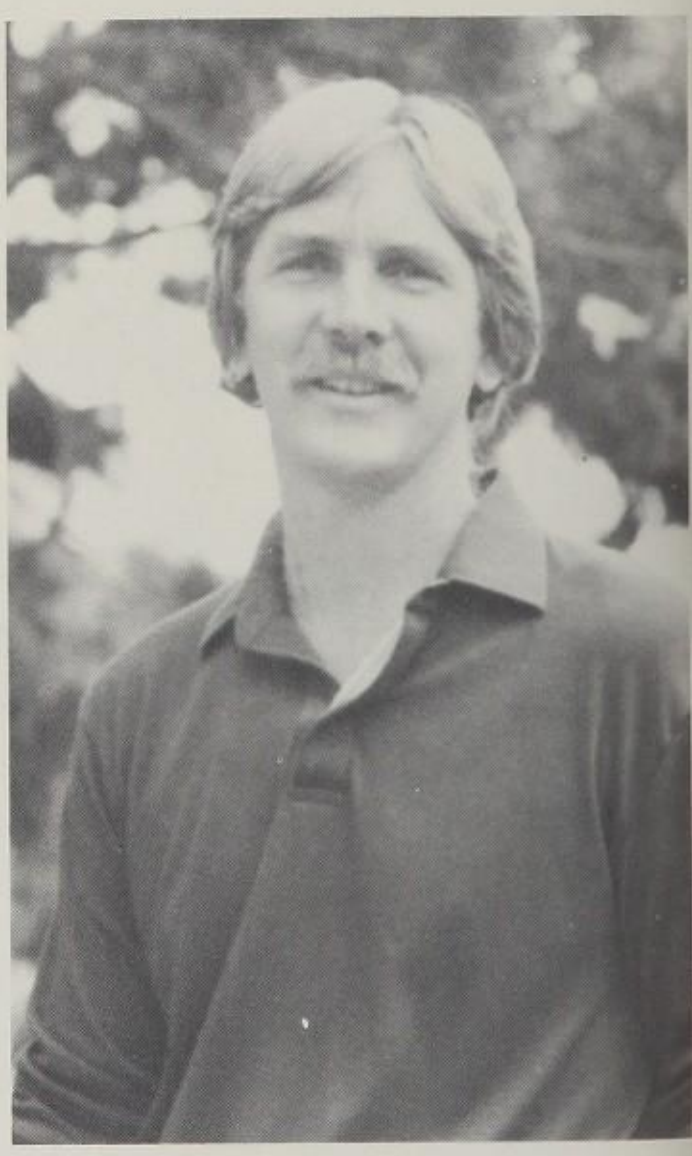
Mr. Bill Ames: Mr. Ames, a Graphic Arts Photography and teacher, enjoys his work because it is interesting and most people like his classes. His only complaints are that the classes are too large and there is never enough time to cover everything. Mr. Ames is also the swimming coach here at La Jolla.

Mrs. Kathy Arassi: One of La Jolla High's English teachers, Mrs. Atassi, enjoys her work because it is a challenge for her to find ways to reach each student. She believes that people should be responsible for their own actions, and doesn't appreciate students with negative attitudes. She likes extra-curricular activities.

Mr. Wayne Bartos: Mr. Bartos has been coming down from Muirlands to coach the J.V. football team for six years. He enjoys watching improvement, but hates the low pay.

Mrs. Beth Behnke: "I hate people who walk across the badminton courts with high heels," replied Mrs. Behnke when asked what bugs her about coaching. She has been at La Jolla High for three years, and her best experience here was having her badminton team take first place in City Finals.

Mrs. Lynn Boyden: Another English teacher, Mrs. Boden, enjoys teaching English because she can discover new ideas with each reading of the same piece of literature. Mrs. Boden graduated from USIU and is teaching at La Jolla for her first year. The only thing that really bothers her about teaching are the bells.



Mr. Charles Boyer: Mr. Boyer is one of La Jolla High's Math teachers. He also coaches track.

Mr. Stephen Brown: Mr. Brown's classes in Regular and Advanced Biology deal with cells, organisms, genetics, and ecology. The only thing that really bugs him about teaching is that education is not a national priority.

Mrs. Patricia Busbee: Mrs. Busbee, a Biology teacher at La Jolla High, likes the people here because they smile more. She is also interested in Ornithology, the study of birds.

Mr. Richard Christensen: A Fine Arts teacher at La Jolla High, Mr. Christensen enjoys watching the migration of the gray whales from his window. He teaches appreciation of the arts and hates competing for his student's attention with Sony Walkmans.

Mr. Warren Cleary: If Mr. Cleary, one of La Jolla High's Spanish teachers, could be anyone at any time, he'd like to be Robinson Crusoe. Mr. Cleary's best experience here was having the golf team win the C.I.F. Championship.

Mr. Bill Cowperthwaite: One of La Jolla High's Math teachers, Mr. Cowperthwaite is irked by the lack of proper priorities in spending money at this school. Even so, he has been teaching here for twenty years and enjoys working with the intelligent and creative students.

Mr. Harry Cromer: Mr. Cromer teaches Calculus one period a day at La Jolla High. He likes it because Calculus brings everything previously learned together to make sense. For instance, students calculate velocities, acceleration, volumes of curvy regions, and lengths of paths.

Mrs. Patricia Crowder: A Contemporary Literature and French teacher at La Jolla High, Mrs. Crowder allows her students to choose their own material for reading. Though she dislikes the difficulty in obtaining supplies, she likes the summers off. If she could be anyone at any time, she'd like to be Queen Victoria.

Mr. Lou Demetre: The main things Mr. Demetre teaches in his Ceramics, Art, and Crafts classes are appreciation and creation of art. It is rewarding for him to see his former students who have made successful careers in art. The only things that bug him about teaching is students who don't care or listen.

Mr. Gene Edwards: Mr. Edwards, in his twenty-fifth year at La Jolla High, teaches P.E. and Health and Driver's Ed. He also coaches football and softball and enjoys seeing everyone having fun and participating in physical activity. The only thing he doesn't appreciate is poor effort and "vegetable" behavior on the part of the student.

Mrs. Adie Covalt: Mrs. Covalt, Mrs. Atassi's aide, teaches English, Math and History. She has been at La Jolla High for two years and enjoys working with the kids and watching them improve.

Mr. Rick Eveleth: The best thing about working at La Jolla High for Mr. Eveleth is being able to work with his wife. He tries to help kids find an activity that they can do for the rest of their lives. Mr. Eveleth also coaches football, basketball, and track.

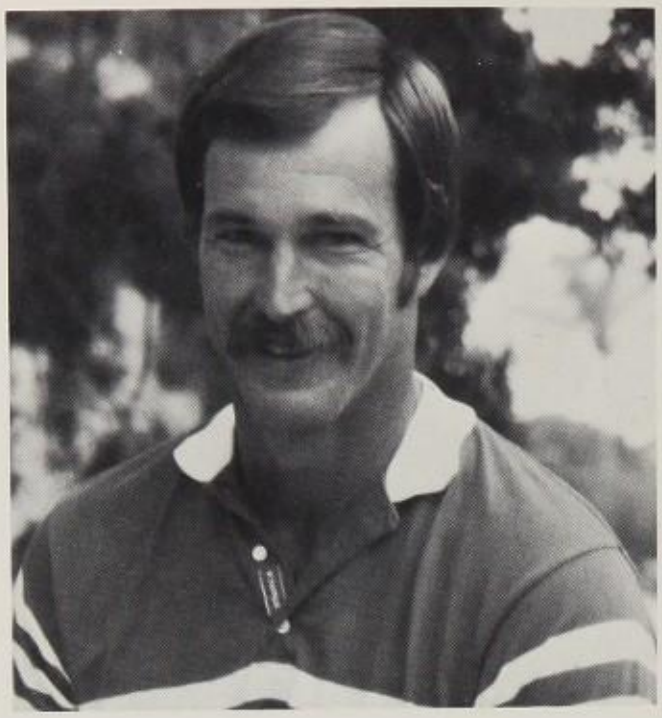
Mrs. Vicki Eveleth: In her P.E. classes, Mrs. Eveleth teaches fundamentals and rules of sports, though she would rather coach volleyball, her favorite sport. She has been teaching at La Jolla High for ten years and her worst experience was almost being hit over the head with a baseball bat by an angry student.

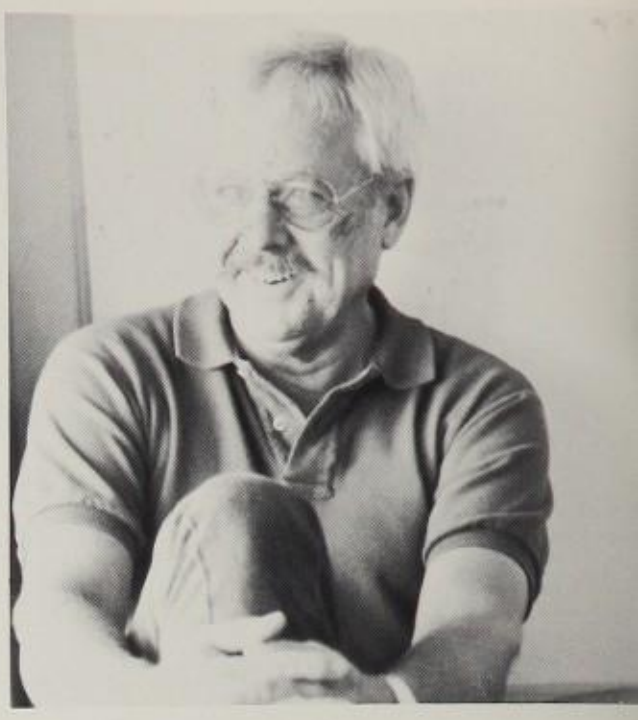
Mr. Pierre Guittard: Mr. Guittard, who worked as an accountant in the French Army until the age of twenty-nine, is now one of La Jolla High's French teachers. He enjoys teaching kids French culture and the way people really are in France. The only thing he dislikes about his work is that he has to teach across the street from a fire station.

Mrs. Marcia Head: Mrs. Head, who teaches Advanced Math 5-6, Pre-Calculus, and Basic Algebra at La Jolla High, likes working with the capable and motivated students. She is disgusted by the lack of public support of education in general though.

Mr. Jim Henderson: The value of a business background and the understanding of basic terminology are two important things Mr. Henderson teaches in his Business Education classes. He enjoys traveling and meeting people of different backgrounds.

Mr. Bob Hoffman: Mr. Hoffman, a Biology teacher at La Jolla High, likes working here because he can ride his bike to work. He enjoys seeing the expression a student's face when he finally comprehends something. He does not appreciate students who want "A's" but don't want to work.





Mr. Dick Huddleston: Self-discipline, improving appearance, and the importance of showering are three things that Coach Huddleston teaches in his P.E. classes. Though he hates losing to Point Loma in football, he enjoys coaching football, basketball and baseball.

Mrs. Maria Hynum: When asked what she would be doing if she wasn't teaching, Mrs. Hynum said, "Probably making quilts." Mrs. Hynum, who teaches Spanish at La Jolla High, dislikes having to have a bungalow classroom, but enjoys exploring different avenues of Spanish. If Mrs. Hynum could be anyone at any time, she would like to be Jane Fonda or Martin Luther King's wife.

Mr. Don Jackson: Mr. Jackson, who teaches Trig. and Advanced Algebra, Intermediate Algebra, Geometry, Computer Science, and Computer Application at La Jolla High, is aggravated by students who fail to do their homework and lack interest. The main thing he teaches in his classes is that students should be reliable.

Miss Katy Kitchen: Working with Mrs. Soriano is what Miss Kitchen likes best about working at La Jolla High. She teaches Psychology and U.S. History, and the value of having an open mind. Though when she first came to this schoool, she was mistaken for a student and was kicked out of the Faculty Lounge, Miss Kitchen thinks the students here are fantastic and she always knows the surf conditions, whether she wants to or not.

Mr. Russ Lanthorne: Mr. Lanthorne, who teaches Basic Algebra, Advanced Math 5-6, Geometry, and Intermediate Algebra at La Jolla High, enjoys working with the enthusiastic and highly academically oriented students. His best experience was coaching the Tennis team. One thing he doesn't like about La Jolla High is students wandering in the hallways during class.

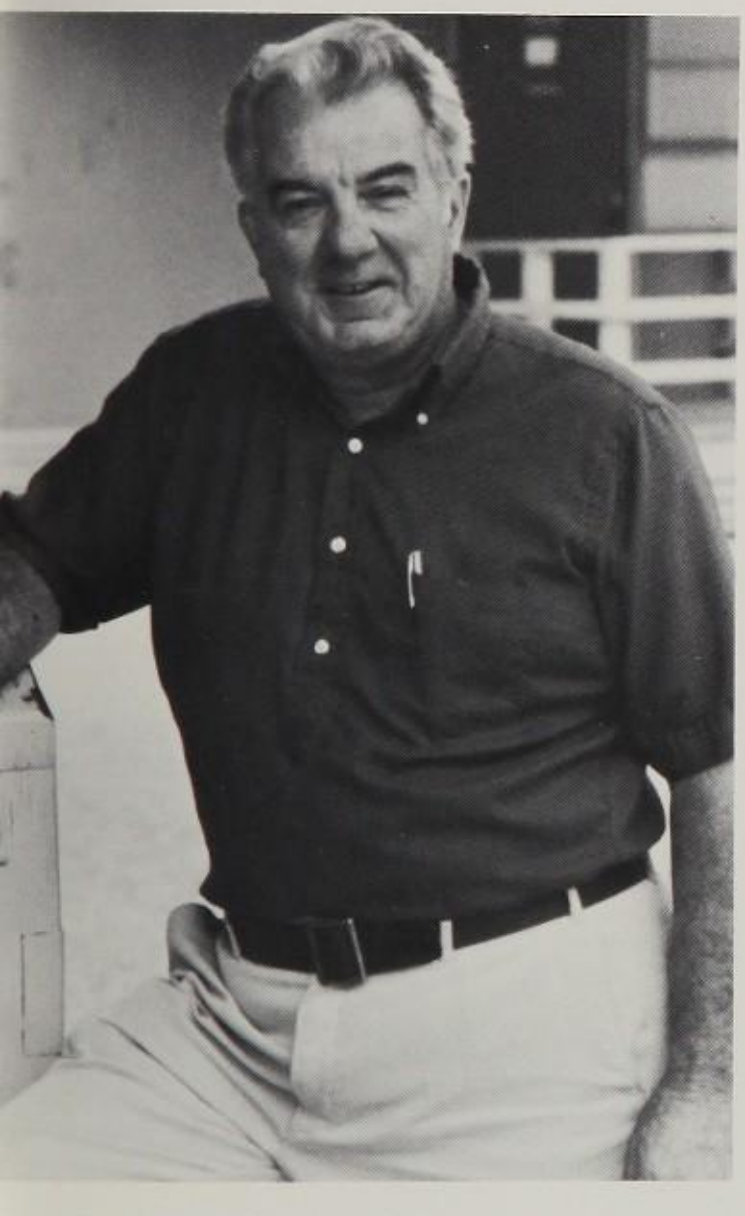
Mr. Bill McCann: For twenty-five years, Mr. McCann has been teaching Honors English and American Lit at La Jolla High. He enjoys teaching Literature because it grows as the student grows. The main things he teaches in his classes are that learning can be enjoyable and that there is a joy in living. He didn't like his first year teaching, and is annoyed by interferences which disrupt the relationship between the teacher and the student.

Mr. Bob McKenzie: A U.S. History teacher at La Jolla High for twelve years, Mr. McKenzie has become a part of the school. His worst experience here was having an unknown student come into his classroom and try to throw a pie at him. In his U.S. History classes, students do simulations, oral reports, role playing, and term papers.

Mrs. Barbara McMikle: The variety of ethnic groups and the multi-cultural atmosphere are what Mrs. McMikle enjoys the most about working at La Jolla High. She teaches German and American Lit. If she wasn't teaching she would be writing mystery stories. Her worst experience was having a group of five friends self-schedule themselves into her class. "It was an intolerable situation!"

Mr. Terry McPherson: Coaching the Wrestling team is what Mr. McPherson likes best about working at La Jolla High. He also teaches Health and Driver's Ed and coaches the Football Team. The things that bug him about teaching are the "incredibly low pay" and the status of education when it comes to spending money.



Mrs. Alice Mittermiller: If Mrs. Mittermiller, an ESL, Cooking, and Sewing teacher at La Jolla High, was not teaching, she would be traveling and writing books on food and nutrition. She likes teaching cooking the best because students can use the knowledge for the rest of their lives, and her rooms are so well-equipped for it.

Mrs. Jan Moore: The best experience Mrs. Moore has ever had at La Jolla High was when her students brought her a cake on her birthday and celebrated hers and Shakespeare's together. She teaches English Literature and Honors English and enjoys it because La Jolla High is the best school she's ever taught at.

Mr. Tony Morales: Mr. Morales, who teaches U.S. Government, You and the Law, and History, likes working at La Jolla High because of the environment and the responsibility of most of the Seniors. When asked who he would want to be if he could be anyone at any time, Mr. Morales replied, "Myself!"

Mrs. Betty Morrison: According to Mrs. Morrison, an English teacher at La Jolla High, the students here are "the best anywhere", and what she likes best about teaching. The main thing that she dislikes about teaching is the time that has to be spent on requirements that have nothing to do with teaching. Mrs. Morrison is also interested in economics and collects Bibles.

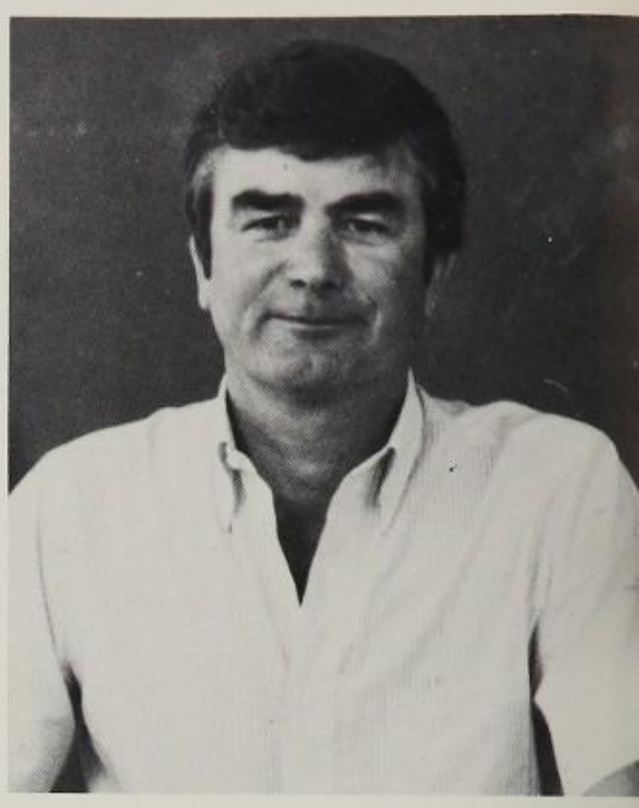
Mrs. Carolyn Moulton: The main things that Mrs. Moulton teaches in her English, Choral Ensemble, Classical Music and Swing Choir classes is that learning can be fun and that it is important to work hard to reach goals that one wishes to achieve. One of her best experiences at La Jolla High was having the Madrigals go to Utah and get to sing with the Morman Tabernacle Choir.

Mrs. Joyce O'Neil: When asked who she would like to be if she could be anyone at any time, Mrs. O'Neil replied, "A happy person." In her American Government, English and Math classes, the main things she teaches are self-discipline and the importance of completing tasks.

Mrs. Patti Pastore: One of La Jolla High's excellent Cross Country and Track coaches, Mrs. Pastore is rewarded by seeing the progress in the runners. Her best experience was coaching the girls' Cross Country team to the Western League Championship. Besides training, and doing intervals on the track, the runners also learn about stretching, diet, nutrition, team spirit, and personal goals.

Mr. Ken Payne: Mr. Payne, who teaches the Honors Program in Political Science at La Jolla High, concentrates on preparing the students for college. In his class, students distinguish between social myths and realities, receive an introduction to Politics and study the American Political System. If Mr. Payne could be anyone at any time, he would choose Harry Truman and his position at the end of World War II because the United States had so many opportunities at that time.



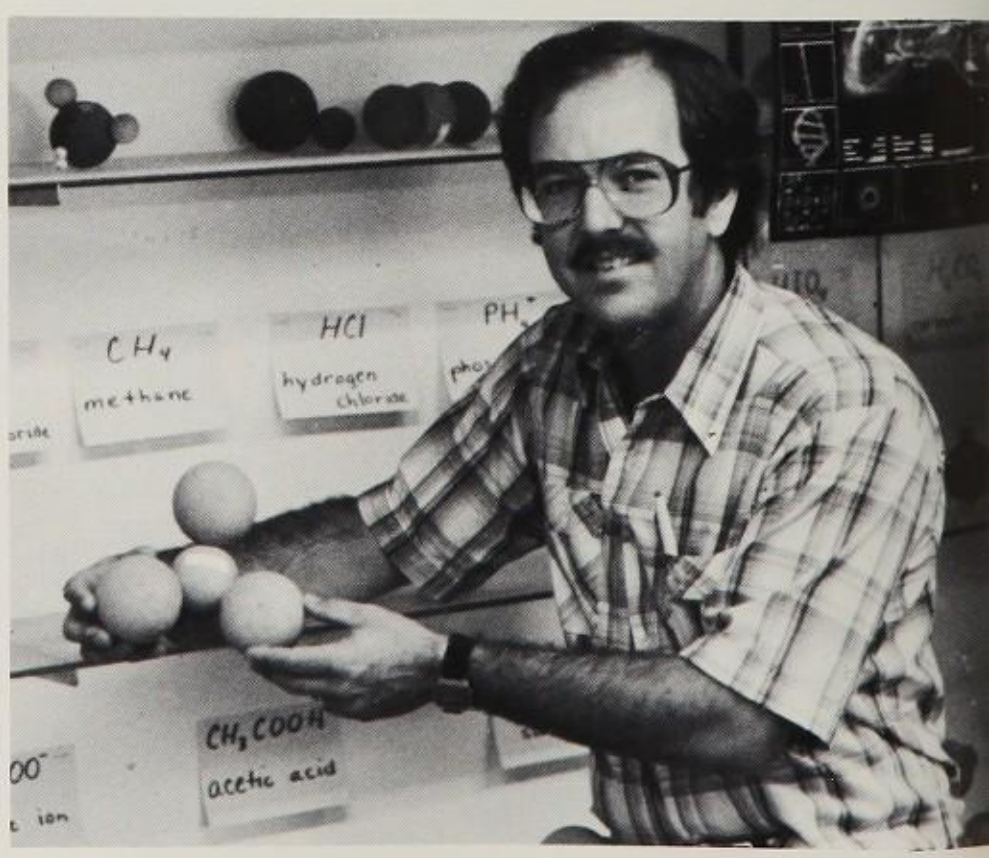
Mr. James Poirier: Lab safety, how to balance an equation, and how to do a science project are the most important things Mr. Poirier teaches in his Chemistry classes. He likes Chemistry because the experiments are interesting. Mr. Poirier also enjoys the hour lunches.

Mr. Dave Ponsford: Though teaching U.S. History and coaching Football and Basketball has their ups and downs, Mr. Ponsford likes teaching because his students come out of his classes with a feeling that they owe something to the future because of the great things others have done in the past. He wishes parents didn't expect him to teach their kids morals, which should be taught at home.

Mr. Tom Pruett: Mr. Pruett, who teaches World History at La Jolla High, will be retiring next year. The thing he likes best about this school is the people. He came here expecting to find a "bunch of rich snobs" and was pleasantly surprised. Some of Mr. Pruett's happiest years have been spent teaching and he will miss watching the kids grow up and graduate. He also will miss the satisfaction of knowing he had a part in the development of the students. During his retirement, Mr. Pruett will be camping, writing, and relaxing. He would like to be God if he could be anyone else in the world.

Miss Maggie Quita: Though Miss Quita teaches at Pacific Beach Junior High now, she coached the La Jolla High Girls' Tennis Team to win the CIF Championship again this year.

Mr. Loren Rindal: One of La Jolla High's Biology and Physiology teachers, Mr. Rindal, likes teaching his Physiology students the best because they are so advanced. He likes putting "A's" in his gradebooks, but wishes he wasn't on vacation at the same time as everyone else. Mr. Rindal teaches students to see humor in themselves and how effort relates to success.



Mr. Kenneth Ritchie: The band and Orchestra teacher at La Jolla High, Mr. Ritchie, enjoys the excellent facilities and the cheerful atmosphere here, though he has been unable to obtain cymbals for the band this year. He is looking forward to grooming the instrumental music groups for concerts and festivals. If Mr. Ritchie could be anyone at any time, he'd like to be William Revelli, who was the band director at the University of Michigan. He considers him "the top" and he is the main source of enthusiasm and inspiration to teach his band.

Mrs. Carolyn Rounds: Mrs. Rounds, who teaches Economic Life and American Government at La Jolla High, enjoys the high quality of students. She is interested in law and taught an innovated Social Studies class at Morse High School.

Mr. Chris Sadler: A La Jolla High graduate, Chris Sadler now is one of the Cross Country and Track coaches here. Sadler, who does a lot of running, has helpful and valuable advice to contribute to the runners. He also substitutes for P.E. teachers.

Mrs. Lupe Samaniego: One of La Jolla High's Biology teachers, Mrs. Samaniego, likes her work because it is so relatable to everyday life. Though she hates paperwork and catching students cheating, she enjoys getting to know the students personally.

Mr. Jim Skelley: The most important thing Mr. Skelley teaches in his Math classes is how to do proofs. Though he is frustrated by students who feel their failure is due to teachers, he enjoys the maturity of most students and their academic ability.

Mrs. Susan Skinner: If Mrs. Skinner was not an English teacher and Cheerleading advisor at La Jolla High, she would like to be a waitress at the Chart House. She enjoys seeing students make progress and watching students who don't care about school change their attitudes. One thing that bugs Mrs. Skinner about La Jolla High is the Cafeteria food.

Mrs. Cindy Soriano: One of Mrs. Soriano's best experiences at La Jolla High was attending the Senior Prom of 1964. She teaches Regular, Advanced, and AP U.S. History and Psychology. She really enjoys it, except when she has to grade papers.

Mr. Jesus Soriano: Mr. Soriano's worst teaching experience was having to teach at a terrible facility and being assigned more "prep" periods than teaching periods. He also enjoyed attending the Senior Prom of 1964 and having his students win the Plymouth Trouble Shooting Contest. Mr. Soriano teaches Auto Mechanics and Spanish.

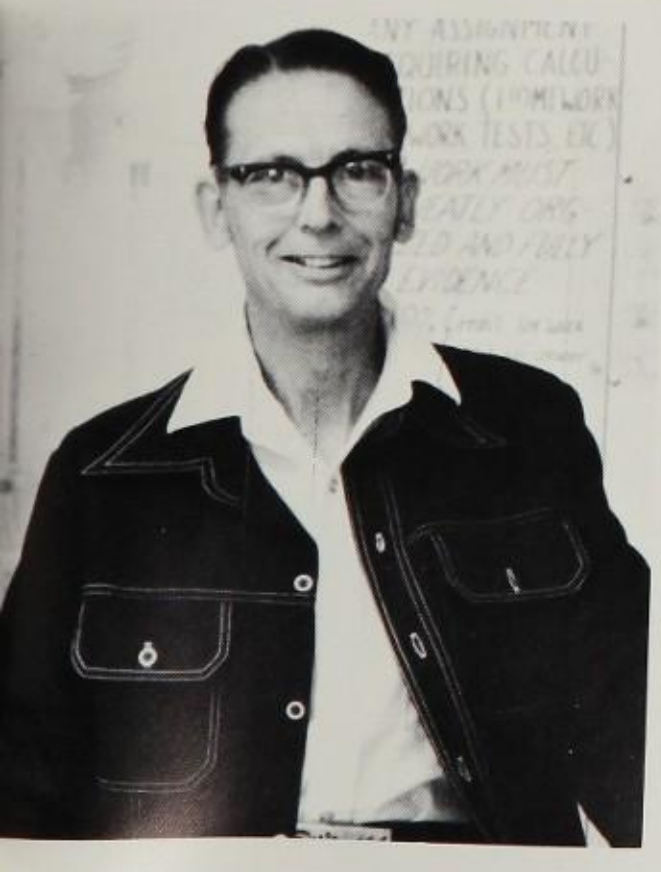
Mr. Everette Tompkins: The students, who recognize it when he tells a joke, are what Mr. Tompkins likes best about teaching. In his Chemistry and Physics classes, one could expect to learn methods of problem solving and what Phyics is all about. The only thing that really bugs Mr. Tompkins is trivial questions.

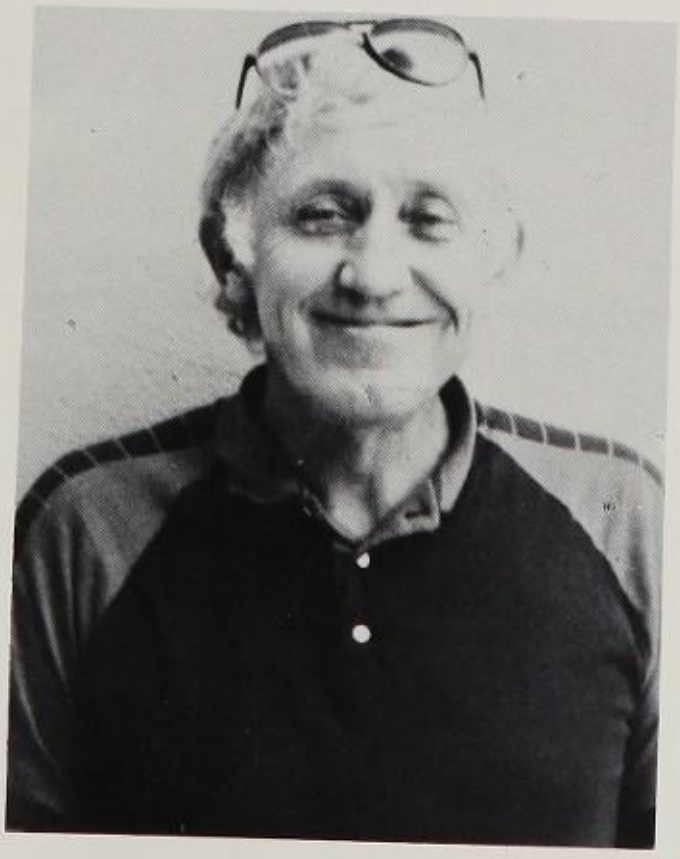
Mrs. Doris Townsend: Mrs. Townsend, who attended the University of Saskatchewan, teaches Intermediate Algebra, Basic Algebra, and Geometry at La Jolla High. Though she is disturbed by students who roam the halls during class, she is rewarded by students coming back after they've graduated and telling her that they were taught well.

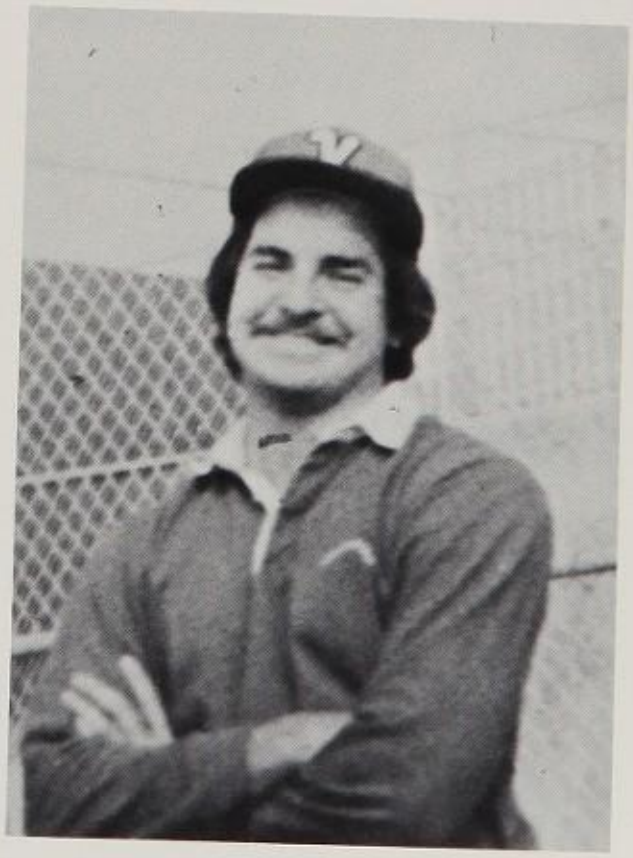
Mr. Mike Trometter: Besides attending San Diego State and majoring in marketing, Mr. Trometter teaches P.E. and coaches football, baseball, and softball. He enjoys the students here at La Jolla High and says, "If they weren't bribing me to work here, I'd still stay." Mr. Trometter also umpires women's softball and plays in a league himself.

Mr. Bill Bullock: Bill Bullock is this year's JV Soccer Coach. He is very impressed with the amount of talent, but it has been difficult for him to assign positions for everyone. He loves the sport of soccer, and coaching the team has been very enjoyable for him.

Mr. Jeff Comfort: La Jolla High's Varsity Soccer Coach, Jeff Comfort, enjoys the positive, close relationship between the faculty, administration, and students. He teaches skills, team concepts, and the importance of having a good attitude. If he was not coaching, Jeff Comfort would be working in a management position with an emphasis on educating others.







CUSTODIANS

This year's custodians were Greg Taylor, John Long, Bob Bierer, John Struthers, Abel Contrevas, Sarge Maushandt, and Sue Garcia. The custodians were in charge of making sure that the school was clean and that everything was in proper working condition. They also saw that the staff had enough supplies. Though they enjoyed the interaction between the students and staff, they did not appreciate vandalism and the damage done during the year by some students.

Some staff members, as well as some students, are camera shy, and do not wish to have their pictures and or be quoted in the yearbook. Honoring this request, we have not pictured Fran Diaz, the Cafeteria workers, Mr. Carey, Mr. Tanzer, and Mr. Wightman. For late news on retirements and new staff members, see the faculty section of the Viking Yearbook Supplement.

ROUGH WATER SWIM AND DRINK

La Jolla High School's student body had a special interest in this year's Rough Water Swim. Clay Wellborn, a senior, was one of the favorites to win the Senior Division. In the 52-year-old race, with people crowding the cliffs, Wellborn swam to a second-place finish overall and a first-place finish in the Senior Division.

The myriad of swimmers, somewhere around 1300, raced for a couple of reasons. A few desired to win or to place high, but the majority wanted to be able to say that they had survived the Rough Water Swim. Once the swimmers finished, the rest of the entertainment — The Rough Water Drink — began, to the enjoyment of all.

The fans seated on the cliffs and in their boats found different ways to amuse themselves during and after the race. One of the more interesting ones was a huge water balloon fight which turned into a free-for-all.

The Rough Water Swim, the largest of its kind, was a day of fun to end the summer. The swimmers and the viewers enjoyed the day and the night, but perhaps not the morning after.

PEP RALLIES

La Jolla High Schools' pep rallies and assemblies ranged from the absurd to the productive. The events, led by cheer and songleaders or the A.S.B., took place in the cafeteria, gym, front of the library, or for the seniors, The Parker Auditorium.

Pep rallies were held to raise the enthusiasm of the student body. Not only did they raise school spirit prior to football and basketball games, but they informed students of upcoming activities. They were held about every three weeks, either on an assembly schedule, or an hour lunch. The excitement of the pep rallies was intensified by the strength of the band.

The assemblies were very useful for the school. For instance, the voter turn on assembly and the class elections got students not usually active, interested in these events. The pep rallies and assemblies were up to their usual par this year and also provided a break in the normal class schedule.

FOOTBALL HOMECOMING

This year's Football Homecoming was a complete success. It began when the Varsity Football team decided upon the four princesses who would have the chance to become Homecoming Queen. The choices were: Pattina Gueston, a Varsity Cheerleader, and a member of the Mariners and Human Relations Club, Catherine Olmstead, a tennis team participant, President of the Mariners Club, member of the Hi-Tide Staff, and Senior Class Secretary, Amy Stanoch, a second year Varsity Cheerleader and part of the Outlook staff, and Jill Ottestad, a member of S-Club and keeper of the statistics for the Varsity Football team. The escorts in succession were: George Taylor, Scott Galka, John Konstanzer and Matt Wohl.

The voting for the Homecoming Queen was close with Pattina Gueston beating out the other three princesses. The enthusiasm for the voting set the precedent for the rest of the day, the night and weekend.

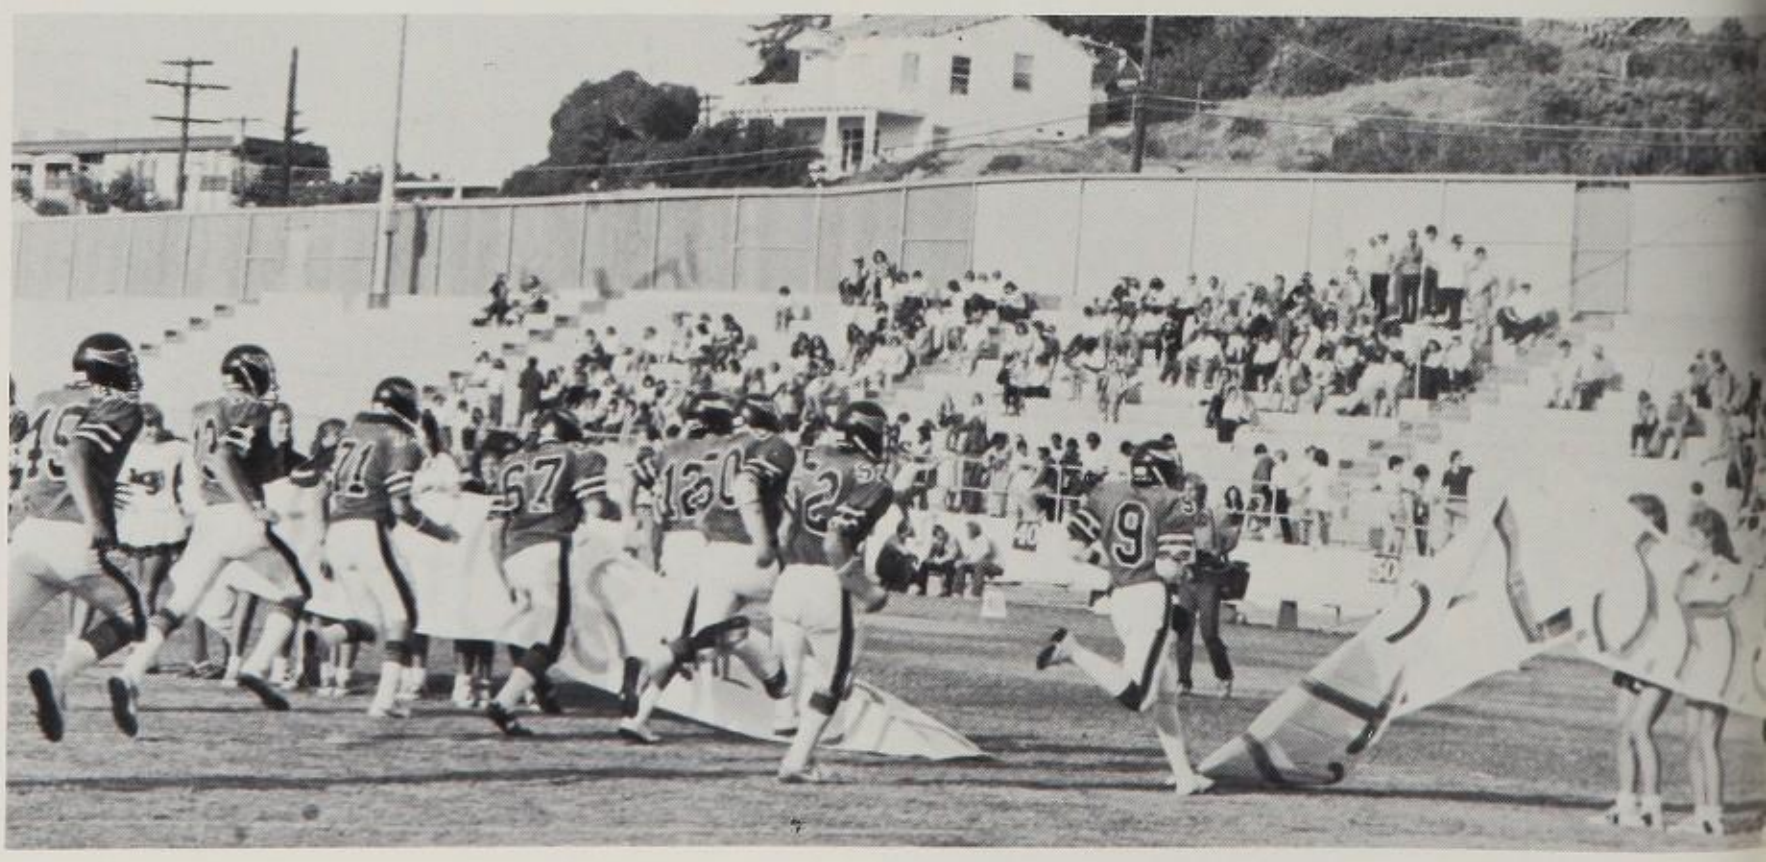
FOOTBALL HOMECOMING

The theme of this year's Homecoming was "A Viking Voyage." The six floats were well thought out and presented the judges with difficult decisions. Key Club's float, Egypt, took first place while the A.S.B.'s float, Greece, placed second.

The cheerleaders and songleaders led the Homecoming Pep Rally. They did the traditional dance "stripper" but added a new flair this year when they took everything off . . . except their bathing suits. Their energy was directed so as to have a very large turnout for the voting for the Homecoming Queen and for the Homecoming Football Game and their efforts produced excellent results.



The Varsity Football Game added to the excitement of the day, while the Homecoming dance ended the successful event. The football team defeated the University City Conturians 21-12, to the delight of the many La Jolla High supporters. The dance lasted from nine until twelve with the "Flexies" playing for the many people who came. When the night came to an end the entire student body was exhausted, but happy, and the Mariners Service Club, who ran the Football Homecoming, went home with a feeling of success.

DANCES

The 1982-'83 dances at La Jolla High School had their ups and downs. With some groups such as Banner and the Flexies blaring their music, the Blast-Off and Homecoming dances proved to be very successful. The dances following the Varsity team's victories over their opponents were the most enthusiastic because of the increased energy of the students. The dances, whether profitable or not, were some of the most highly attended activities at La Jolla High. Though some had poorer turnouts than hoped, the students that came enjoyed themselves immensely.

PLAYS

This year's first all-school production was "Look Homeward, Angel." Auditions were open to all students and were held in the auditorium. The cast consisted of Greg Bass, Jim Bess, Susie Cooper, Zach Ehrenfreund, Emily Healfgott, Jim Haerr, Kay Huckel, Kent Lindstrom, Anthony Mervis, Chris Meyer, Stephanie Omens, Steve Powers, Laura Rearwin, Alicia Reed, Caron Selatti, Mike Stutz, Vicki Vine and David Williams. "Look Homeward, Angel" was under the direction of Walter Stewart, La Jolla High School's drama teacher.

The second school production was "Fashion" which was sponsored by the Advanced Drama class. Walter Stewart directed this play also. Both school productions were highly successful plays.

The La Jolla Stage Company put on three plays which were "Mousetrap," "The Boyfriend" and "Blythe Spirit." The school was very fortunate to have seniors Zach Ehrenfreund, Kay Huckel and junior Marie Sinclair to perform in The Boyfriend. Mousetrap was directed by Christopher R., The Boyfriend was directed by Mr. and Mrs. Jack Tygett and Walter Stewart directed Blythe Spirit.

SKIING

Over 50 La Jolla seniors ventured to Mammoth Mountain on a non-school sponsored ski trip. The students enjoyed themselves whether they were skiing, in the sun, or forced indoors because of the snow. It was an adventure for everyone involved as the students began to see what college life could be like.

Most of the students rented condos and provided their own transportation, either cars or one group chartered Lanes People Mover.

A few of the people were fortunate enough to stay and ski a couple of extra days and were rewarded with some of the best conditions of this ski season. "The snow couldn't have been better and it was really nice because everyones condo was really close together" said Cindy Johnson.

The ski trip time slot was perfect. It was at the beginning of the second semester, so it wouldn't be trouble losing, a couple of days of school. It was not very crowded, so the skiing was most enjoyable, and the seniors could celebrate the end of the first semester and the grades that really count.

SEMESTER FEST

Question: What are La Jolla High students doing on Fiesta Island at the end of January?

Answer: Celebrating the end of semester finals.

On January 29, a group of festive La Jolla students celebrated the conclusion of the semester at the annual Semester Fest. Approximately 200 students attended this event, bringing more than enough food and drink to party the day away. On this day the north side of Fiesta Island was turned into a playground for football, eating, drinking, listening to music or just fooling around. It was the perfect way to spend the day and forget about the past four months of grueling school work. For the juniors and sophomores they would look ahead to more of the same, while the seniors just gave a sigh of relief.

HOMECOMING

Basketball Homecoming, this year, was held on January 21. School spirit was built up all week as the students counted down. On Wednesday, the A.S.B. sponsored an hour lunch, in which a dunk tank and the band, Curious George, were featured. Friday, the school went on Assembly Schedule as the A.S.B. and the cheerleaders put on an assembly. The candidates for class offices were announced as well as the basketball team and the four princesses. The cheer and song leaders also performed their skit, "The 12 Days of Practice," to the entertainment of all. During lunch, students voted for class officials and the Homecoming Queen.

The real action kicked off that night as the Vikings defeated University City. The game was close until the end of the fourth quarter when the Vikes capitilized on U.C.'s mistakes, leaving the Vikes with an 11-2 season record so far. At half time, Chris McNamara was crowned Homecoming Queen. Chris was later surprised as Greg Holdgrafer, a guard on the Viking basketball team, ended up on top of her as he drove to keep the ball in bounds. This resulted in a broken chair and a shock to one and all. The evening was an exciting one.

To round out the night, "The Drivers" played at the Homecoming dance. Basketball Homecoming was organized by Key Club.

Basketball Homecoming

As the Viking basketball team battled University City, Chris McNamara, escorted by La Jolla High School graduate, Kraig Kupiec, was crowned Queen in La Jolla's twenty-first annual Basketball Homecoming.

This year's princesses were: Wendy Collins, escorted by senior Torrey Lee, Sue Finley, escorted by senior Ed Gotfredsen, and Robin Wright, escorted by senior Steven Baker. Four Princesses were in contention for the crown instead of the usual three as a result of a tie in the basketball teams' secret ballot election. The voting for Queen took place during lunch. The class officers were also elected at this time. The homecoming game was once again a victory for the Vikings. The Vikes won 39-28 against the University City Centurions.

L.J. VS M.B. GAMES

While it didn't make the society pages, La Jolla High students showed their spirit, with class, at the football and basketball games against Mission Bay. Students made one of their rare appearences outside of La Jolla to attend the annual La Jolla Mission Bay rival football/basketball games. This wealthy group of La Jollans drove their BMW's, Porsches, Mercedes or Roll's to the other side of Mt. Soledad. Formal attire was a must — Dior and Lauren fashions made their appearances upon the men, while imported European originals and flamboyant jewlery donned the women. Readings and quotations from the morning's Wall Street Journal entertained some spectators while others were content with cheering the teams on with Monopoly money. Unfortunately, during the football season, money couldn't buy a La Jolla victory as the Vikes lost to the Bucs, 20-19. But, during basketball, we captured a victory with a 75-62 score. As one student put it, "We got the BUCS!!"

ALUMNI BASKETBALL GAME

The Alumni Basketball Game was expected to be the return of Ken Johnson, but after few awe inspiring dunks and offensive plays, the 1982-'83 Varsity Team began to play with intensity. Johnson was virtually stopped, but the Alumni team had other strong players to turn to. Mike "Tring" Wintringer of Cal Poly and Craig Weiss, who led the varsity to the semi finals the previous year, played in the game. Scott Oleson, who plays basketball at Williams, also participated in the game. The game seesawed in the first quarter. The varsity team got a reprieve in the second and third quarters when the older alumni, 22 years and up played. This was the lighter section of the game where everyone on the varsity got into the game. The elder Alumni enjoyed themselves while the varsity had a better time enlarging their lead. Once the fourth quarter began it was serious time again. Ken Johnson, Mike Wintringer, Scott Oleson, Eric Erikson, Craig Weiss and Scott Campbell led the alumni surge, but Blackwell and company dug in and held on to win 64-54.

There was a large turnout for the alumni game and the crowd did not go away disappointed as this year's varsity team played their hardest in order to not be disgraced by their predecessors. In the process they defeated an extremely strong alumni team and went on to grasp a C.I.F. title.

ALUMNI SOCCER GAME

In the same fashion as the basketball alumni game was the return of the best La Jolla soccer goalie ever, Jeff Duback of Yale University. The game was a good chance for this year's team to test their skills as it was a formidable alumni team they played.

The game was serious and light-hearted at the same time. Former three time basketball letterman Stephen Devin who was unable to come down from his respective college to attend the basketball alumni game, put on a jersey and tried his luck at soccer. It was an entertaining game for the crowd and varsity team for both had the opportunity to see some of the best players to come through La Jolla High school and in the process, it brought back memories of C.I.F. Championships. Some of the past players that were able to attend were: Mario Gonzales, Andres Lara, Steve Boardman, Jerome Watson of U.C. Davis, Steve Davis of U.C.S.D., Marco and Juan Lara. The Alumni Soccer Game was a good opportunity for the varsity team to tune up for the season and to give people on the end of the bench to play.

A.S.B. BALL

The A.S.B. Ball, a semi-formal dance which has been a part of school tradition for many years, took place on Friday, March 11. It is organized and planned by the students in A.S.B. The Ball was held at the Community Concourse of Performing Arts. The band, The Neat, along with a disc-jockey was heard by almost two hundred students. The reason for having both the band and the disc-jockey perform was to try and present a greater variety of music to the couples that were present. Ines Wiechers, student organizer of the event, felt that, "The A.S.B. Ball was great fun and it once again proved to be very successful."

COLLEGE CONFERENCES

The college conferences at La Jolla High School were interesting and helpful for the many college-bound students. Representatives of colleges ranged from the well known Ivy-league schools to the less recognized schools like the local community colleges. The representatives came to encourage prospective students and answer students' questions concerning housing, financial aid and scholarships. These speakers were involved in the admissions process of the college they were representing. The conferences were the first steps toward the difficult decision of which college to attend. A successful conference would be informative and would cover subjects such as extra-curricular activities and social aspects of the school. The majority of the conferences were widely participated by La Jolla High School students.

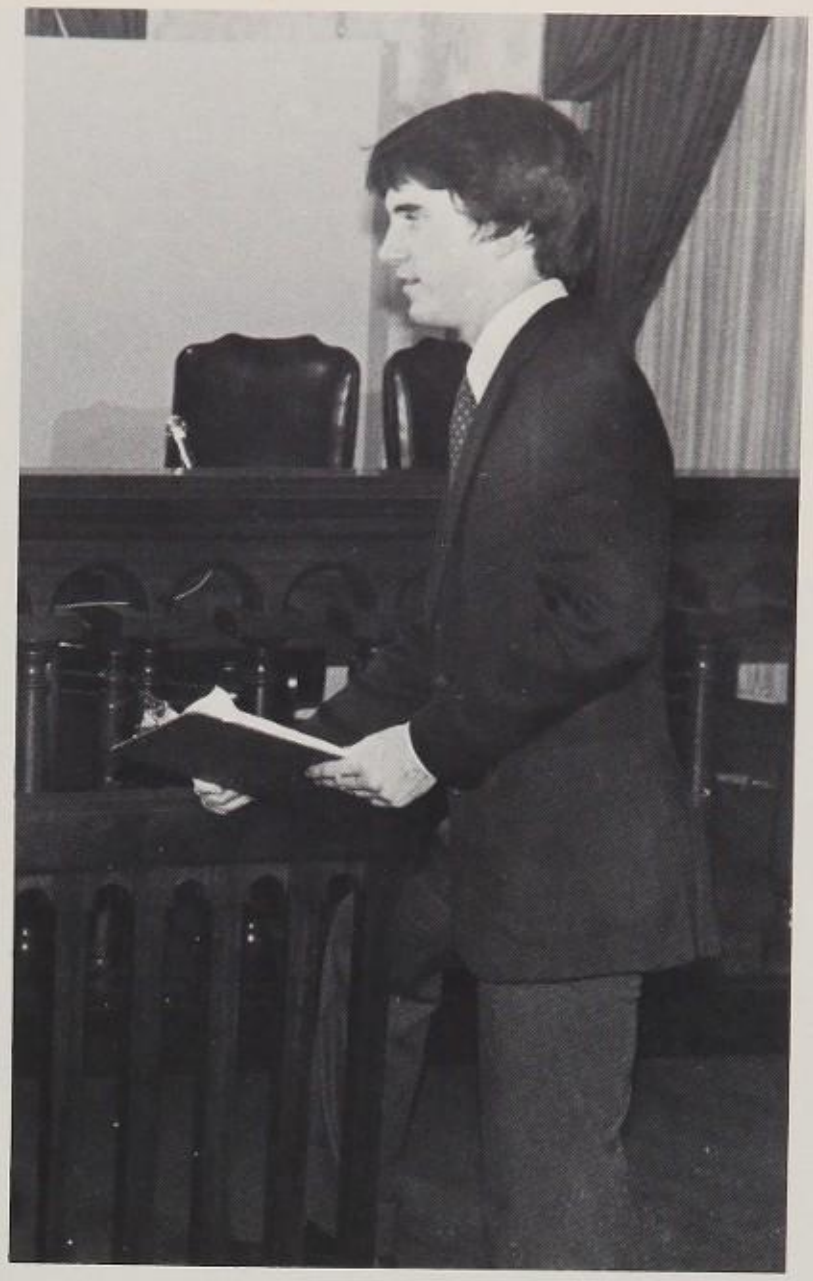
SPIRIT WEEK

Spirit (spir'it) n. — A particular mood or emotional state characterized by vigor and animation. This defines the mood of La Jolla High students the week before the last football game of the season. To increase the spirit even more, Commissioner of Student Activities, Darrel Childs, planned a spirit week. With help from his assistant, Lisa Padelford, they scheduled exciting and spirit raising events.

Monday, the seniors struggled to a victory in the neck pass. The members of the winning team were: Chris McNamara, Amy Stanoch, Dan de la Vega, and John Patton. In the sexy legs contest on Tuesday, senior, Tim Evans, and sophomore Kim Estell swept their respective divisions. In a close and exciting tricycle race, junior David Swart pulled ahead to take first place. On Friday there were two events: the chug-a-lug and the obstacle course. Seniors continued their dominance as Angelo Woods, Inez Wiechers and Armando Araico triumphed in the obstacle course, and John Patton drank his way to a victory in the chug-a-lug.



MOCK TRIAL

This year thirteen La Jolla High students, under the direction of Mrs. Carolyn Rounds, entered the California State Mock Trail competition. For several months the students volunteered their time and effort. Coached by USD law students, Mike Wheat and Peter Synder, they successfully competed against schools throughout San Diego County. The Mock Trail competition was a simulated criminal case. Students played all the principle roles, from lawyers to witnesses. The competitions were designed to help students clarify the workings of legal institutions in courtroom procedure and in trial preparation. The La Jolla team won both the city and county finals, and represented San Diego County in the second annual state finals held in Sacramento. The group consisted of Prosecutors Scott Edington, Laurence Wainer; Defense Attornies Kay Huckel, Scott Sandstrom; Lisa Courtemanche as Balif and the witnesses were Jolie Coursin, Mike Cottingham, Melissa Diamond, Joey Enriquez, Brande Lindsey, Michael Luscomb, Adrie Pierre and David Williams.

GRAD NIGHT

M-I-C . . . see you real soon . . . K-E-Y . . . For one night at the end of each school year, La Jolla High School seniors traveled up to Disneyland. They attended Disneyland's Grad Night, along with seniors from all over Southern California. For this night, the park was closed to all camera-happy tourists from Maine to Hawaii and everywhere else. Gone were the Levi's and t-shirts, replaced by ties, coats and dresses. The entire park was open all night, and when we got tired of the Matterhorn and Space Mountain, there was live music and dancing. Grad Night was a great way to end the year for the seniors . . . why? . . . because we like you . . . M-O-U-S-E.

THE PROM

The Class of 1983 had their classic prom at Montezuma Hall which is located at San Diego State University. Through going to Adelaide's or Carrie's Flower Shop to pick up corsages or boutonnieres, Tuxedo stores, Beauty shops, Dress shops, and going out to expensive dinners, the night added up to a costly evening. Although, of course, the students thought the night was well worth the price and time. The Prom, predominantly a senior event, had some sophomores and juniors attend with a senior date.

Some people chose to go to the After Prom and others chose to have their own parties. But both proved to be extremely successful. Whether one went with a life long sweetheart or a friend, the 1983 prom was a night that will be remembered by all!

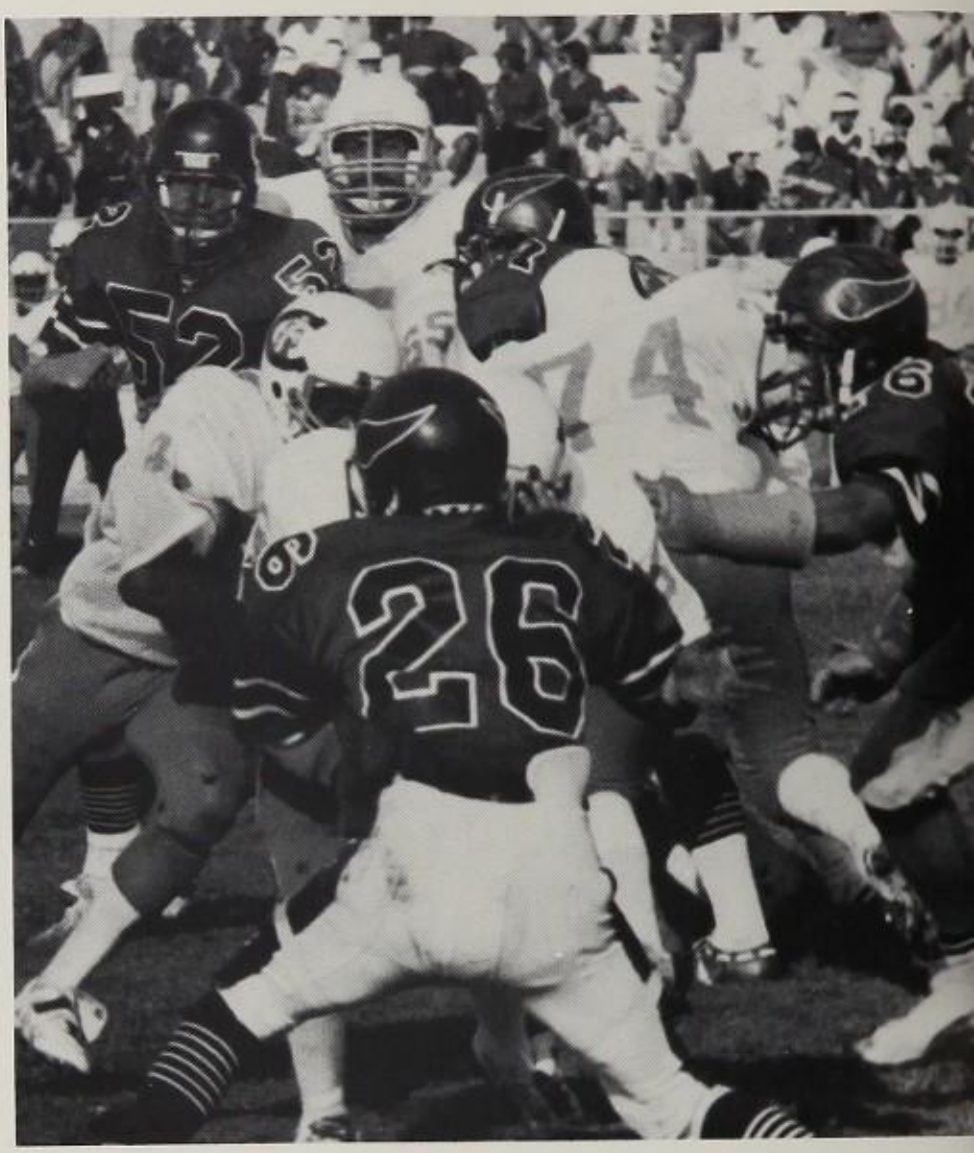
VARSITY FOOTBALL

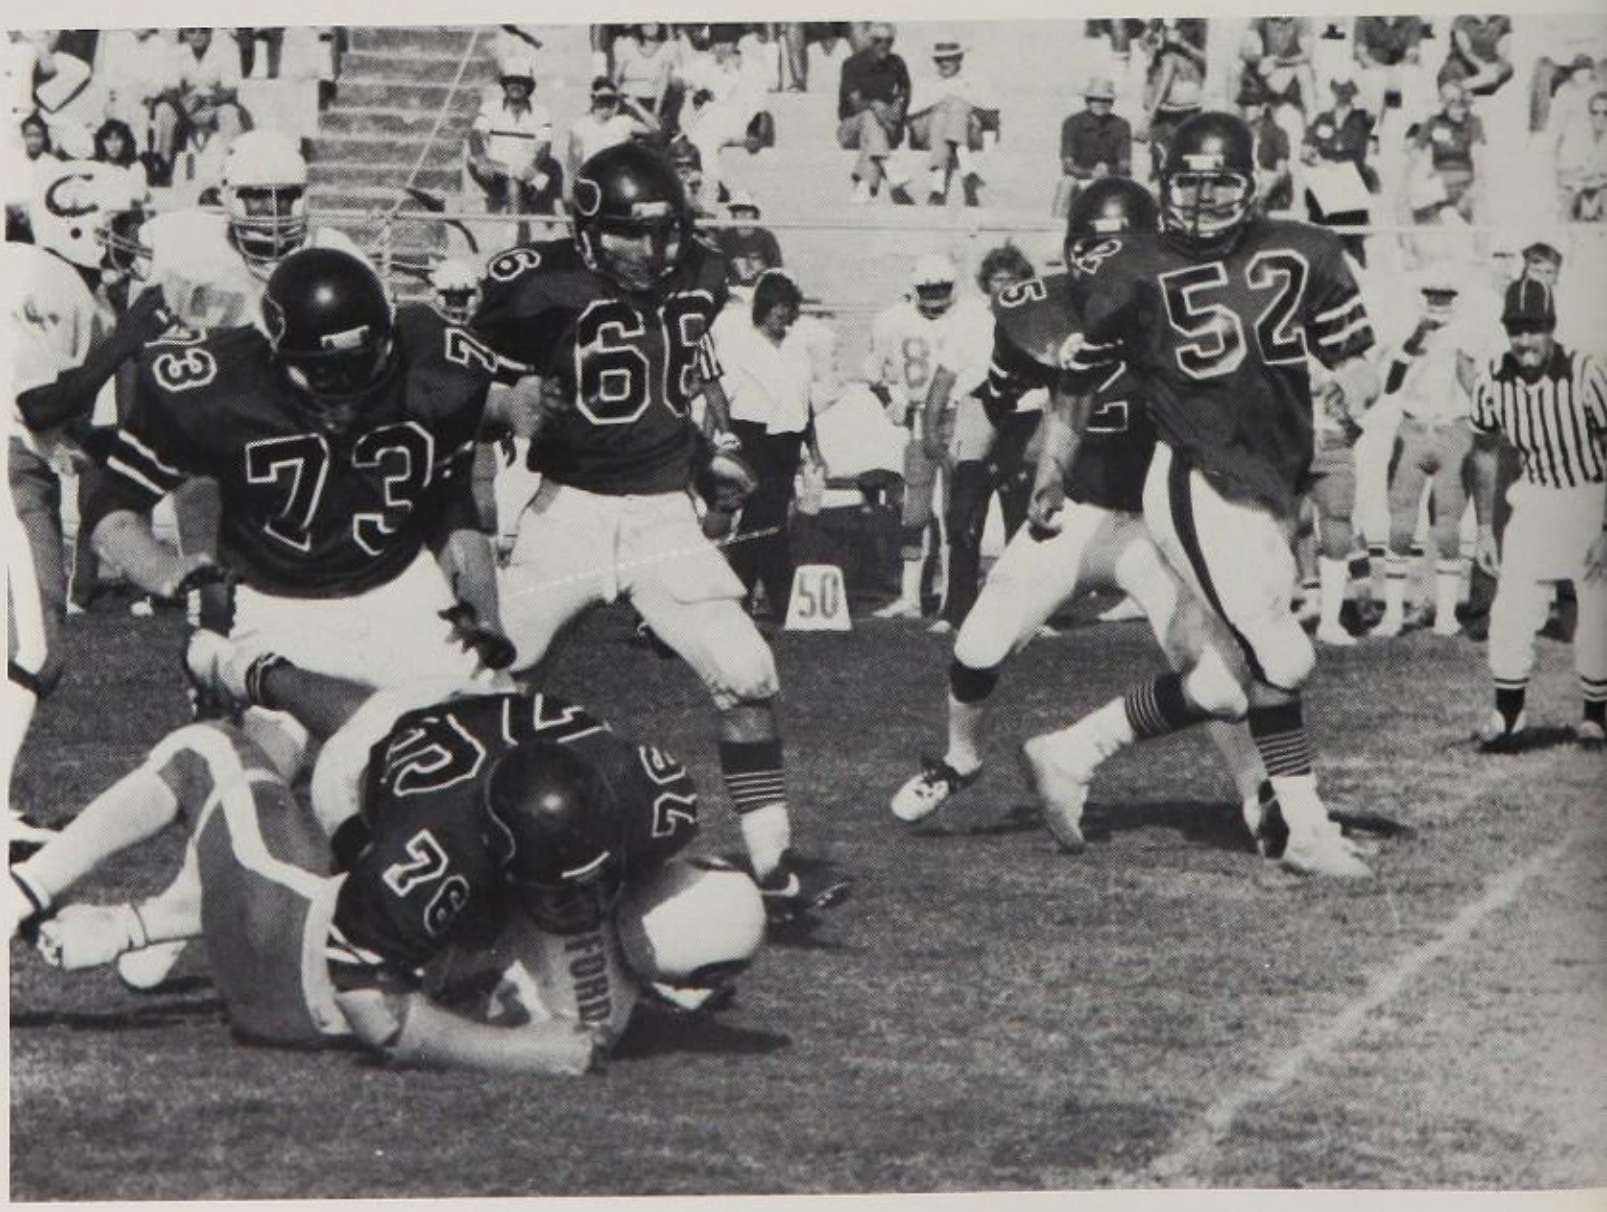
Though La Jolla High's Varsity Football team had a discouraging record, they played some very tense and exciting games. The players all played hard, creating an efficient offense, defense and special teams. Unfortunately, all three were rarely efficient simultaneously, or for a sustained amount of time.

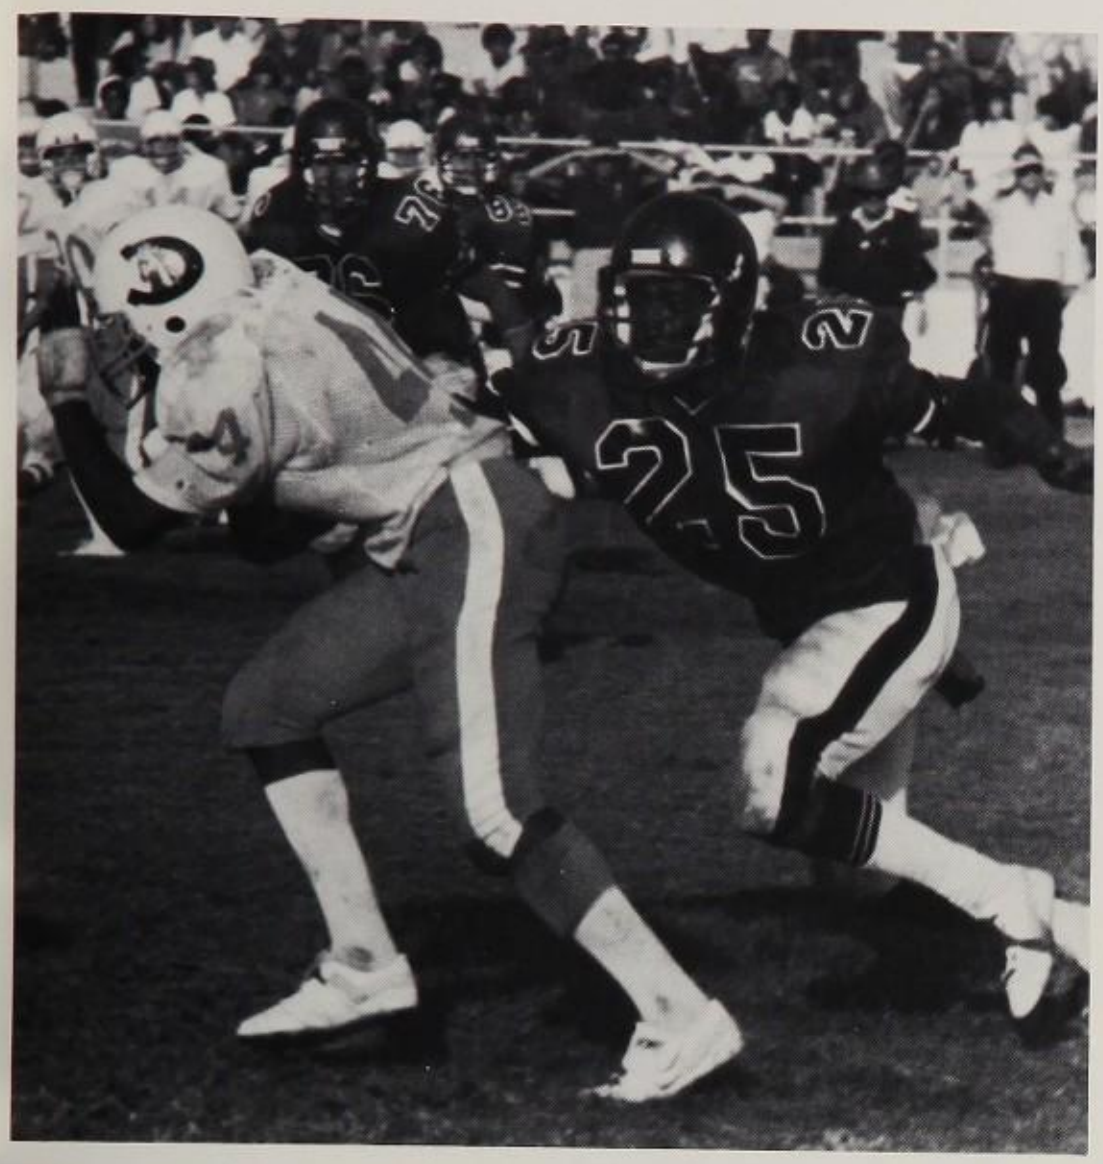
The offense was led by key players, senior and co-captain, quarterback Dan Kirk, co-captain and senior runningback, Angelo Woods, senior splitend Mike Osment and junior fullback, Bob Healy. The defense was led by six foot four, 220 pound, co-captain, senior lineman, Dan de la Vega, senior safety, Casey McMahon and junior lineman, Mark Wayne. The special teams were made up of many juniors, giving them good experience for next year.

Seniors were the stable front of this year's team, but it took a group of 31 eager underclassmen to push them to their very best. This year's studious crop gained many invaluable lessons from this exciting year of football.

The first game of the season was Blastoff. Coach Edwards, who used the first couple of games as practice games for league play, gave many players the opportunity to crack the starting lineup.







The prognostication for the game was uncertain and unfortunately the outcome was never in doubt, as Crawford used all their breaks to triumph, 14-6. The dismal outcome was no indication to the gains attained from the game by the players.

The midseason contest against arch rival Mission Bay, was far and away the most exciting and frustrating game of the season. Mission Bay acquired leads of 7-0, 14-7 and 21-14, but two outstanding runs by Angelo Woods thwarted Mission Bay's attempt to rout La Jolla. La Jolla, by way of Woods' two exciting bursts, had an opportunity to win the game. With but a few precious moments left, La Jolla's offense drove to a first down on Mission Bay's four yard line. Three successive runs were turned back by Mission Bay's defense. La Jolla's last chance to beat Mision Bay backfired when the Vikings missed a field goal attempt.

The game versus Point Loma for the Shoe was a great example of what pride and determination can do against talent. Point Loma came into the game rated number one and highly favored. The La Jolla Vikings played a highly spirited and competitive game. The entire team gave 100 percent to compensate for the advantage that Point Loma possessed. La Jolla High School's whole student body and faculty were pleased with the game played by the Varsity team. The team in their struggle, exemplified what sports really should be. Professional or nonprofessional, a game played its hardest to win should satisfy all players because of their accomplishments.

The previous games mentioned in this publication were the highlights from a fine played season by La Jolla High's Varsity Football team. These games best showed the team experience gained by these players. Not just experience in football, but experience valuable for the future.

Though the Varsity team had an unpredictable and rocky season, it was exciting to the crowds who attended the games. The year was not totally successful when one gazed at the record, but if one went to the practices and games they would definitely realize the true success of the team.

VARSITY SONGLEADERS

The 1982-83 Varsity Songleaders were the first songleaders at La Jolla High School. They worked with the cheerleaders, but did not have all the same functions. At the many pep rallies, the Songleaders raised school spirit through their choreographed dances. They also entertained the crowds at football and basketball games at half time. They danced to popular songs and music played by the band. While the games were played, the Songleaders used pom poms and raised the enthusiasm of the crowd.

The Songleaders attended a special camp during the summer where they learned new dances and chants. This was the starting of their great year in which they increased the overall spirit of the school.

VARSITY CHEERLEADERS

The 1982-83 Varsity Cheerleaders inspired La Jolla's teams to many victories with their spirit, enthusiasm, and devotion. Cheerleading was not just being in front of a crowd and yelling and cheering. They made signs throughout the year and had a rummage sale for one of their fund raisers.

The cheerleading season began with camp, where they learned new cheers. When one cheerleader was asked how she felt about the year, she commented, "It was a good way to get involved in school and make it more enjoyable."

J.V. FOOTBALL

The J.V. started with a hard hitting and begrudging defense. In fact, in the first two games La Jolla's bruising defense yielded only seven points. Coach Ponsford stated, "Defensively, we're a really good team."

The third game showed the emergence of an offense, as La Jolla won a closely contested game, 15-14. The whole team came together that game and strived to play tough the rest of the season.

By unanimous consent, the best players on the team were: Tim Canty, a quick cornerback, Tony Jefferson, a tough safety, Sean White, a strong linebacker and Layfayette Cunningham on the defensive end. On offense, the outstanding players were: Cherry Oliver, a running back, Carl Schwarm, a wide receiver, Anthony Miranti and John Gwinn, hard blocking linemen.

The captains of the team, Carl Schwarm, Tim Canty and Larry MacCree, were quoted as saying, "The true success of our team was due to half of our powerful offense returning."

J.V. CHEERLEADERS

There were five J.V. Cheerleaders this year; though few fans realized that this was different from normal. Usually, it takes six cheerleaders to create the enthusiasm and spirit.

Led by Head Cheerleader Theresa Todd, the hard working squad of Laura Eddlsten, Tammi Fox, Michele Oleata, and Kim Pastore put in a lot of time and effort to do their job. They made signs for the home and away games, provided refreshments for the players, and most important, got people to come to the games.

It was a great year for the J.V. Cheerleaders, who put in extra work not only to make up for the loss of one cheerleader, due to an injury, and the loss of another, but to create the enthusiasm sometimes lacking at school.

This year's J.V. Cheerleaders were: (Standing): Michele Oleata, Tammi Fox, Kim Pastore, Laura Edlesten; (Top) Theresa Todd — head.

BADMINTON

The co-ed badminton team began the season with a hard fought loss to Hoover High. The team went on to defeat its next opponent, and in so doing backed up Coach Behnke's opinion of the team having a fight back attitude. This important attribute was set forth by the outstanding returning players: Jerry Amberg, Scott Hayes, John So, Cindy Johnson, Suzy Cooper, and Katy White.

Coach Behnke's assessment of the young team appeared to be very accurate. She stated that the players had the skill, but needed the experience. She stressed, "They are determined kids that work hard."

Behnke called this year a definite rebuilding year, and it was fabulously successful.

VOLLEYBALL

"This year the team is young and enthusiastic with tremendous potential that will be realized through hard work and determination," said Coach Vicki Eveleth at the beginning of a promising season. The entire team played tough, making it difficult for Coach Eveleth to decide on the proper starting line up. It rarely mattered though, as the team played with complete confidence and excellence throughout their successful season.

This year's team was the proud winner of the C.I.F. Championship, the best finish in La Jolla's history.

J.V. VOLLEYBALL

The Junior Varsity Volleyball team was assessed by first year Coach Lisa Roach, as "having fantastic ability." This opinion, presented at the beginning of the season, proved to be precise. The eight sophomores and eight juniors came together through hard work to form a strong team. Roach, in her first year, did an admirable job, making the team into a cohesive unit. This year's J.V. players will help produce a strong Varsity team next year.

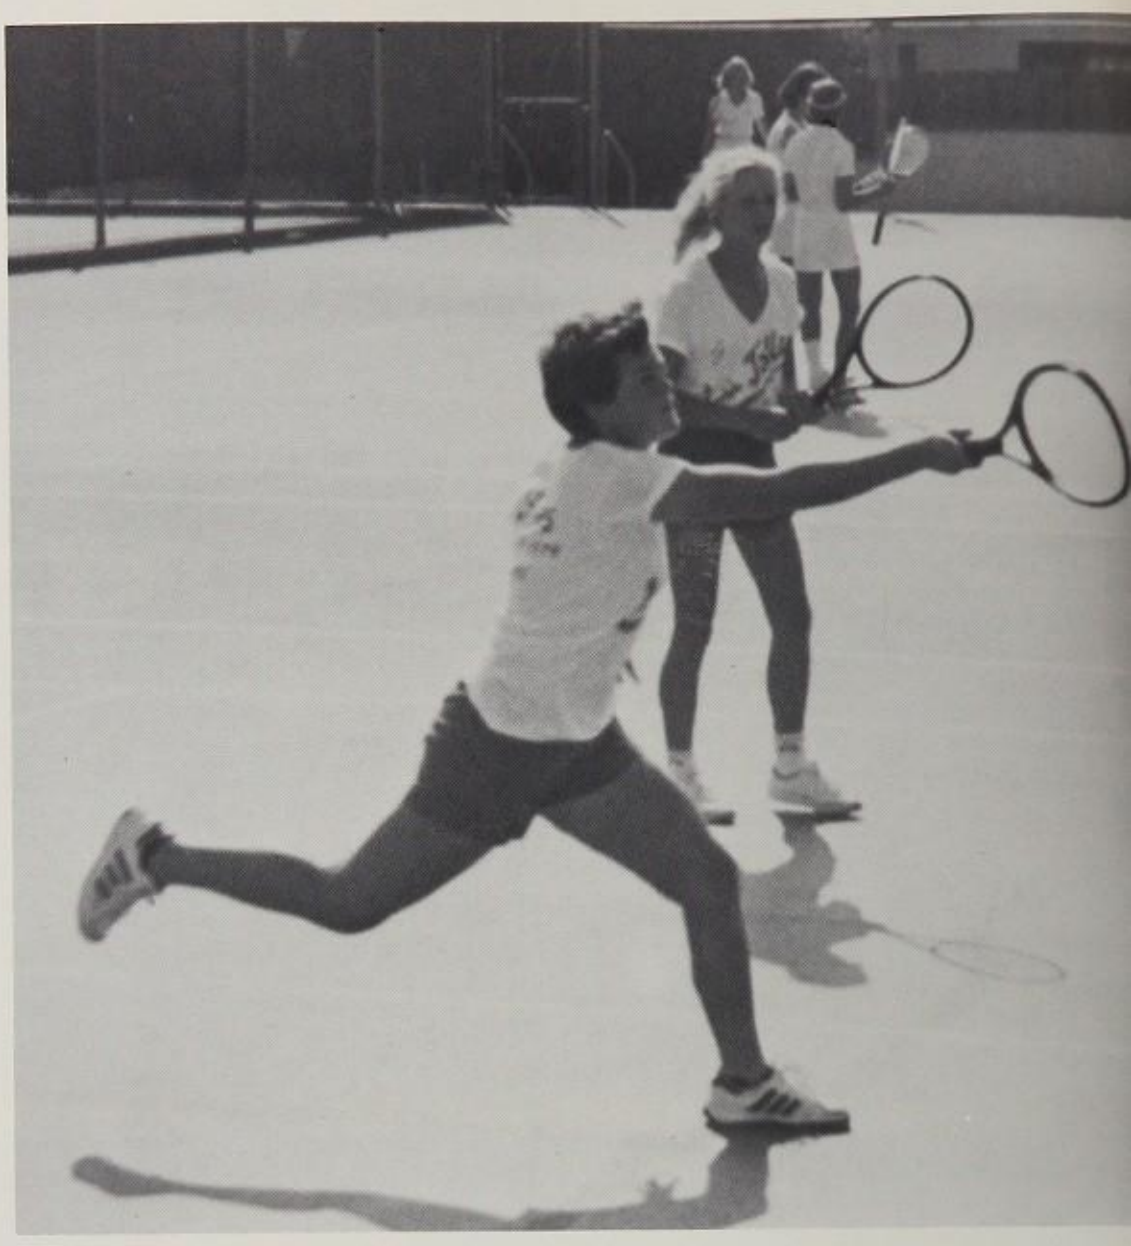
TENNIS

The Girls' Tennis team kept up the long tradition of completing their season as C.I.F. Champions. Cari Hagey, number one player on the team, was also nationally ranked. The team was strong with others, Kathy Mulvehal, Tracy McReynolds and Deborah Lawrence, who played doubles.

The team consisted of sixteen players, playing with a good chance of beating their opponents. The outcomes were rarely in doubt, as the explosive team annihilated most opposing teams.



This year's team members were (top row): Kathy Mulvehal, Nancy Shore, Taiche Kantner, Jennifer Moyers, Richette Lock, Nancy Calhoun; (2nd row): Risa Okawa, Ellen Pappelbaum, Catherine Olmstead, Claudia Casta, Tracy McReynolds, Lori Bastien; (3rd row): Lisa Pappelbaum, Deborah Lawrence, Cari Hagey. BOYS' CROSS COUNTRY

Led by brilliant junior, Pat Green, the Varsity Cross Country team ended their season with the Western League Championship. The team symbolized the fall sports this year at La Jolla High. Each team member was needed to help produce the outstanding team. Many of the participants were underclassmen, including Pat Green, one of La Jolla High's finest runners.

The J.V. runners were also very talented, it was only the fact that the Varsity times were so low that it was difficult for J.V. to move up. The J.V. also won the Western League Championship with a six and one record.

GIRLS' CROSS COUNTRY

La Jolla High School's Girls' Cross Country team had an impressive season. Their record was a great indicator of this. The team was solid, behind the running of Julie Fitch. They faced stiff competition, yet the true competition was mainly found within the team.

The J.V. also had a promising season. A considerably large number of runners went out for and made the team, kicking it off in the right direction. The J.V. team will only improve to add to next year's Varsity team. The team was led by standouts, Kathleen Miller and Beth Dameron.

SOCCER

Led by returning starters and co-captains, David Shively and Summers Hambrick, the Varsity Soccer team continued the La Jolla High School tradition with a sensational season. The strength of the team was the defense. Opposing coaches found it difficult to discover a way to penetrate one of the best defensive teams in the country.

A new coach, Jeff Comfort, and a new season brought typical results, continuous victories for the team. The team won the consolation bracket of the Christmas tournament and roared into league play.

League play was intense and physical, resulting in many strong words and near brawls. University, Point Loma and U.C. all gave La Jolla stiff competition. La Jolla defeated U.C. the first time, but lost at home during their second encounter. Games in league play were defensive conquests led by Shively and Hambrick, who held the team together. With the defense playing to its best ability and helping in improving the offense, the team flourished more in the second half of the season.

As senior, Summers Hambrick stated, "I was proud to be a co-captain of another victorious Varsity Soccer team."

J.V. SOCCER

J.V. Soccer wasn't even supposed to exist this year, but after a long battle it was allowed to participate for at least another year. Cuts were made in January, instead of December this year, resulting in a slow start for the team.

Because of the Nomads, a soccer team that plays year round and was initiated in La Jolla, soccer remains at La Jolla High School are always powerhouses. The J.V. did not break this tradition, as the team turned in fine performance after fine performance. The surplus of talent caused the most difficult coaching problems for Coach Bullock.

The J.V. soccer season was anything but typical or predictable, but the purpose of having a J.V. soccer team was exemplified to everyone interested, and therefore has a better chance of surviving. J.V. is supposed to be a learning experience in order to prepare for Varsity. The J.V. team accomplised this goal, which leaves a bright future for soccer at La Jolla High School.

VARSITY SOFTBALL

Junior Luanna Harris, the returning pitcher, reached a new plateau, as she became the leading force on this year's Varsity Softball team. Under the guidance of first year coach, Gene Edwards, the team gained confidence and momentum. The Varsity team was young and largely inexperienced, but their potential was unassessed. It was quickly noted through flashes of brilliance, a little determination and a bit of luck, that this year would be a rewarding one.

This year's team members were: (top row): Mary de la Vega, Tanya Hellingson, Kelly Sullivan, Luanna Harris; (second row): Coach Gene Edwards, Barbara Edwards, Julie Weckstein, Beth Ann Hull, Bridgitta Flydel; (bottom row): Kathleen Strauss, Erin Jones, Laurel Ehrenfreund, Jenny Doren, Jeni Gilliland, Trish O'Connell.

J.V. SOFTBALL

This year's J.V. Softball team was full of potential, but due to unfortunate problems, such as injuries, the team's performance was hindered. Though their record was less than the team had hoped for, there were many bright spots during the year. The performance of pitchers Lisa Dyson and Seldom McGee, catcher, Barbara Grau and shortstop Martina Chaconas, were some of the bright moments of the season.

The strenght of this year's team was where most good teams strength usually are, up the middle, catcher, pitcher, shortstop, second baseman and center fielder. In reality, the entire team was too unpredictable for continuing success. Coach Trometer coached the team this season for the first time at La Jolla. The team began with many difficulties which were worked out, and the team turned their season around.

This year's team members were: Lisa Dyson, Edith Ann Groce, Martina Chaconas, Barbara Grau, Marie Sinclair, Renee Harris, Susie Schweikert, Julie Dyson, Karen Wolfe and Seldom McGee.

BASKETBALL

The Varsity Basketball team fought off a bit of bad luck to continue the dynasty Coach Rick Eveleth was establishing. A lethargic opening performance vs. number one rated Morse and an injury to one of the big trio, Neil Bernstein, 6'8", created some early frustrations. Following this, the team came together, victorious in the unlimited season of the Kiwanis tournament. Though the injury to Bernstein was unplanned, it caused the team to develop a little depth, an important factor for the long, strenuous season. Guards Steve Waldman and Gregg Holdgrafer were forced to make greater contributions, and improved tremendously, Jeff Jacobs came off the bench along with Doug Haney and Angelo Woods, who made their presence felt. After all the injuries healed, the team made a change and started a running game to put more points on the board and prepared to press on with full force toward a league championship.

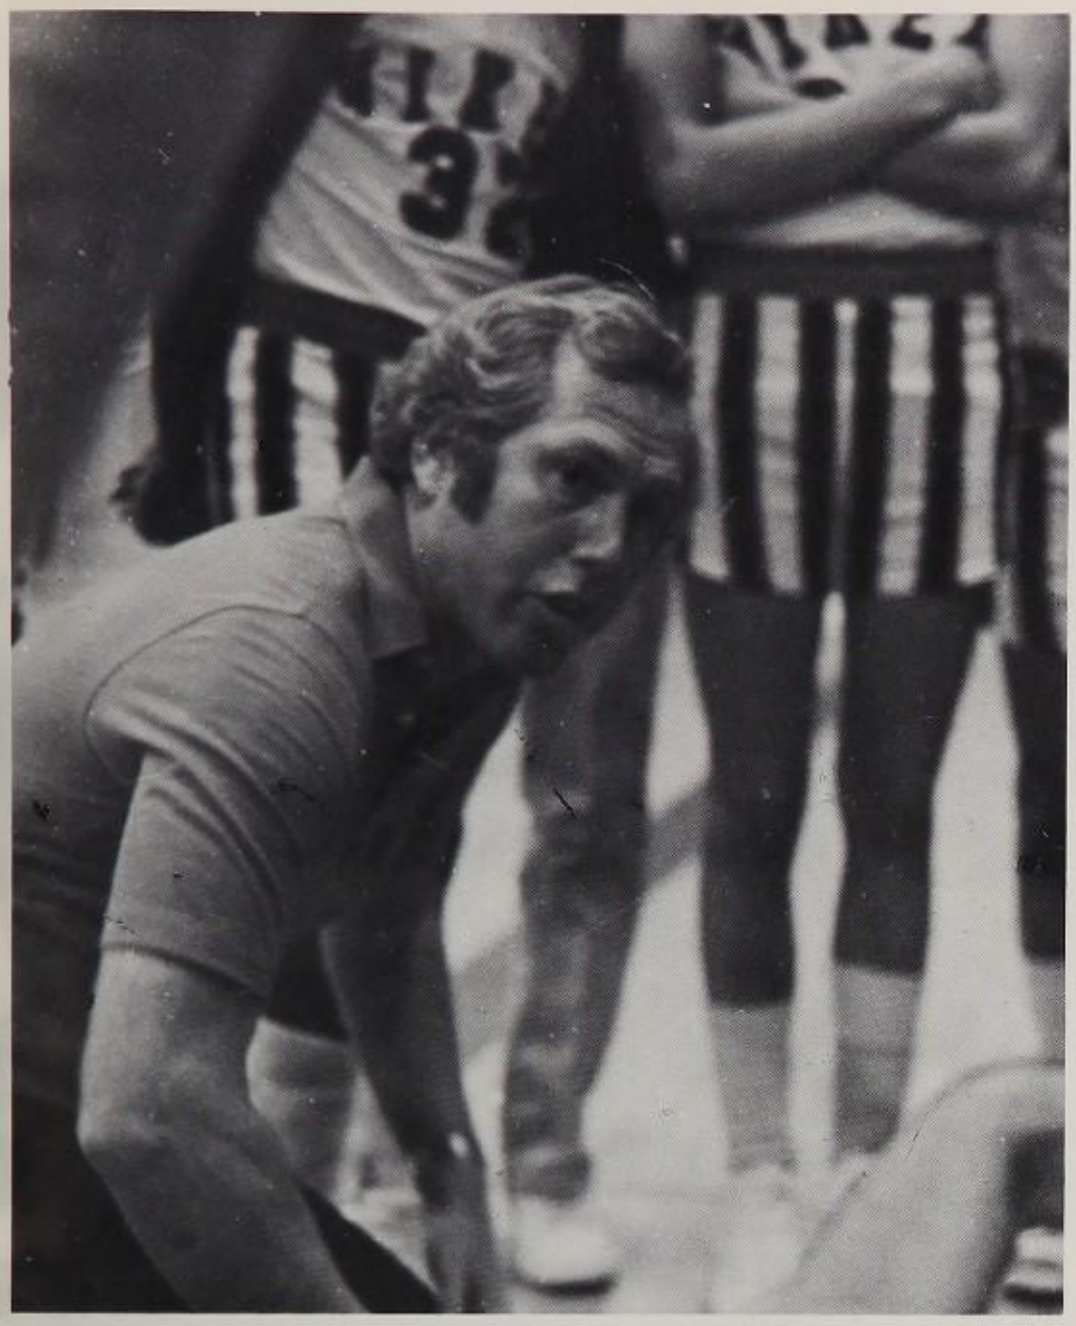
Because of La Jolla's Dan Blackwell and Darrell Childs, two Viking giants, they contributed to the team's predestined victories. Blackwell, a three year starter, provided the leadership when the going got tough. Darrell Childs, first year starting on the Varsity Team, added to and greatly helped during the crucial moments of the season.

Games against Pt. Loma and University highlighted league play. The three teams, La Jolla, Pt. Loma and University were all-highly ranked, but ony two could gain a place in the C.I.F. Championship. La Jolla played tough against Pt. Loma, unfortunately losing by a mere six points. After a few continuous victories, including one over University, La Jolla bounced back to beat Pt. Loma 69-61. The victory over Pt. Loma ignited the team and instilled confidence in each individual team member. The victory brought out the teams best in the stretch drive.



The Mission Bay rival game got off to a slow start, with La Jolla falling behind by as many as seventeen points. The team responded to the encouragement at half time and outscored Mission Bay by twenty-seven points, enroute to a 75-62 victory.

With a devastating starting five, led by the towering three, and a deep bench which included Jeff Jacobs, Angelo Woods, Doug Haney, and Steve Waldman, La Jolla fielded one of its best teams ever. The season was quite a memorable one. To top the list of memories was the great improvement of Darrell Childs, the consistent strength of Dan Blackwell, Greg Holdgraffer with his long jump shots, Steve Waldman driving to the hoop and Jeff Jacobs development off the bench.

J.V. BASKETBALL

It was difficult before the season began to evaluate the J.V. Basketball team, but with an outstanding performance against highly touted Morse and a victory over Patrick Henry, a great season appeared to be evident. "J.V. and proud," Captains Erick Haswell and David Eisenberg stressed.

Coach Ponsford quickly taught and molded the team, in order for them to play to their best ability. Erick Haswell became the intimidator, swatting shots, while Charlie Recksick the other big man, was a rebounder. David Eisenberg led the team with his passing and dribbling techniques while Skip Richmond was the key shooter. A final ingredient to make the team strong was Jamont Jones, an all around successful player and probably the best clutch scorer on the team.

During practices, the reserves would play tough, enabling the team to be able to handle special defensive and offensive teams. When the starters needed a breather, eager team members like Ben Mathews jumped in and played admirable.

The J.V. Basketball team combined success with enjoyment to fulfill the season. The success of the team members was attained because of the team unity and intensity with which they played.

WRESTLING

Ever wonder who those poor guys were who sweated and toiled in the dance room every day and ran around the track in red jumpsuits? Well, those courageous young men were members of the La Jolla High School Wrestling team. Though small in number, they were big in heart, despite many setbacks.

After long, tiring practices, people quitting and no crowd turnout, the team members who remained still strived to work hard and diligently throughout the season. With extensive help from Coach McPherson, those dedicated few were happy and proud to be a part of the team. Tim Evans, a senior, led the team in many matches. Though they didn't do all that well, the members stated that it was fun and interesting and they would return next year.

GYMNASTICS

Due to budget cut backs, the gymnastics team was almost nonexistent this year. Unlike previous years, there was not as much support as Coach Beth Behnke had hoped for, thus both Varsity and Junior Varsity were combined into one team. This year's team was lead by gymnasts Karen and Debra Armstrong. Other returning gymnists were: Amy Breckenridge, Lauren Cohen and Sherry Wolfe.

Although the team was not planning to take a Western League penant, there was optimism and a positive outlook for developing the team. According to coach Behnke, "This year we emphasized self-improvement so that we would have a strong team next year. This team was mostly beginners but they were hardworking and had quite a bit of potential."

VARSITY BASEBALL

If it were not for Clairemont, University, Point Loma and Mission Bay, La Jolla High's well improved Varsity Baseball team would have had a chance to win the league. Led by junior shortstop Ben Matthews, senior outfielder Steve Waldman, and senior pitcher Dan Heimenan, the team practiced hard and played to their best abilities. Unfortunately, they were plagued with the difficult assignment of participating in the strongest and most well-rounded league in the county. Hitting against college prospects and pitching against college prospects, their schedule was unmanageable.

The talent on the team did not vary strongly. The difference of the ability of the best player through the middle players to the last man on the bench was minimal. La Jolla High's Varsity Baseball team coached by Dick Huddleston had many of the ingredients needed to be a winner. The major ingredient for a successful team was that the team was lacking. The missing link was a great player, someone who could either pitch a shut-out or a player who could hit a lot of home runs. The player's major complaint was their lack of a decent audience. It was an interesting year and a bright future in store for Varsity Baseball at La Jolla High.

This year's team members were: (top row): Jim Robbins, P. J. Palmer, Angelo Woods, Gregg Holdgrafer, David Williams; (second row): coach Huddleston, Brian Gallaway, Todd Billings, Andy Lasher, Dan Blackwell, Mark Wayne, coach LaValley; (third row): Brian Merkin, David Kosbie, Jeff Jacobs, Peter Bray, Lary McCree, (manager) Tammy Fox; (last row): Dan Heinaman, Mike Osment, Steve Waldman, Mark Cohen, Ben Matthews, Bruce Atkinson; (not pictured): Tom Christenson and Scot Sandstrom, John So.

J.V. BASEBALL

The surplus of good talent on the Varsity team had a beneficial effect on the J.V. Baseball team. The J.V. combined the talents of a few returning juniors and those of incoming sophomores to fill out a strong team. The pitching was sometimes unpredictable but the hitting was normally consistent.

Coach Bob Allen was another coach at La Jolla High who was coaching a new or different sport for the first time. Coach Allen enjoyed the season whether the team was up or down. The reason for the inconsistency could most likely be related to the nonceasing rain, which brought tryouts to a standstill, and that some of the baseball players were participating in the state basketball tournament. The tryouts became a fiasco because of the rain but lead by Coach Allen the team was just about ready by the opening games. Once league play began, everything was ready and rolling for an exciting season.

This year's team members were: (top row): Coach Bob Allen, Charlie Resenick, Steve Peterson, John McCarthy, Toby Hawley, David Wells, Itor Tasende, Ted Schultz, Lafayette Cunningham; (second row) Steve Boehme, Mike Stutz, Steve Barnett, Frank Vitale, Paul Charhut, Mark McKinney, Craig Little, Juan Garcia; (bottom row) Paul Rickards, Tad Heineman, Gary Sacks, Scott Welsby, Chris Reese, Bill Bond, Andy Barbola and Michael Shaw.

GOLF

This year's golf team was lead by juniors Bob Grassa, Greg Attiyeh and seniors Kevin Knowles and Keith Marland. Five people begin the competition, but only the top four players on the team have their scores count, and the commulative sum is the final score, the lowest being the winner. This was perfect for this year's team because their top people were very strong and enabled the team to mount victories.

The team had an added incentive this year because if they won C.I.F. they could enter the state tournament. With a fourth place finish from the year before, they knew would have a serious chance of winning. Especially with Bob Grassa, a scratch golfer (one who has no handicap). It was a competitive golf team made up of strong individuals. The team enjoyed a magnificent season which was displayed in their competition against a very tough Torrey Pines, where both teams played superbly.

VARSITY BASKETBALL

It was a big turn around for the varsity basketball team. The main nucleus of the team had graduated and they were lacking in height. The team worked hard in the preseason and discovered their strengths. They needed to use their superior ball handling skills and adequate shooting ability. Martina Chaconas was an encouraging addition to the team, because of her court presence and outside shooting. To go along with the outside play of Martina and company was Barbara Grau. She was deadly from inside ten feet, and had the talent to get the ball in close to the basket.

The Team's lack of height was a hindrance in the attempt to win games, because the competition in their league featured girls with a large amount of height. Through the problems the season was still enjoyable for the players.

J.V. BASKETBALL

There was a strong fight for the J.V. girls' basketball team. The increased fierce fighting helped the team prepare itself in the short amount of time before the season. After the difficult final cuts were made, the team got down to work and conditioned themselves, worked on the fundamentals and learned the offense and defense. All the while everyone one on the team was still fighting for the starting positions.

Once the league play began, the girls could figure out what impact they would have on the team and everyone on the team became more relaxed. During the season the girls learned and practiced the skills that would hopefully someday give them a starting position.

The inexperience of the team was vivid in the early games, but as the season evolved to the halfway mark, the team showed a lot of improvement which made the season worthwhile to all involved.

This year's J.V. Basketball team members were: (first row): Yvette Ford, Liz Brave, Risa Ohkawa; (second row): Jennifer Douglas, Mary McDowell, Suzy Schweikert, Alix Mullin.

TRACK

This year's varsity track team showed the winning balance of fine runners for the running events and a strong team for the field events. The team had great hope for a repeat of last year's league title. The boy's squad, was led by seniors K.C. McMahon in the high jump and hurdles, Darrell Childs in the triple and long jumps, Andy Mendolsohn in the distance runs. Junior standouts were Pat Green in the mile and two-mile, Bob Healy in the shotput and Cameron Noorany in the 440.

The girls' team, coached by Vickie Eveleth, appeared to have the same balance. They too had a great chance to win the Western League again. The top girls were Dorit Fehrensen in the 440 and 880, Julie Fitch in the distance events, Mary Ellen Glynn in the 440, and Trish O'Connell in the discus and shot-put. Juniors Jennifer Pettigrew and Abby Harris excelled in the sprinting events.

Before county competition began, some team members had the chance to enter the Michelob Invitational in the Sports Arena. The Relay team of McMahon, Noorany, Pettigrew and Glynn came in first place. Pat Green, ran a fantastic second in the two mile. These showings displayed the high potential and hope for the Viking team in '83.

SWIMMING

Through hard work and dedication, Coach Bill Aames shaped the swim team to prepare them for league competition. Opening tryouts and practices, often in the rain, indicated a variety of outstanding swimmers were present. Aames took his few standouts, with the rest of the team, and helped them to improve. He placed people in the correct races and the team had consistency in winning meets.

The Varsity swimmers entered meets with much enthusiasm and confidence, leading the team to many victories.

With leading swimmers, Julie Garrett and Isabelle Tihanyi, the only questions before the season began was how successful the team would be. The girls encountered one early problem which was not their competition, but their practice time. This was the first year the boys and girls teams practiced and participated during the same season. With the numerous swimmers, late hours were frequently necessary for practice.

Two standouts on the boys team, Clay Wellborn and David Nichols were key contributing factors to the success of the Varsity team. Nichols best race was the 100 yard backstroke, Wellborn's was the freestyle event or the individual medley contests. They were a boisterous and well-rounded team that charged into league meets, drowning their competition.

TENNIS

Due to more than a week of heavy rains, the La Jolla High tennis team got a late start this year. Although they had not been able to practice, the team, under the leadership of a new coach, Mike Corle, looked promising. Senior Dan Shore optimistically stated, "We shouldn't have any problems winning C.I.F., as this is our best team in recent years." La Jolla's toughest opponent was Corona del Mar, a team from Northern California. Returning team members included seniors Jack Griffin, Todd Khoury, Dan Shore, Amado Yanez and juniors Chris Colwell and Scott Morse.

WESTERN LEAGUE CHAMPS

This was one of La Jolla High School's finest year athletically. It was attained through teamwork, hardwork, and a few outstanding performances. The five league champions were Volleyball, Badminton, Girls' Tennis, Boys' Basketball and Soccer. The teams used team concepts, and great individual talent to achieve these championships.

Highlighted by the league champions were the all league players. For football, Dan de la Vega was first team All-Western League, Casey McMahon was second team and receiving honorable mention were Torbin Christensen, Dan Kirk, Scott Edgington and Brent Hammond. Trish O'Connell and Luanna Harris received All-League honors for softball.

Dan Blackwell led the Basketball team being named Most Valuable Player of the Western League and was also named to the first team. Darrell Childs was named to the second team, while Neil Bernstein and Greg Holdgrafer both received honorable mention All-League.

Michelle Hughes was named Western League Volleyball Player of the year and was also named to the first team along with Jessica Rothchilds, Carla Burke received second team honors.

Playing in possibly the strongest league in the county, La Jolla High School sports teams excelled, bringing in five league titles and numerous All-League players.

CIF CHAMPIONS

Three of the five western league championship teams used skill and a bit of luck to win the C.I.F. crown. The Volleyball team coached by Vicki Eveleth upset heavily favored Marion to win the C.I.F. Championship for the first time in La Jolla High history. The team represented San Diego in the State Tournament and took third place over all. The Girls' Tennis team continued the tradition when they took the C.I.F. championship. The Basketball team playing inspired Ball won three playoff games by more than ten points. They had a tremendous season ending up with a record of 22-2, and representing San Diego in the State Tournament.

Outstanding individual efforts were recognized by being named to the All-C.I.F. teams. Michelle Hughes was named to the first team for Volleyball. Dan Blackwell, the calming influence on the championship Basketball team received for his merits a first team All-C.I.F. from the L.A. Times and second team All-C.I.F. from the San Diego papers. Pat Green, who led the Cross Country team to a Western League title, received All-C.I.F. honors.

The Girls' Tennis team was predicted to win the C.I.F., but the Volleyball and Basketball team were not. In fact in pre-season polls the Basketball team was picked third in the league and they were only seeded seventh out of eight teams in the playoffs. The teams this year for La Jolla disproved any theories about La Jolla athletics only winning the rich sports and the competitors not being able to stand up to pressure. It was a year to be proud of for La Jolla High.

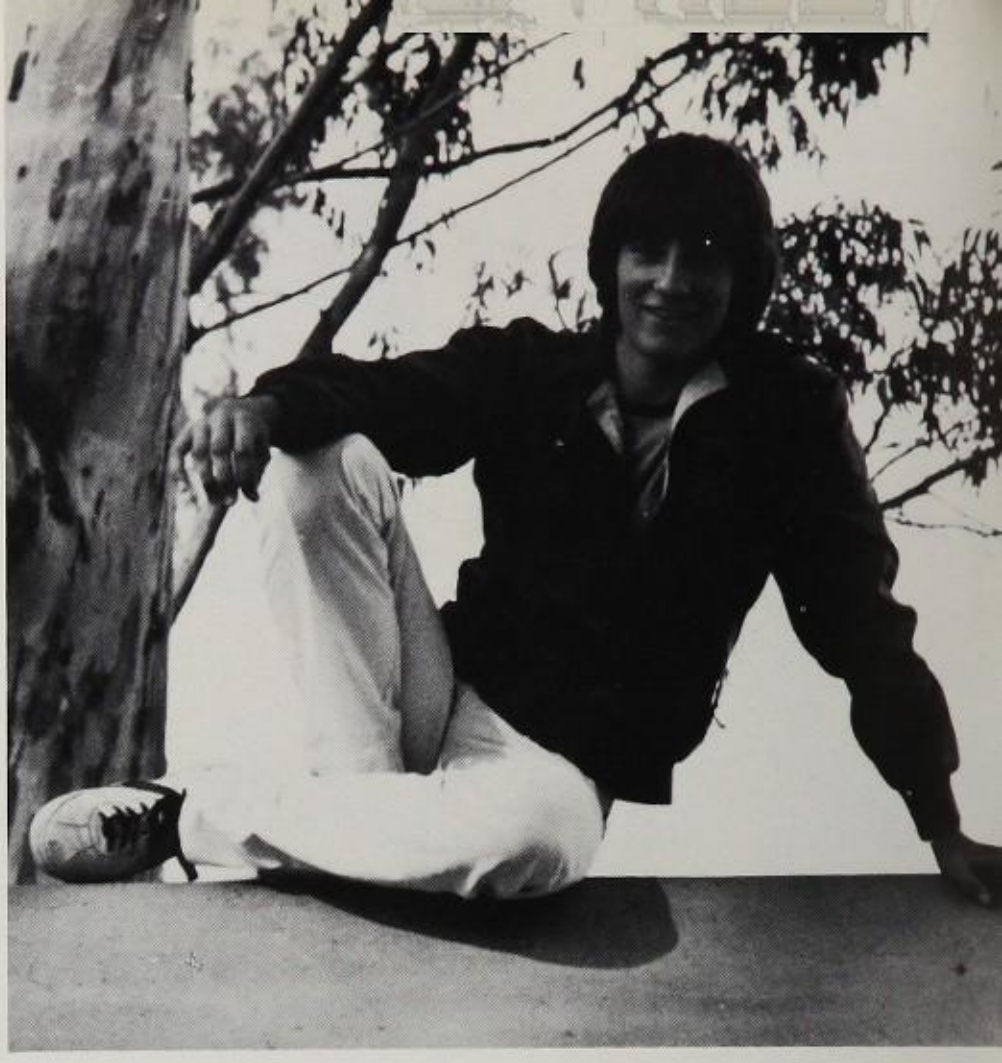
ASB
ELECTED OFFICERS



The ASB runs La Jolla High, and is a vital link between the administration and the students. We raise money for various activities at school, which makes La Jolla High not only a place to learn, but also a place to have fun. One of our main projects in the first semester was Voter Turn On '82! We raised money for school by increasing voter participants. The second semester we concentrated on the ASB ball and a formal dance for the whole school. As the ASB, we try to represent the school as best as we can, and improve the atmosphere for a better education. — Sara Henry, ASB President

APPOINTED OFFICERS

The Appointed Officers of A.S.B. are in charge of various departments within school functions. The office include commissioners of Publicty, Hour Lunches, and Elections. They are appointed each fall and spring semester and take on the responsibilities involved with each office. The Appointed Officers handled many of the A.S.B.'s relations with the student body as well as activities in ASB. itself. The Appointed Officers helped to create an incredible successful year for the La Jolla High School A.S.B. of 1983. — Sara Henrey, A.S.B. President.

SENIOR OFFICERS

By the end of the first semester the Senior Class was in sound financial condition. This was due to a $1700.00 profit on the Sr. Class Art Fair, a successful dance, food and drink sales at Varsity Basketball Games, and the operation of the student store. The officers were also kept busy planning Senior activities such as Prom, Grad Nite, Sr. Breakfast, the class budget, Graduation, and numerous other events. I'd like to thank all the people who worked on the Art Fair. I'd also like to thank the other fantastic officers: Julie Garrett, who was always by my side, weather I wanted her there or not, Lisa Coutemanche, whose 320i made a great staff car, and finally Catherine Olmstead, who is the most able-bodied secretary a president could ask for.

All the officers appreciate the response we had for Prom Committee sign-ups, sorry we couldn't pick everyone. Congratulations to the class of '83 Prom Committee: Ilene, Ines, Scott, Andrea, La Shawn, Clay, Mary Ellen, Lori, Sean, Chris, and Celene. — Craig Copeland, President.

JUNIOR OFFICERS

The class of '84 is extremely spirited and energetic! Everyone was very willing to help in all of the fund-raising events and activities. The Junior Officers with the constant support of the class had a very successful second semester. Some of the major activities were: Hershey's candy bar sales, car washes and a dance. The success of the activities helped to prove just how great of a class we are! We are all looking forward to next year when we will get a chance to put our money into action and to see our class on top. — Bryn Lloyd, President.

S-CLUB

S-Club is an all girl service club sponsored by the La Jolla Soroptimist Women's Club. The faculty advisor is Mrs. Soriano and the two Soroptimist advisors are Mrs. Barbara Scott and Mrs. Betty Press. S-Club is involved in both school and community projects. They have three main fund raisers; Village Vaudeville, a spring carnation sale, and garage sale. This year they sponsored a dance. Each year they take a large portion of their funds and donate to the different departments of our school. They then give scholarship awards to the outstanding S-Club members. A few of their projects include; getting voters to register, helping process textbooks, aiding at track meets, helping with open house, delivering carnations to the veterans, and adopting a grandparent. The S-Club girls meet weekly and are always eager to help both the community and school.

MARINERS

Mariners is an honorary girls' service club at La Jolla High School. We are involved in many school activities that would probably only be noticed if we didn't do them. These activities included helping with the textbooks at the beginning and end of the school year, and helping at registration during the summer. Our main project was Football Homecoming. We began working on Homecoming in August. Committees were formed for each little aspect that would take place on that day. October 29 finally came around and everything at Homecoming flowed smoothly. The occasion ended that night with a very successful dance. The girls did a great job and we were very proud to have a Mariners member, Pattina Gueston, be crowned Homecoming Queen. During the rest of the year, Mariners focused on giving our services to needy organizations. Thanks to all the Mariners for giving your time to help others. I hope you have found it as rewarding as I have. Mrs. Moore, thanks for everything. — Catherine Olmstead, President.

INTERACT

In only its second year of existence the club has doubled its membership. Caucuses were held on one of the first weeks of school, and 90 prospective members signed up. From that group of 90 about 50 of the most enthusiastic people were invited to join, bringing the total membership close to 80. The club kept itself busy all year. It raised money through carwashes, bake sales, and surf movies. The club donated this money to the school's new weight room. We also visited an orphanage in Baja, bringing supplies and friendship. A formal was also held in honor of Rolf Benirshke's walk to help zoo animals. Many other services and fun activities occured. The club tried to keep itself at one service project, one fun project, and one fund raiser a month. This combination hopefully made the members year enjoyable as well as rewarding.

KEY CLUB

Key Club International is a co-ed high school service organization, made up of more than 3500 individual clubs and 100,000 members. The La Jolla Key Club has always been among the strongest clubs in the organization, and this year was no exception. With such projects as co-sponsoring the Halloween Window Painting contest, serving Thanksgiving and Christmas dinners to the needy, and sponsoring the Basketball Homecoming, La Jolla Key Clubbers kept busy throughout the year. Probably the highlight of the Key Club year was the District Convention, which this year was held in Sacramento. Here 25 La Jolla Key Club participants came together with thousands of other Key Club members. People came from all over California, Nevada, and Hawaii to attend workshops and elect new officers. Many people were responsible for this year's success, among them were our advisor, Dave Ross, and others such as Dr. Joe Pennario and Bill Uncapher. So, I'd like to thank them all for their support. —Mark Convery, President.

Swing Choir was one class where you can have fun and work hard at the same time. Our main goal was to get the whole group working together toward a common accomplishment. This was our Christmas and Sping concert.

We not only sang snappy, popular songs but danced to them also. The traditional clap-sway-clap choreography has given way to more sophisticated and entertaining moves during the past couple of years and hopefully we'll be able to keep this up.

Last but not least, I want to say that you really get to know the people in your class. After selling M&M's, jewelry and everything else under the sun to raise money, it's kind of hard not to become close.

It was a good feeling though when we took that last bow at the last performance of the year with all of our friends. It's a moment we'll never forget.— Mojdah Akhavan, President.

This year's members were: (1st row): Doreen Bresee, Orlinda Hammock, Stephanie Ingrahm, Claudia Early, Kathleen McGaw, Carrie Conners, Natasha Wesling, Mojdah Akhavan; (2nd row): Bliss Lucas, Jenny Doren, Mrs. Moulton, Jane Rusk, Kim Mitchell, Angela Desento, Sara Breckenridge, Richette Lock, Loir Bastien; (3rd row): Chris Cargo, Lisa Powell, Donald Scott, Petra Muehlman; (4th row): Julie Edmundsen, Damien Biargo, Erick Stevens; (5th row): Donney Rierson; Members not pictured: Kristen Chandler, Amy Kavanaugh, Eliza Lennon, Christi Leslie, Kathy Manchester, Bethany McHale, Karen McIvor, Robert Mitchell, Sophia Moon, Marlo Roberts, Kris Robinson, Kim Rohrbach, La Shawn Woods, Gina Wrath.

MADRIGALS

This year, from the start, the La Jolla High School Madrigals sounded better than ever before. It was a year of change, from fruitcakes to sausages and from burgandy to jade colored dresses. This was also the first year of a dual presidency. The most difficult decision to make was whether the group would travel to the Bahamas or to Hawaii for festivities and competitions.

The Madrigal group at La Jolla High devotes itself to the study of serious songs which often have no accompainment. This year the choir consisted of 3 sophomores, 11 juniors and 9 seniors.

Mrs. Molton, we thank you for your patience when we had to wear tennis shoes with tuxedos during a performance because somehow or other the right shoes were left at home. Also, our incessant moaning and bickering, "Can't we have a party today." — Meredith Brown, Doug DeGerero, Presidents.

BAND

Due to the number of talented musicians and the dedicated work of our fine new director, our band enjoyed an outstanding year both musically and socially. The year was a far cry from the havoc and mass confusion of the preceeding one.

Under the fearless direction of Ken Ritchie, our piece band conquered many obstacles, both in and out of the rehearsal hall. We provided music at every football game, at the pep rallies, and concerts, which made this year memorable.

Finally, we'd like to thank the teachers and the administration for their continued support and help in making this one of the finest bands ever at La Jolla High School. — Greg Knostman, Band member.

KLJH

This year KLJH's management, again changed hands. With the new management came new organization. This year we have added more programs and more variety to our music. KLJH's history has been volitile. Since it's inception in 1976, it has changed directions and goals many times. This year we plan to stablize KLJH. If KLJH is not perfect this year, we will still be able to say that the first steps toward a stable, ideal KLJH will have been taken. Within a year or two, KLJH will be where it should be as a music and information source for La Jolla High School. We thank the people who have supported us in our endeavor, especially Mr. Jewell. We will continue to improve on the music, information, and fun on KLJH. We have given you our music, thanks for listening. — Kent Lindstrom, General Manager.

MATH TEAM

The La Jolla High Math Team was a tremendous success. Competing against many larger schools, the Vikes still took first place in competition at Occidental College. Every member of the team who went, came home with an individual award in his category. In competitions at S.D.S.U. and U.C.S.D. we again proved that quality is better than quantitiy. Traditionally, La Jolla has put out one or two mathematicians each year that supported the team, but this year's team is full of them-the majority of which are underclassmen, promising more of the excellence we're accustomed to in the future.

Under the supervision of Mrs. Head, the team made many gains this year. Participation has increased steadily, and the image of Math Team members as being bookworms who'd rather read a good calculus book than listen to The Clash at the beach has dissipated somewhat. Team members have a better opinion of themselves and have turned this into a fun experience. But we haven't forgotten how to win! — David Kosbie, President.

The California Scholarship Federation is a club for students with a G.P.A. of 3.5 or better. FRENCH CLUB

The French Club took a while to get off to a good start, because it was a club that had been dormant. In fact, it was almost like a new club getting started. For a new club we have had a good turnout of students. We have students representing many countries of the world, that coincidently speak French. We don't really stress speaking French too much, as not everyone is as comfortable as others with speaking the language. — Cesca McNally, President.

DANCE CONTROL

Dance Control is a tradition at La Jolla High. A group of outstanding senior boys is chosen to facilitate relations between the students and chaperones at the Dances. Some of the advantages of being on Dance Control are free admission to the dances and the priviledge of wearing to the dances the highly esteemed "Dance Control Shirt." HUMAN RELATIONS

The Human Relations club of La Jolla has always prided itself on an open membership policy, where anyone who wants to come and join us is allowed. We put our emphasis on the student and believe that open participation and group discussion is the best way to create communication among people.

Throughout the course of the year we sponsored many events within the club and also outside the club. We sponsored potluck dinners and get togethers, where we played games and had discussions and dances. We also went on trips to Mission Bay and Balboa Park for weekend picnics and excursions. As for the activities outside of the club, we sponsored an annual dance and important cultural events during Brotherhood Week, Black History Week, Woman's Week, Cinco De Mayo and other important dates.

This is the third straight year the club has been in existence. Its membership has been high and student involvement strong. The students and faculty have been very happy with its success and with their support we will continue to be a club oriented for the students. — Markus Bokisch, President.

HIKING CLUB

La Jolla High's Hiking Club was formed last year by members of I.S. Now it is a loosely formed club made up of students who enjoy outings in the wilderness. Many trips are taken with La Jolla country Day School, and occasionally with students from Torrey Pines High School, and University High School. We have had many exciting hiking trips in Cuyamaca, San Bernadino Mountains, Catalina Island and Borego Springs. The club has also enjoyed the experience of cross country skiing in the San Jacinto Mountains and rock climbing in Joshua Tree. We are looking forward to the Sierra's this summer and lots of trips next year. — Marianne Filloux, President.

SURF CLUB

As I took off on the wave, I could tell it was the wave of the day. I stood up, trying to dodge the kelp that could mean instant disaster. The gleaming turquoise was shooting up to the right of me and I could see a tremendous amount of white-water pounding down from the left of me. The water kept getting closer and closer and I could tell I was almost covered up. The white-water that was pounding down to my left, had now started to gush overhead. I could tell it would be seconds before I would be smashed like a single piece of kelp, but at that very instant my board rocketed out of the tube and I was saved from being cremated.

The club surfed up and down the California Coast and parts of Mexico. We had a very successful year, thanks. — Mike Luscomb, President

DEVIL'S WINE

"Poetry is the devil's wine," wrote Saint Augustine. La Jolla High's literary magazine, The Devil's Wine, inspired by this intoxicating quote, was established to provide a forum for the excellent literature written by La Jolla High students. The magazine aimes to present a diversity of styles and topics of writing, both poetry and prose.

This year's staff has worked closely with teachers to discover student writers, with the writers to uncover their best works, and with their manuscripts, to present them in the most pleasing and effective manner. Each step was difficult, the writers were modest and hard to find, the manuscripts were complex and defied easy editorial decisions, and their production was challenging, having limited resources, but unlimited imagination. But there were certainly satisfying moments that went along with the frustrating ones. Manuscripts that needed no editing, writers who were inspired and enthusiastic artwork that fit perfectly with the literature, sythesized to create a unique and quality magazine.

I hope that future staffs will find even more enthusiasm for their project, and will continue the quest for excellence that has become a tradition for The Devil's Wine. — Emily Fierer, Editor-in-Chief

ECOLOGY CLUB

Our club formed about three years ago. Most people in the club have known each other several years. Our meetings, which are held in a casual atmosphere range from lunch to vacation get togethers. The members enjoy each others company as well as working and conducting experiments with the animals. Many have projects involving animals. Our other activities include visits to the Wild Animal Park, the Zoo, and Sea World. Our many thanks to Mr. Brown for his help and support.

BEGINNING JOURNALISM

Beginning Journalism is just like on the job training. The class is broken up into several groups that provide the High-Tide, Outlook and Yearbook with articles, feature stories and photographs. The Media group produced a school news video tape program with the help of Mr. Jewel, and typesetters and photographers also helped the publications.

The work that takes place in the first semester prepares the class to either transfer to a publication or produce Viking and then Some, The Yearbook Supplement.

The class is a great learning experience that especially helps if one is planning to work on a publication next-year. — Rosemary Asmus, Editor-in-Chief of the Supplement.

OUTLOOK

This year, Outlook Magazine had undergone a drastic transformation. We have expanded our coverage to better relate to all students at La Jolla High School. This year's larger mixed staff has only added to the fun and challenge of producing a product that everyone can enjoy. We decided to charge 50¢ per issue this year in order to increase sales. This rebate was very well received.

To give you a better idea of our class, here are a few frequently heard comments from 4th period Outlook: "You guys shut up!! Please," "Barbara, go charge up food at Jonathans." "This picture is blurry — Can't you fix it." "Page editors — We go to the printers in two days!" "Yes — Everybody must sell an ad . . . Yes — Even the production people." "Bring in your $4 to Tim Canty tomorrow." "Juddie — Stop typing those trivial notes on the typewriter." "D.J. — is this alright — What do you mean it's too symmetrical — We think it looks cute!" "Damm! I cut the picture too small . . . again!" "Those aren't titles — they're headlines." "Barbara loves hairline!" "John and Brent — Help we need 10 cartoons by the end of the period." In memory of late nights in room 601 and 301 with pizza, Tab, and Doritos. Thanks Page-Editors!!!

Special thanks to Barbara Carson, the Outlook Production Chief, for her constant support, energy, humor, and great food. Good luck next year Smith!

The Outlook Staff should be very proud of their work this year. We have turned out high quality issues and made this the best year of Outlook yet. — Lori Wolochow, Editor-in-Chief.

HI-TIDE

Being a member of the Hi-Tide was an invaluable experience for all of us, and although there were continuous pressures, we did it as a group and in the way we thought was best.

The purpose of the newspaper was to bring to the attention of the school, newsworthy items, in-depth features, and researched editorials, doing it in an interesting manner. Having a staff that was both technically proficient and outstandingly creative, made working on the newspaper that much greater.

Through our experiences, we all realized the importance of the newspaper, as it gave the entire school community a permanent outlook into the events of the year.

Although the final product was always in one piece, everything that led up to the publication of the Hi-Tide, such as an average day in class was not always so put together and normal.

"Dan, go ahead" . . . "No, I'll just wait until everyone quiets down, Scott, you want to do your usual." "Come on, shut up now" . . . "Well, now that I have your attention — oh, nice of you to join us Chris . . . and Peter . . . and Kevin . . . and well, as I was saying, please have all copy in today." . . . "Chuckle, chuckle" . . . "All photos today or . . ." "Dan" . . . "Yes, Paul" . . . "This just isn't going to cut the mustard" . . . "Dan, when's the deadline!" . . . "Well, everything . . ." "Dan, when are cartoons due" . . . "Oh, Scott! I forgot to tell you that we have to cut out the center-spread." . . . "No problem! As Peter says," "All we have to do is make an ads page" . . . "Oh, everyone. Can I have your attention! I just got some copy back and in the stories there were many contractions. Don't use'em"

In closing, I would like to thank Mr. Wightman for his invaluable advice, the administration for their support, and the entire staff for their dedication and hard work. Without all those people, the paper could not have been the success that it was. — Dan Springer, Editor-In-Chief.

YEARBOOK

Many people have wondered how the yearbook staff ever produces the quality publication that it does. Looking at this year's staff in September, I began to wonder the same thing. The group that was finally assembled surpassed past staffs in energy, enthusiasm, and continuous conversation.

We attempted to make a book that would reflect the '82-'83 school year and set it apart from the rest. Most people do not realize how difficult this is. More than once film was ruined, no one showed up for the picture, there was an important test to study for, or creative writing had to quickly be done for a page the writer knew nothing about. There were many late nights in 301 for photographers and page producers alike. These were the times that yearbook was a pain in the @*!, but there were also the times that brought the staff that much closer together.

The most appropriate way to remember the year and those late nights would be the numerous remarks, most of them obnoxious, that echoed through 301. Hello Advisor, Hello Chief . . . Please be quiet . . . Quiet down . . . Shut up! . . . Carl, will you get them to shut up? . . . Any emergencies, disasters, catastrophes?. . . Yes, someone stole the revitalizer . . . You number pictures left to right, top to bottom . . . Let's get to work . . . Romy, how long do you need the hotel room for, about 5 minutes? . . . Andrea, when are we going to Disneyland? . . . Brian and Cindy, sing this week's song to us . . . Lisa T., you left your Playtex gloves out . . . Neil, have you got a special purpose to go with your special picture? . . . Talley and Mark, do you think you could stay for general meeting once? . . . Greg alias Wonderboy . . . No Julia, you can not use a picture of a foot for the Surf Club group shot . . . Kay, just make up Senior Thoughts . . . Dominant pictures are stupid . . . Lisa D., what is is SCROC? . . . Shaun, I think his last name is Gonzalez . . . Atoosa, you must have tried hard to make your layout this messy . . . Purple is a pretty color Melissa . . . O.K. you guys, you number pictures left to right, top to bottom . . . Esther, do you get a special deal on attendance since your mother works there? . . . Meg's orange notebook is missing again, David! . . . The job stamp is for stamping pages, not bodies . . . Meg nice Hang Outs page, must be Evan's work . . . Scott, wanna go mix some chemicals? . . . Who took down Groovematic Orange Woman? . . . If you don't know a name, make it up . . . O.K. you guys, this doesn't make any sense at all number pictures the same way you read a book.

There are a few people who enormous thank you are owed to: THANK YOU Mary Ellen Glynn, Dick Kerr, Daryl, Mrs. Nemeth, Mr. Ames, John Konstanzer for artwork on 286-287, Jennifer Balough for artwork on 123, Steve Garrett for pictures on pages 1, 8-9, 14, 300-301, 304, and D.J. Wightman for letting this be a true student publication, and to the most unappreciated and unknown group on campus, the '83 Viking Staff, you guys were the BEST!

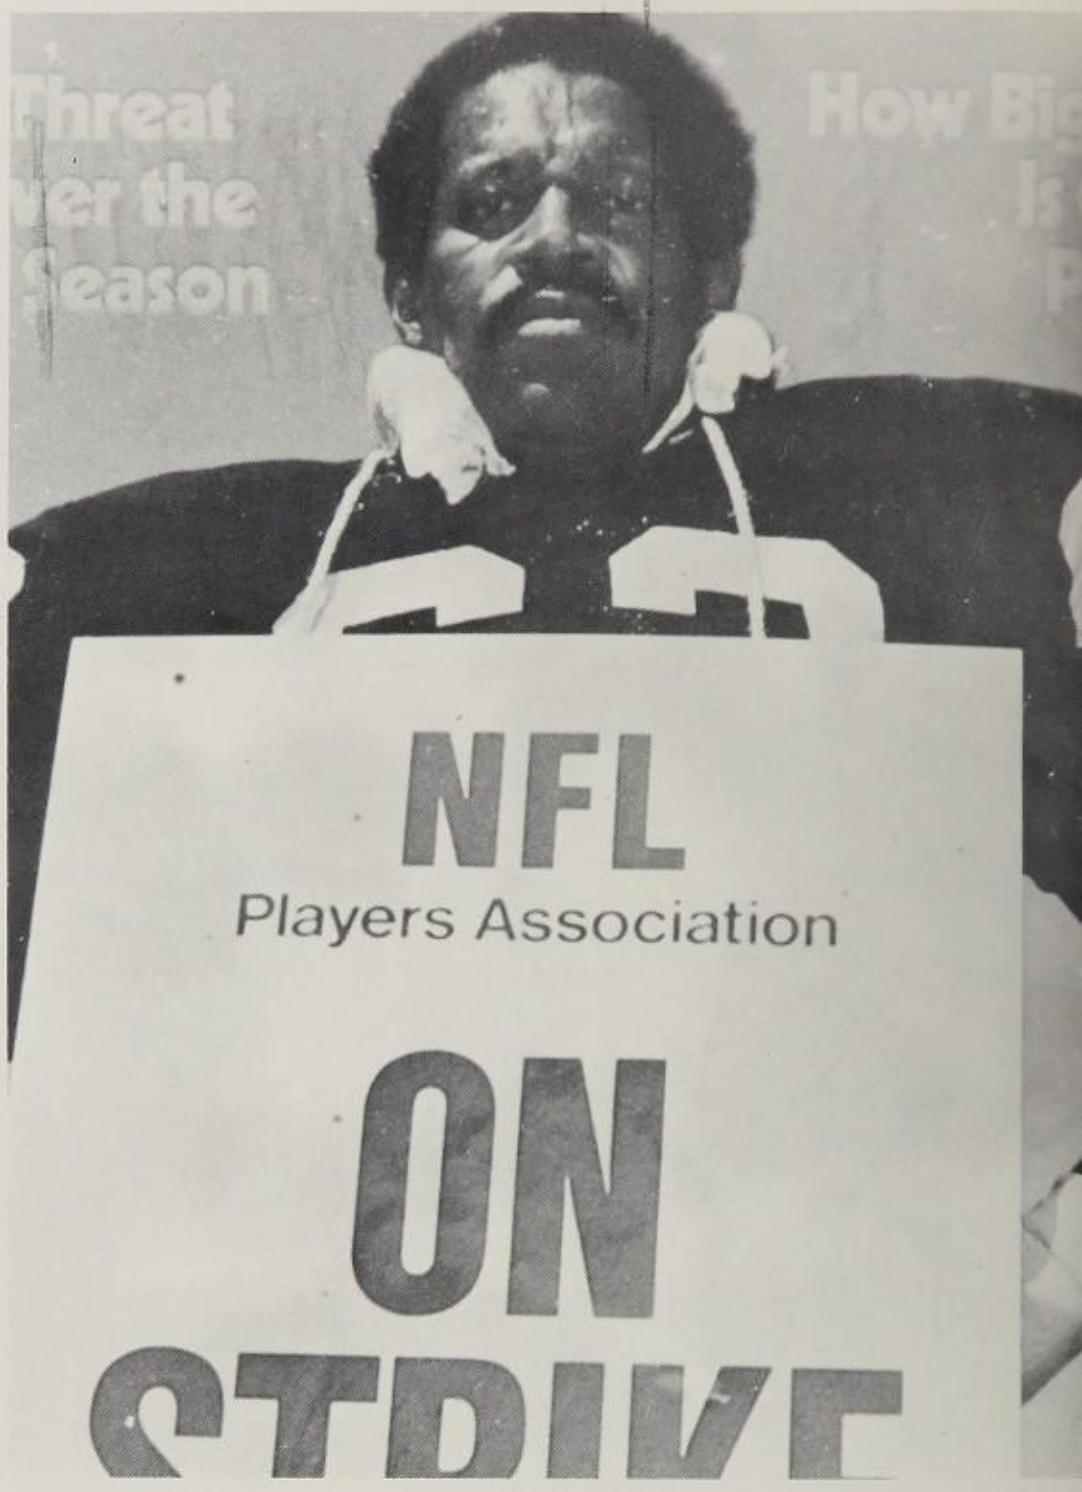
Looking ahead, I would like to wish Jeni Gilliland, the '84 Editor, the best of luck. You've got a long road in front of you, but one that is well worth traveling. — Julie Garrett, Editor-in-Chief

FALL NEWS

FOOTBALL STRIKE — For 57 days, the infamous Ed Garvey led the football players on a strike against the owners. When all the smoke had cleared and the players began to play again, the players had gained little financially and less respect from the owners and fans. 115,000 fans decided that there were more interesting things to do on a Sunday, as a record number of no-shows presented their displeasure. The Football Strike was called a disaster by most critics.

TYLENOL MURDERS — Seven people were hidieously murdered by a most likely insane person. The murderer injected cyanide into the Tylenol capsule and the unsuspecting victims swallowed the poison and died. After the fact, which is the norm, the Tylenol Company invented safeguards against this unfortunate act.

DeLOREAN DEBACLE — In order for Mr. DeLorean to stop his fall toward bankruptcy, he attempted to deal heavily in cocaine. He was caught and convicted, a dismal outcome for a man who started with so much.



LEBANON MASSACRE — The Israeli military, who was in control of Lebanon, made a drastic mistake when they allowed Christian Militants into the Palestinian refugee camps. Hundreds of innocent Palestinians were slaughtered mercilessly and bloodily. There were many theories and investigations into the reason for the massacre but there was only speculation and not enough fact.

US CONCERT — For three days over 100,000 people partied, celebrated, listened to a variety of music and had one of those times of your life you never forget. The Us concert was supposed to be similar to the Woodstock concert in upstate New York. The fun and enjoyment was similar, but the social affects were not apparent. With bands ranging from new wave to hard rock and people getting drunk there was surprisingly few bad incidents, to the delight of the promoters.

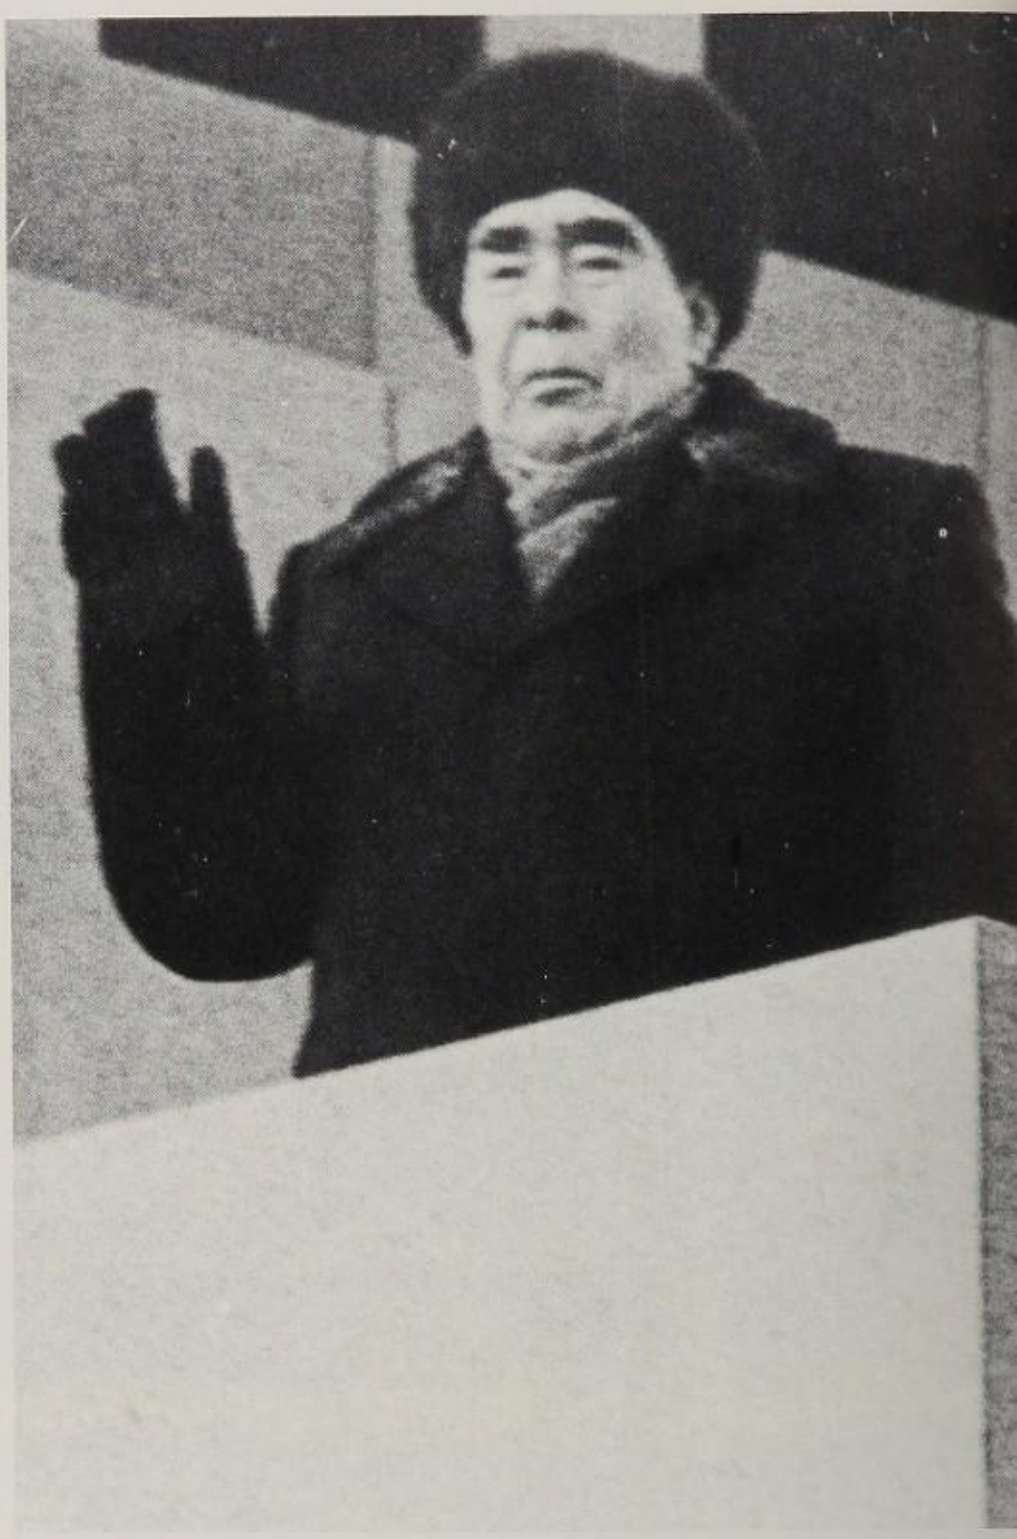
Winter News

BREZNEV DIES — Leonid Breznev the Prime minister of the Soviet Union passed away, but the predicting by the critics of chaos was wrong. Andropov the K.G.B. leader quickly stepped in and consumed all of the power in the government. Breznev led his nation to become one of the two powers in the world. His death will be a loss to his nation because of the power he weilded, not because of the decisions he made. Breznev will most likely go down in history as one of the most powerful men in history.



MAN-MADE HEART — December 1982 was a great advancement in medicine. A man-made heart was placed in a 61 year old, and enabled him to live a rather normal life. Dr. Robert K. Jarvic took many years to invent a man-made heart, but once it was placed in Barney Clark's chest, the many years of grueling work payed off. The heart was predicted by critics to be able to save as many as 60,000 a month. The only major obstacle remaining is the price. It costs 30,000 dollars to get it and install it.

WHO TOUR — The year 1969 the Who, an English group, goes on their first American tour. It is a success, with crowds ranging between 20,000 and 50,000 people. This year 1982-83 the Who went on their farewell tour, and record numbers of people came out to bid the Who a happy and rowdy goodbye. The Who's concert in Toronto was seen live via satellite by more than 1 million people. Everybody who was fortunate to attend the concerts were glad to have experienced something that was so special, this was especially evident when the Who played their classics, Pinball Wizard and Baba O'Riley.

SUPERBOWL VXII — In an anticlimatic season the Washington Redskins defeated the Miami Dolphins 27-17. In the process of winning Pete Rozelle's tournament, each Redskin earned 72,000 dollars. The game was exciting, as John Riggins, the M.V.P., broke four superbowl records. It was the game of nicknames in which the Hogs, Smurfs and Fun Bunch defeated the Killer B's. Over 103,000 viewed the game live. The people left understanding why the Superbowl is so popular, as a halftime show involved all the people and pregame show that lasted over half an hour.

NATIONAL CHAMPIONS — Coach Joe Paterno considered by many as the best college coach, finally won a national championship. His team accomplished this by nudging out undefeated and number one rated Georgia Bulldogs. It was a tense exciting game where Paterno's skills showed brightest. He devised the defense that stopped the great Hershel Walker and therefore won the game.

ROSE BOWL

SPRING NEWS

U.S.F.L. BEGINS — March 6, 1983 the first games of the United States Football League took place. It was an auspicious beginning for two reasons. The crowds were 30,000 people and up, with a couple of crowds of more than 40,000 people. The bigger reason though was the signing of Herschel Walker for 16 million dollars which instantly gave the league creditability and displayed to everyone their intent of making the league survive and prosper.

M*A*S*H* ENDS — The final episode of M*A*S*H* was viewed by more people at one time than any other single broadcast in the history of television. For two and a half hours people got their last chance to see Hawkeye, Hot Lips and the rest of the cast. The only negative of the night was the onslaught of commercials which paid a record amount of 300,000 dollars for 30 seconds.

QUEEN ARRIVES — Queen Elizabeth had her first visit to California, in the process she stopped in San Diego and at La Jolla Scripps Institution of Oceonography. Her visit was dampened by terrible weather but thousands of people crowded as near to the Royal Yacht as they could in order to catch a glimpse of her majesty and her entourage.

ANDROPOV ASSUMES CONTROL — Yuri Andropov rapidly took over control of the Soviet Government after Leonid Breznev died. Immediately new policies and disciplines were enforced. To the outside world he made it known that peace was his goal but at home he ruled with an iron fist, which was easy since he had been K.G.B. head for 15 years.

SHARON RESIGNS — A government commission which looked into the reasons for the Lebanon Massacre decided that Ariel Sharon was indirectly responsible, and therefore asked and received his resignation. Secretary of State George Schultz said that Israel deserved "a tip of the hat as a model of how democracy can work." This proved that Menachem Begin had used all of his political skills to keep foreign nations and the Israelies both happy, because of the way the situation was handled.

WINDS OF WAR — In a strong effort to combat viewer losses to calbe companies, ABC captured a record number of viewers over the eighteen scheduled hours. It cost the most to make for a T.V. series and it made the most for a T.V. series.

HANG-OUTS

"Lets go to Harry's for breakfast and the Pannikan for lunch . . .," "No way. I've only got five bucks lets go to AM/PM . . ." "You're crazy, that's all junk food! We need some good food like frozen yogurt!"

These are all hangouts of La Jolla students. There is a lot of irony here though, because the La Jolla student who is worrying about looking good is hanging out at food dispensers. Oh well, it's probably socially easier when a person talks with his mouth full or doesn't talk at all. Even the activities at The Point involve the consumption of substances.

Knowing the Hangouts in La Jolla is essential. The Hang outs in La Jolla are built up by tradition, so it's not too difficult to figure out where to go if you have nothing to do. It's actually real easy to think about food.

National Merit

PSAT/NMSQT scores are used to find 11th grade high scoring students who will be considered for National Merit awards. Juniors who scored in the top 5% of the nation were recognized as Commended Students. Those whose scores ranked in the top 1/2 percent are designated National Merit Semi-Finalists. Finalists were chosen later and were determined from SAT and PSAT scores combined. To receive the National Merit Finalist Award, you must have maintained good grades and had a recommendation from your school. La Jolla High School had twenty National Merit Finalists and eighteen Commended Students.

The honor of being named Valedictorian, the highest academic award, is given to the most exceptional students. To qualify, one must maintain a 4.0 grade point average through out their high school years. Twelve students in the graduating class have maintained a flawless record earning them Valedictorian status.

The Salutatarian award is given to students who have acheived a 4.0 average for all but one semester when they were allowed a 3.83 average. Five students earned the Salutatarian award.

More importantly, it is the individual commitment required by each of these academic leaders that is honored. Achieving the Valedictorian and Salutatarian is purely the product of hard work, dedication, and the desire to learn and excel.

S.D.S.U. MATH AND A.M.A.E.I.

Carlos Herrera and Jeff Machado received awards from the Association of Mexican-American Educators Incorperated. The award is given to Mexican-Americans with high scholarship grades and worthy contributions to activities. They will be considered for a scholarship.

The annual SDSU Math Field Day was held on Febuary 26. La Jolla High was well represented with students, who earned many awards. There were five events and each competitor entered two. The events consisted mainly of problem solving as well as using a calculator. La Jolla competed as a team and placed 1st. Also included in the field day were math lectures.

NATIONAL AND LOCAL AWARDS

In the National French Contest, La Jolla captured awards in the 1st-4th year levels. In level one, Reza Jalili and Ana Wiechers placed 3rd and 4th respectively. In level two Sabrina Mazzom placed 2nd. In 3rd year Tom Darby took 1st place with Paola Feher close behind in 3rd place. In level four, Michael Lin Finished 4th. They competed with students throughout California, and the winners went on to compete nationally.

The National Achivevment Scholarship Program for Outstanding Negro Students is administered by the National Merit Scholarship Foundation. It was created in 1964 by a five year grant from the Ford Foundation. Students can be awarded one-time awards or receive four year college scholarships. The winners are to be announced later this year.

David Chelsea, Mark Convery, and Bruce Roberson were all awarded scholarships from the Riford Scholarship fund. Rotary Club, who chooses the winners, interviewed eight applicants and narrowed it down to three finalists.

LOCAL SCIENCE FAIR

The students enrolled in the Advanced Science classes worked all year towards a science project. They began by selecting a topic and then proceeded to research and test their hypothesis.

The committee from the Greater San Diego Science and Engineering Fair then screened the projects. Sixty projects were accepted this year to go on to the county science fair. "I am very pleased with the record amount of projects entered," added Mr. Steve Brown.

BUSINESS AWARDS

The Soroptomist Youth Citizenship Awards is an award given for service, not scholarship. The applicants are judged on community service and extra-cirricular activities. The Soroptomist Committee makes the final decisions on who will receive the award. Julie Garrett competed with other schools in the area and was awarded first place. She went on to compete with students from a larger area.

The Bank of America certificate award winners are nominated by the teachers in each department and then the final winners are selected by the administrators.

For the engraved plaque winners, the administrators select three overall winners from the nominees. The winner for science and mathematics was Sherry Wolfe. Julie Garrett won the Liberal Arts which includes English, Foreign Language, and Social Studies. David Shively captured the Fine and Practical Arts for Art, Music, Drama, and Industrial Arts.

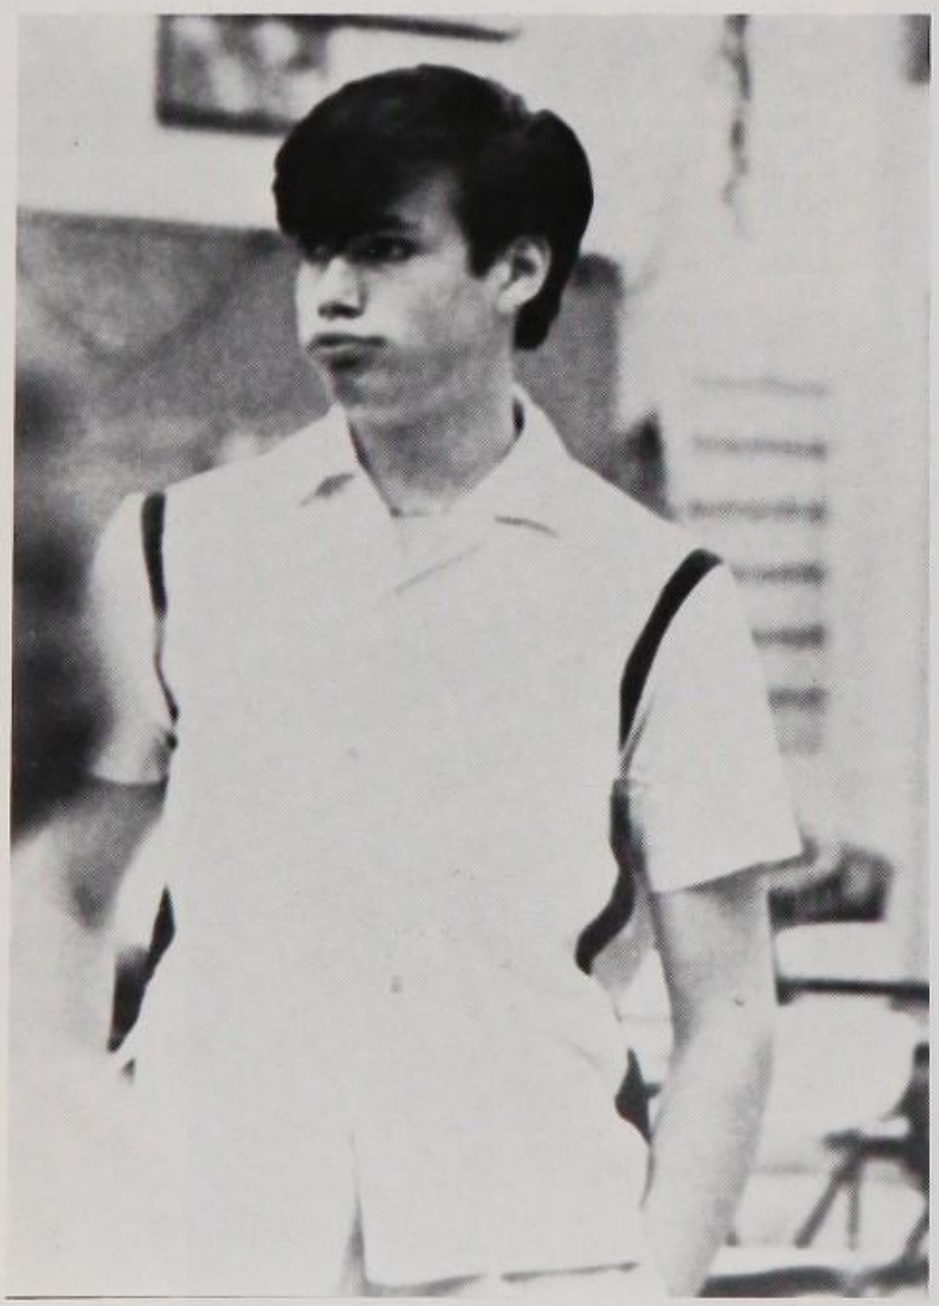
SPRING DRAMA

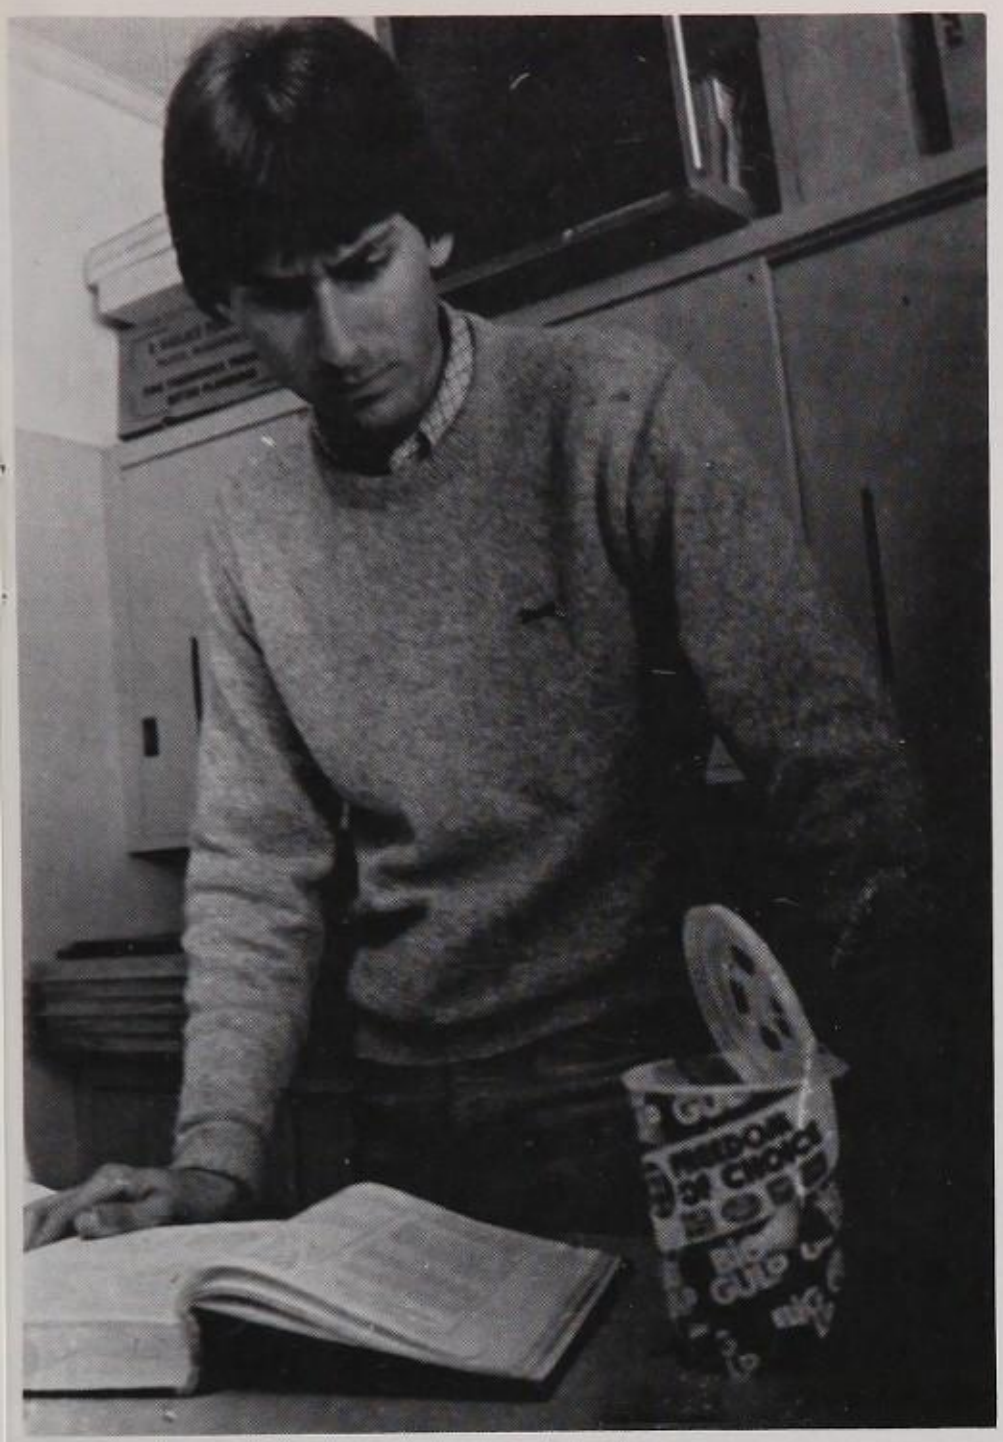
A spoof on high fashion in the 1850's, "Fashion" was a spectator's delight.

Mr. Walter Stewart and his Advanced Drama class produced the play "Fashion." Because it was a spoof on high fashion in the 1850's, the students enjoyed designing and creating their own costumes. Senior Krista Harris explained, "It's a comedy of errors."

The main characters were, Steve Azer, Greg Bass, Jim Bess, Alice Burgess, James Haerr, Krista Harris, Emily Helfgot, Anthony Miranti, Stephanie Omens, Alicia Reed, Matt Rose, and Tamar Young.

(clockwise from upper left): Stephanie Omens, Steve Azer, Jim Bess, Gene Manheimer, Mr. Everette Tompkins; Mark Conveey, Craig Kane; Jim Bess, Stephanie Omens, Jim Bess.





EGG DROP

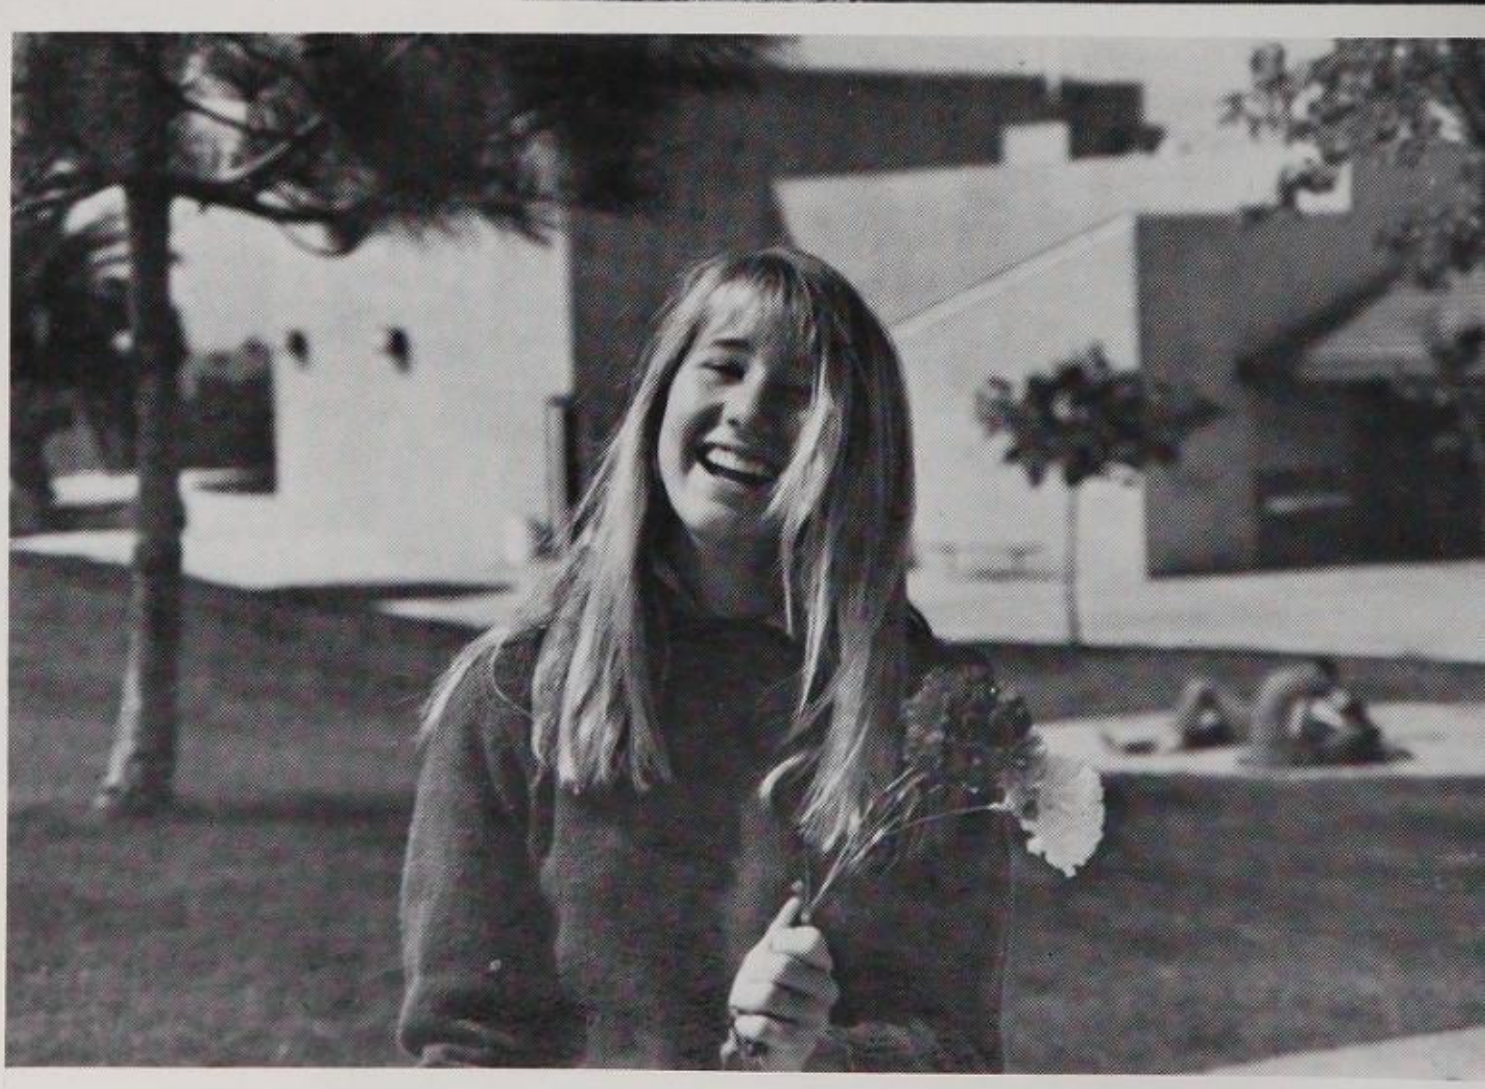
During lunch on Friday, March 18, a large audience gathered to cheer on Mr. Tompkins and his physics students in the 10th annual "egg drop". The object of the event is to design a capsule weighing less than 30 grams (about an ounce), that will keep the egg from cracking when dropped from the top of the 400 building (about 50 feet). Twenty-five projects were dropped and fifteen survived to receive the "A" grade. Mr. Tompkins loves it especially when, "The egg breaks and splatters all over the ground because it shows that the students didn't spend enough time working on their projects". The best project belonged to Peter Tan. The most spectacular splat goes to Dan Augestine. Mr. Tompkins ends with saying, "All I did was heave the projects off from the roof...".

SALES AND CAR WASH

The best way for La Jolla High students to earn money for their clubs,teams,and comittees is to put on sales. The most successful have been car washes, flower sales, and candy sales.

Both Key Club and Interact had profitable car washes which raised $600. They held the car washes at local gas stations where they scrubbed an unending supply of La Jolla's finest Mercedes.

S-Club sponsored a St. Patricks Day carnation sale that netted $200. All of the S-Club girls helped sort the tags and flowers into bundles according to room number. Melano's flowers supplied thousands of carnations in colors that included green, red, white, and pink.



1983 FASHION SHOW

The third annual Fashion Show held on April 23rd, was a success. The proceeds from the show went to the Melonee Jones Scholarship Foundation, which grants minority scholarships to promising La Jolla students. Over fifty hopeful students tried out for fourteen modeling positions. Clothing was supplied by seven local stores that agreed to lend their fashions on a promotional basis. These stores include Whistle, Kippy's, Robinson's, Tennis Tree, Little Folks Shop, Ducks and Co., and Shades of White. Every one associated with the show, looks forward to next year's fundraiser.

NEW VARSITY CHEERLEADERS

Tryouts for new Varsity Cheerleaders started in the middle of April having twenty La Jolla High junior and sophomore girls trying out. Miss Porter and other administrators made the preliminary cut leaving sixteen girls to tryout in front of the entire school body and faculty.

The teachers, students, and old Varsity Cheerleaders chose the twelve best cheerleaders for '83-'84 athletic year. Durring tryouts they experienced tension, nervousness, and sometimes embarrassment. They look forward to an exciting year and hope the best to turn out.

Congratulations to Mary Andrews, Jessica Barondes, Barbara Carson, Laura Edlesten, Janine Hirsch, Karen McIvor, Tracy McReynolds, Mary McShane, Karin Pastore, Kim Pastore, Libby Thomas, and Danielle Tribolet.

(Next year's newly elected cheerleaders are): Libby Thomas, Jessica Barondes, Tracy McReynolds, Janine Hirsch, Mary Andrews, Danielle Tribolet, Karen McIvor, Barbra Carson, Laura Edlesten, Mary McShane, Karin Pastore, and Kim Pastore.

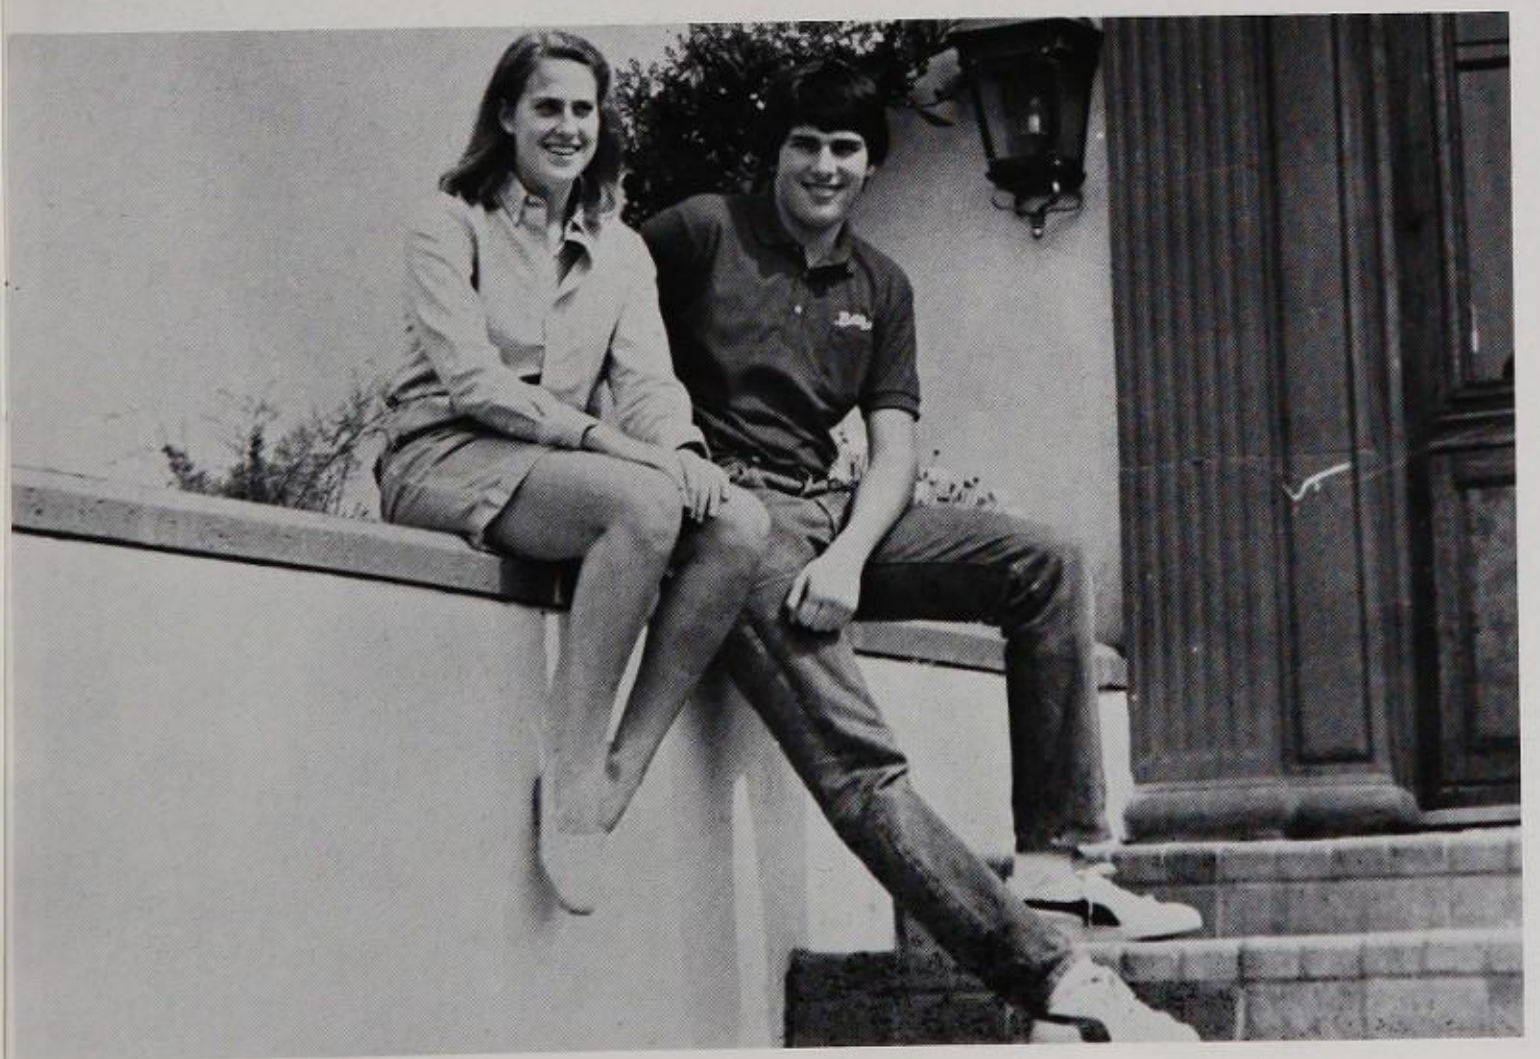
I'm eager to continue this preparation and look forward to a fantastic year."

Paul Palmer-(Hi-Tide)

As a sophomore, P.J. was enrolled in the beginning journalism class. By the semester, P.J. was quickly accepted to the Hi-Tide staff as a page editor and now he has been elected as the new Editor-in-Chief for the Hi-Tide. P.J's most important goal is to orientate the Hi-Tide more toward La Jolla High School. P.J. concluded, "Hi-Tide continues to improve and this up-coming year will be no exception!"

Barbara Carson-(Outlook)

After spending two years on the Outlook staff, first as a page editor and then as production chief, Barbara Carson has now been promoted to Editor-in-Chief of the 1984 Outlook staff. Barbara feels that outlook magazine has made many improvements this year and she is looking forward to continually improving it next year. "I believe we have a good product and it's time to branch out and find what subjects would appeal to more of the school", Barbara concluded.



SENIOR ACTIVITIES

After the seniors have been accepted to colleges, they tend to slack off in their work, and to supplement their time they had plenty of activities planned.

To start, they had a class meeting where they were measured for cap and gown and received a good "pep talk" from school officials. Next, they took off the morning and enjoyed a leisurely breakfast at the Atlantis. On May 14, seniors and their dates enjoyed a memory filled evening at Montezuma Hall. Thanks to the Prom Committee, the prom was a success.

To conclude the activities, the seniors had a chance to sign each others yearbooks at the annual signing party.

TRACK

Coached by Chuck Boyer and Vicki Eveleth, the Viking's track team is having another outstanding year. Their strongest events have been the shotput, discus, and relays. The highest scorers in the distant events have been junior, Pat Green and senior, Dorit Fehrensen. Local rival, Mission Bay, is their toughest opponent. To gain experience against non-league teams, the Vikings compete in outside meets such as the Mustang Relays.

As important as their ability, is the Vikings team spirit, winning attitude, and dedication. All of this attributes to their victorious past and should guarantee them the Western League.

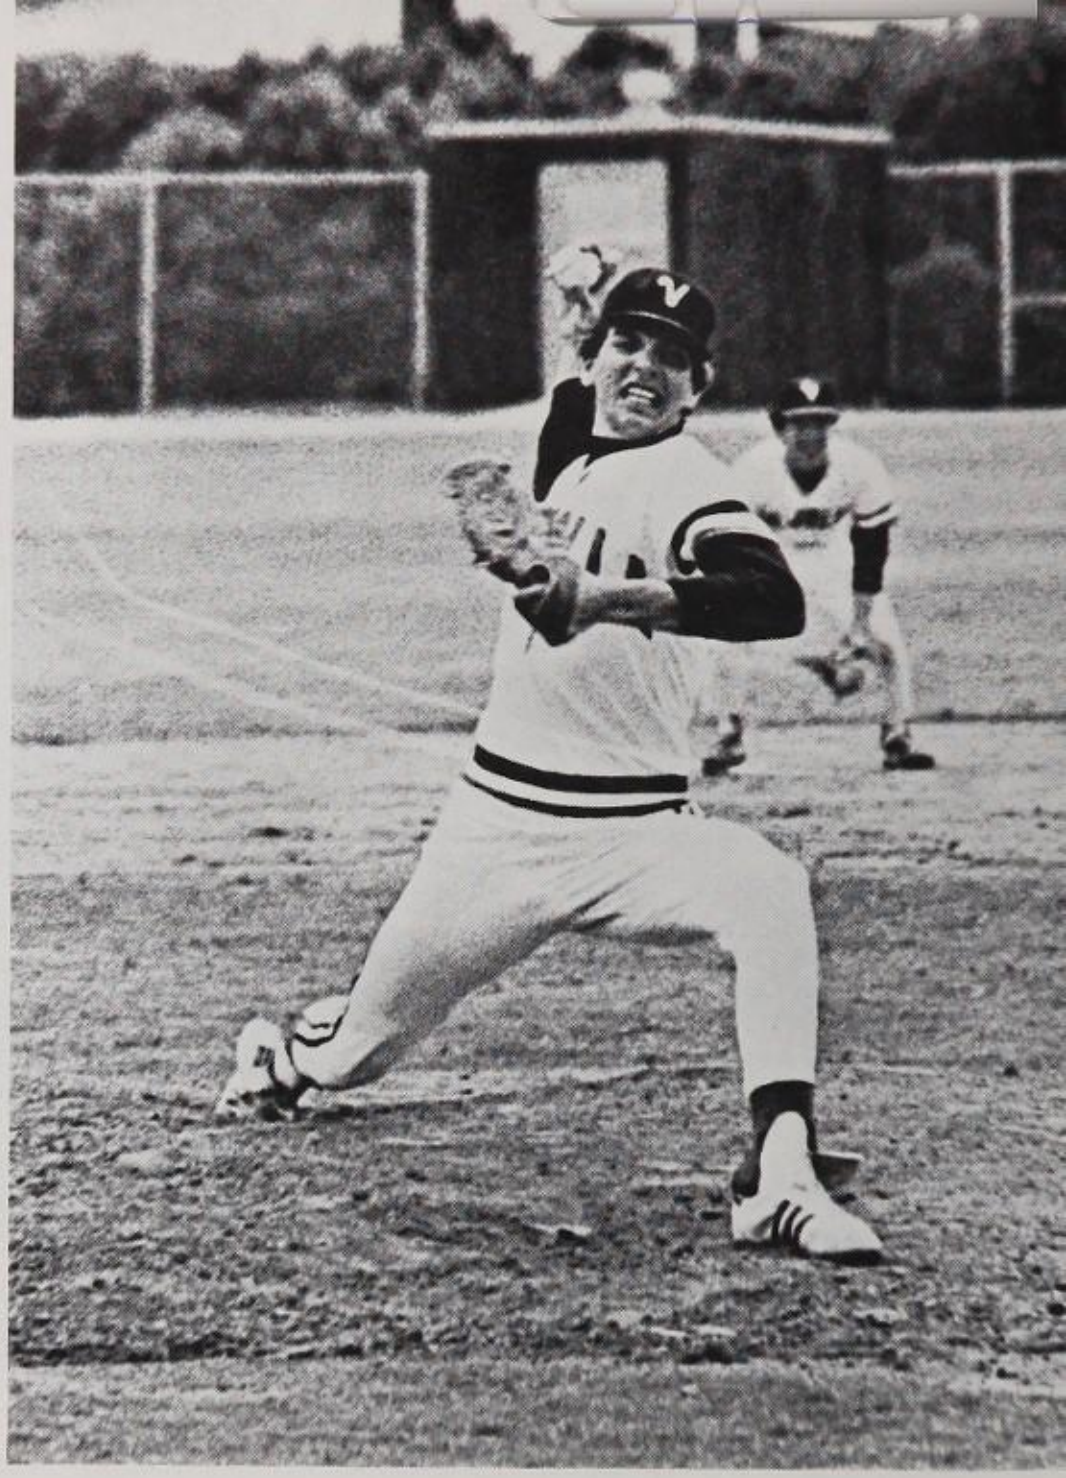
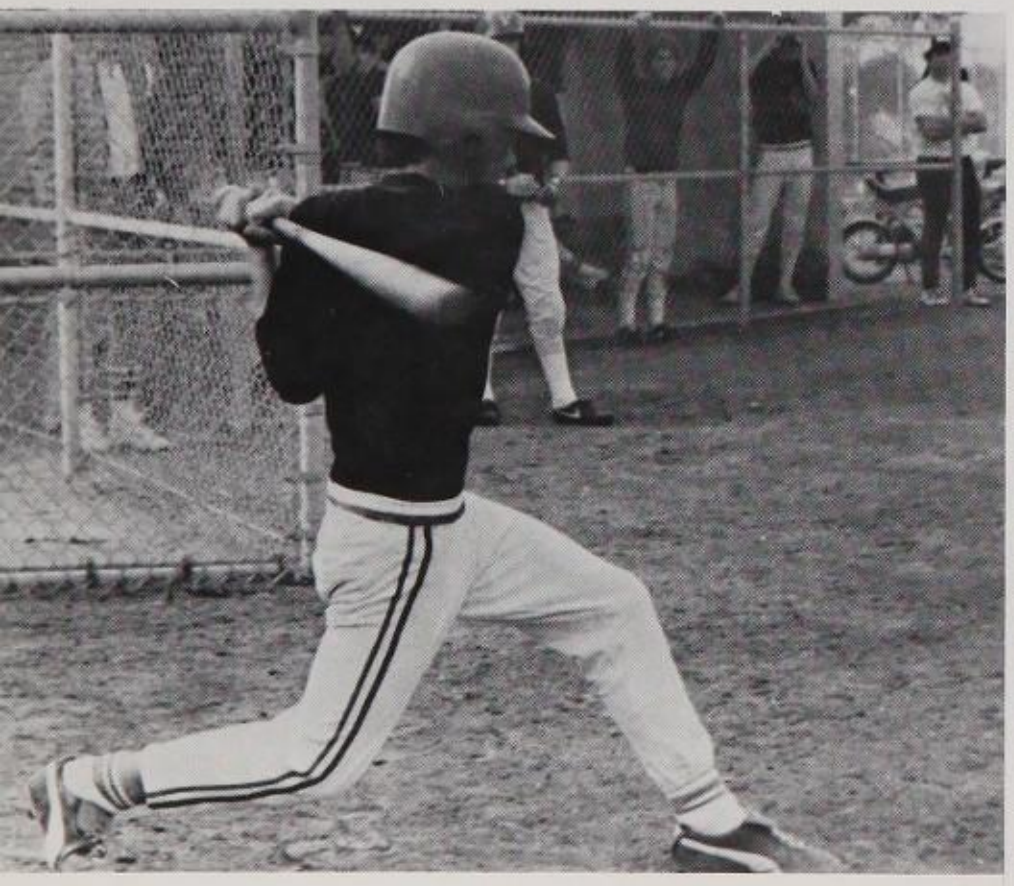
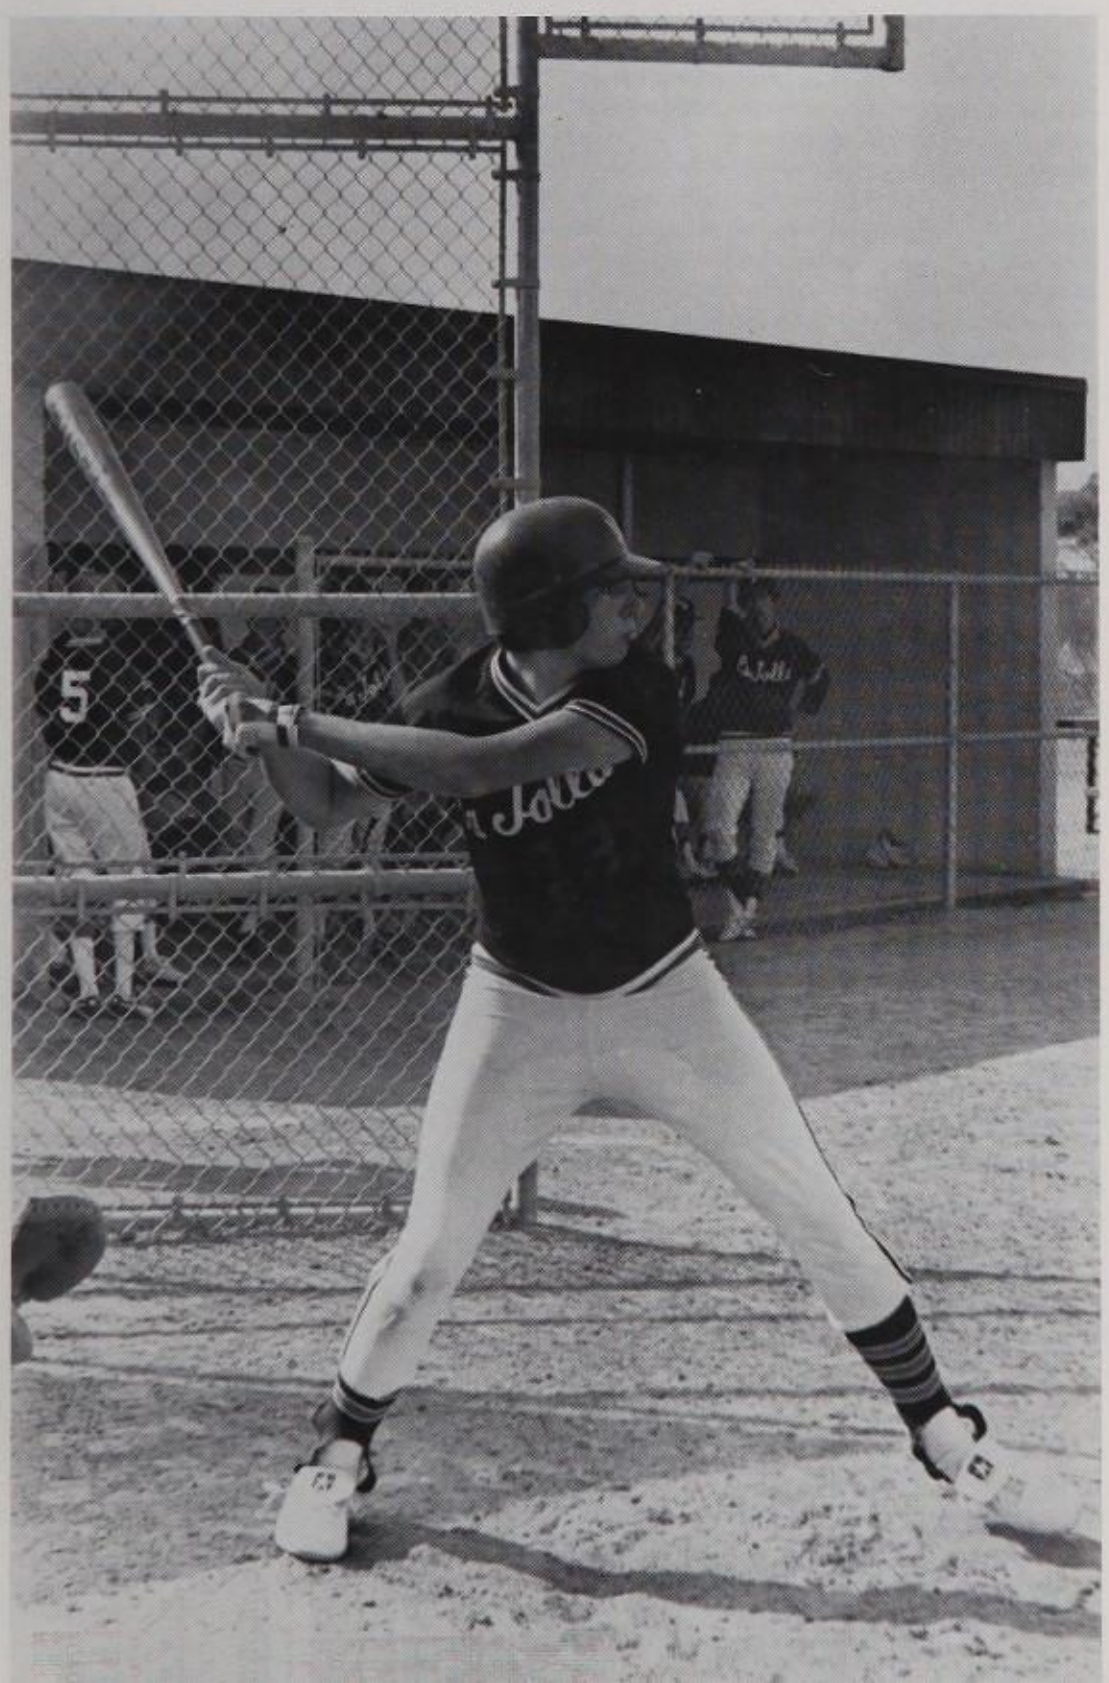
VARSITY BASEBALL

The 1983 Varsity Baseball team has enjoyed a good hitting season, but Coach Huddleston knows they can do better. "If we can beat the teams we're capable of beating, we're shooting for number 2 in the league." The team's strongest players have been Greg Holdgrafer, Ben Mathews, Doug Means, and Brian Merkin. They practiced for two and a half hours a day sharpening their skills and improving the outfield's defense. Coach Huddleston concludes, "It has been a fun team to work with. Although we had kind of a slow start due to the weather and all, I honestly feel they worked really hard and learned some baseball."

(clockwise from top left): Jeff Jacobs; Lafayette Cunningham, Charlie Recksceick, P.J. Palmer; Bruce Atkinson, John So.

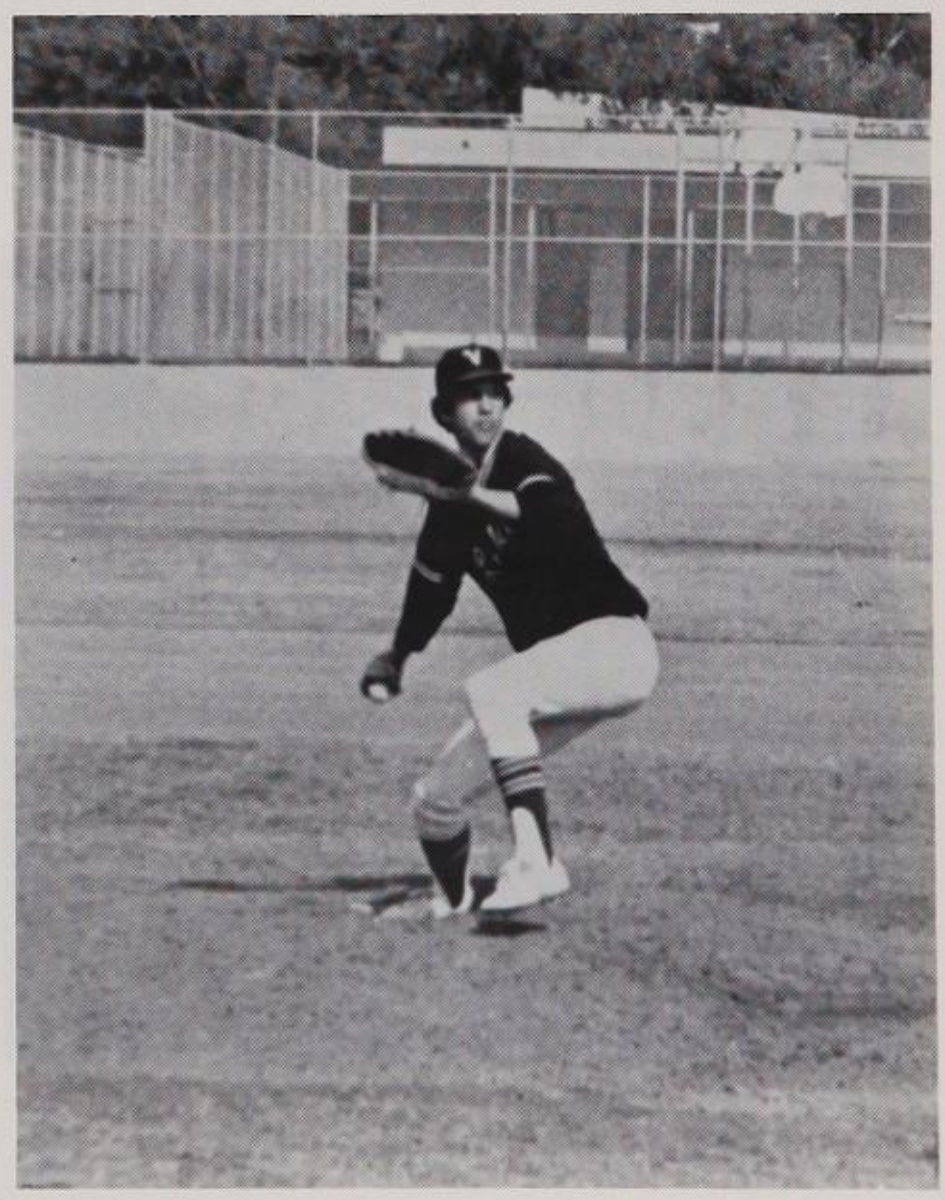






J.V. BASEBALL

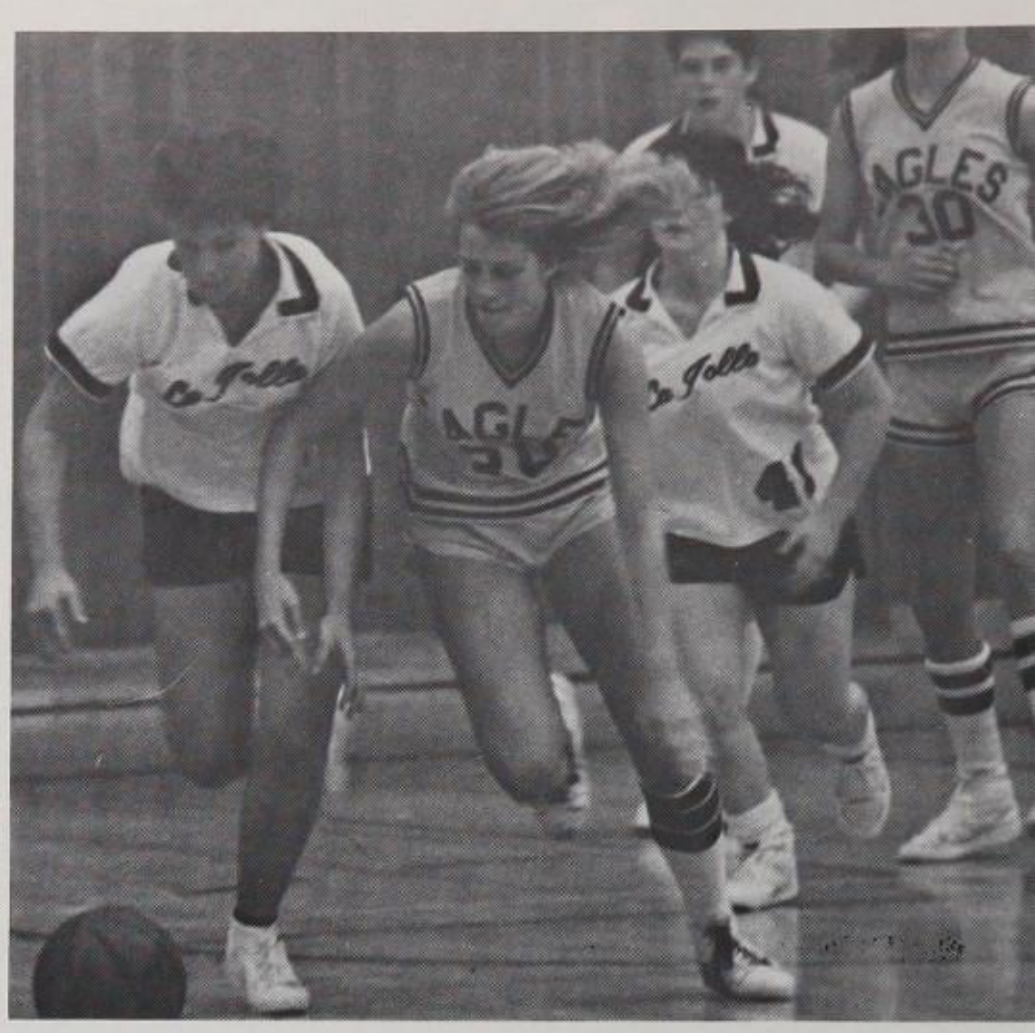
The key to success of the J.V. Baseball team has been consistency. They've beaten every team that they should have beaten and have suffered no upsets. Consistently contributing are Sean Hans, Tad Heinamann, Charlie Recksceick, and Andy Sickman. The team boasts unusual speed and has not been thrown out trying to steal. Undoubtedly, the most outstanding game was when they beat rival Point Loma 14-10. They've had a spectacular year and should finish over .500. First year coach Bob Allen adds, "If the members of the team keep up the improvement they've shown so far, Varsity Baseball in the years to come should well represent the school."

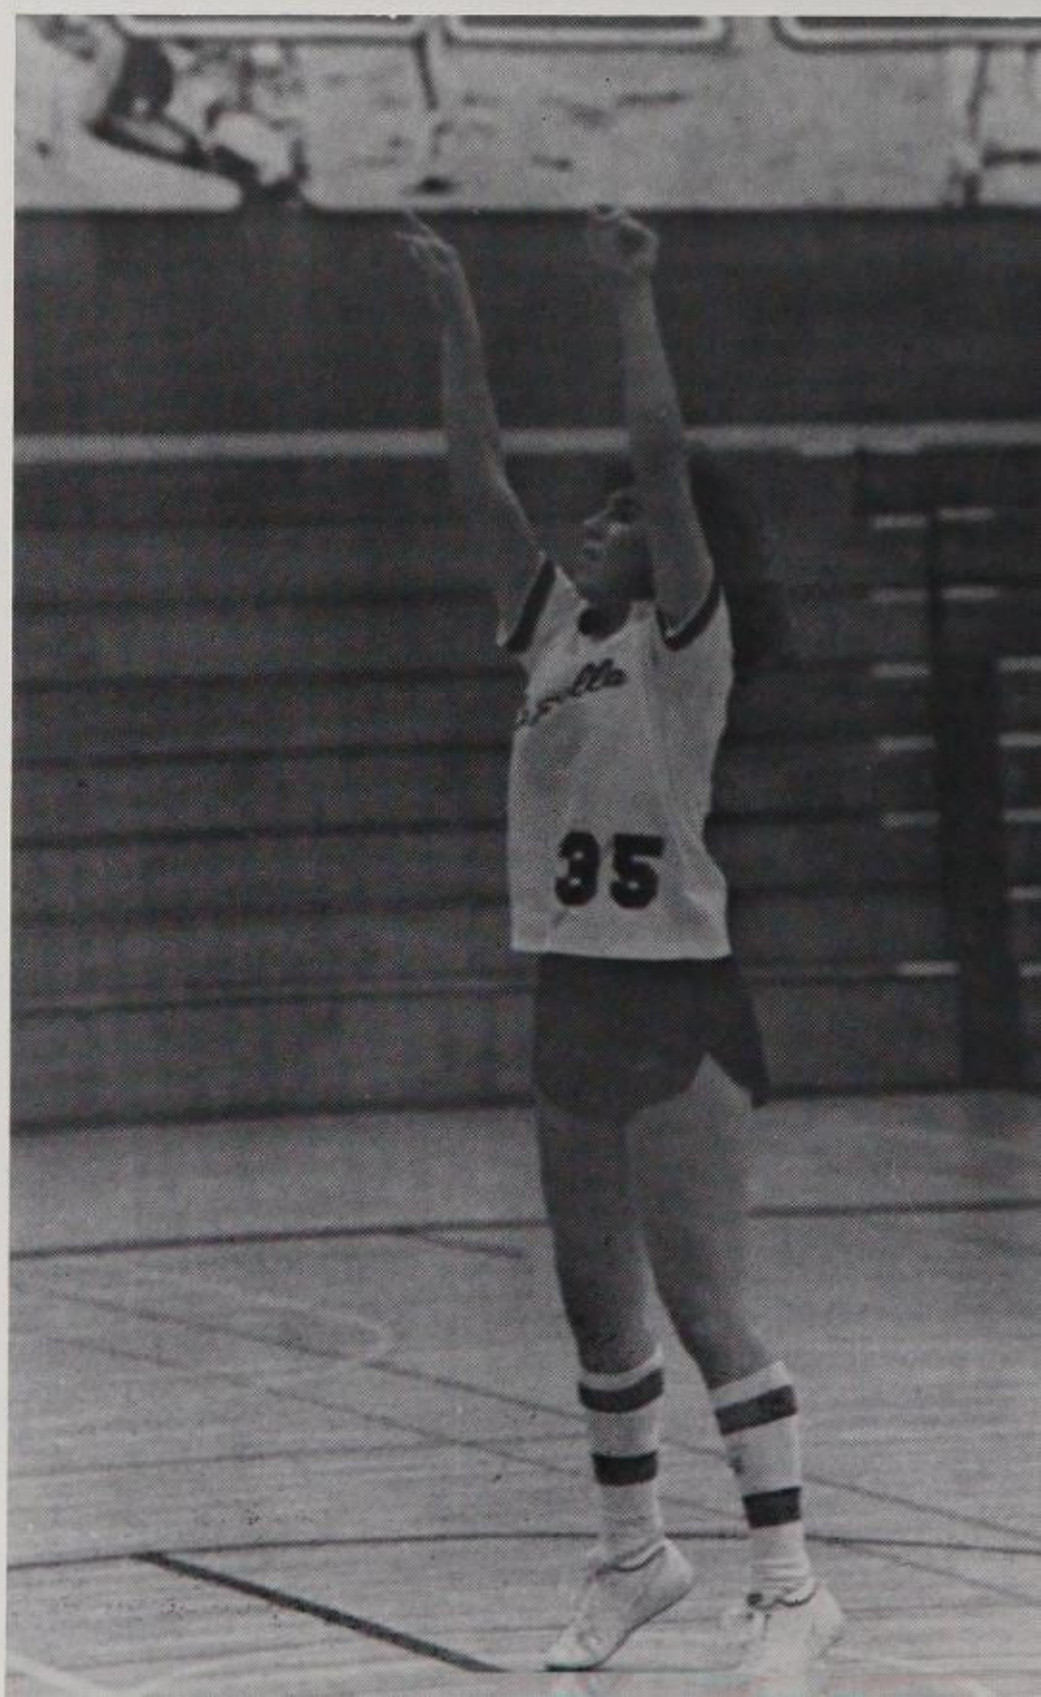


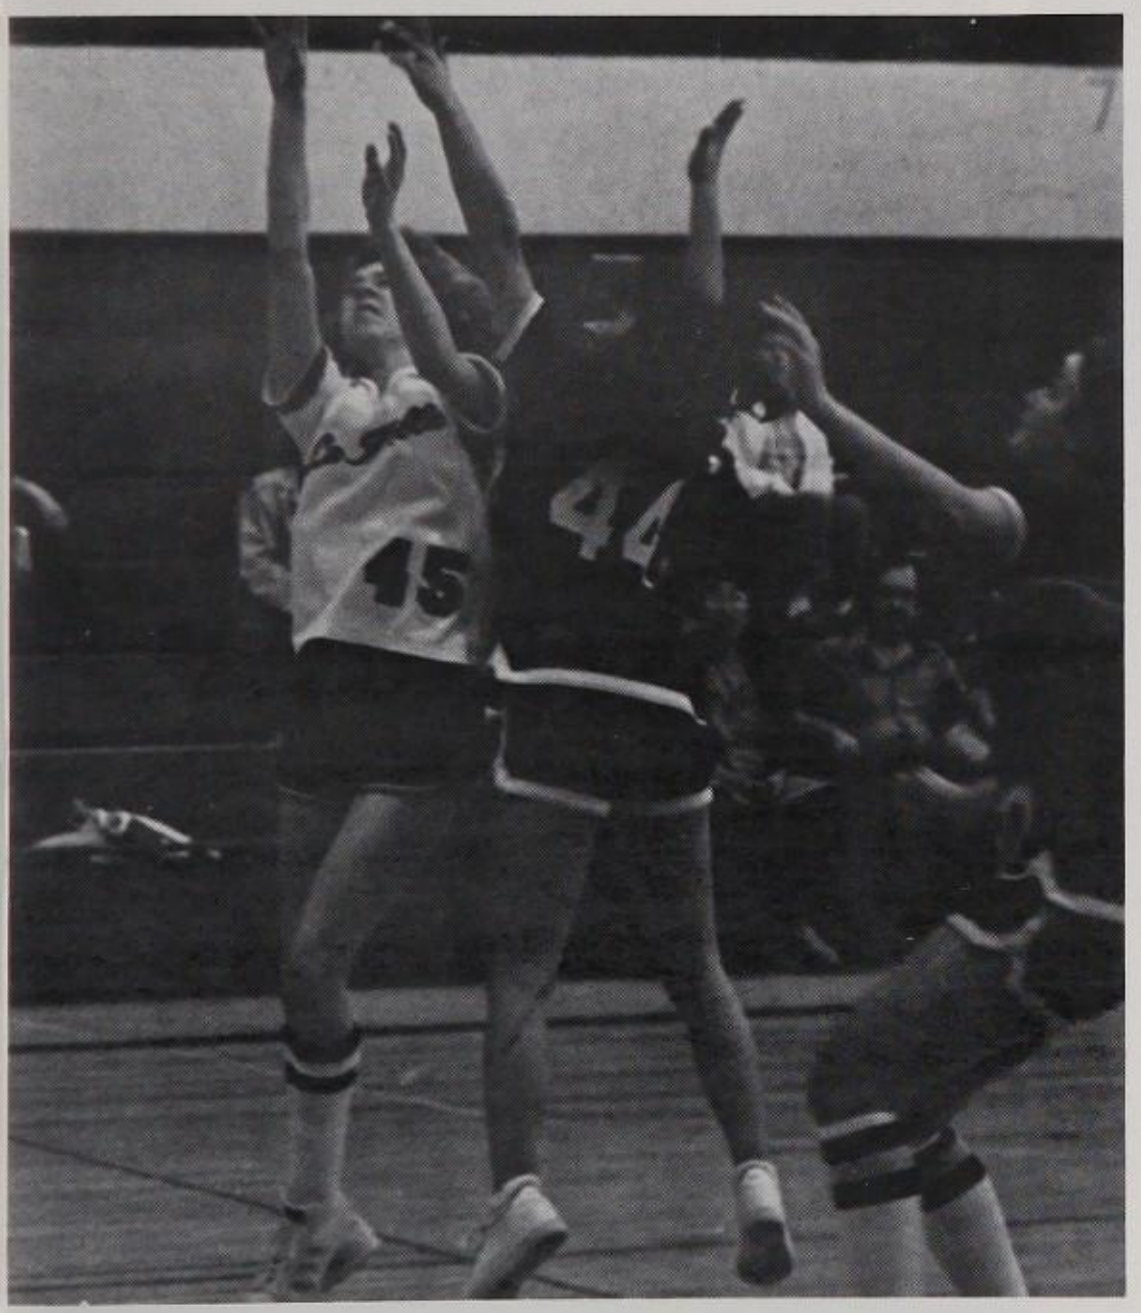
VARSITY BASKETBALL

The '83 girls Varsity Basketball team, coached by Dennis Morrow, is a well balanced unit with five seniors, and four juniors, and one sophmore. However, they are suffering from potential talent. Many of the girls are excellent shooters and dribblers, but just don't have enough game experience to utilize their skills. The Valkyries have a tendancy to beat themselves, and if rendered could mean trouble for opponents. Emotionally the girls are a team with players who have played for a long time helping those who haven't. A hopeful Martina Chacones adds, "There's an awful lot of sheer talent."

(clockwise from upper left): Jessica Rothchilds; Sue Grau, Ginny Pearson, Jennifer Douglas; Barbara Grau, Lisa Iverson.







J.V. BASKETBALL

This year's Junior Varsity Basketball team is extremely dedicated. With the help of Coach Bob Leach, the nine players practice every night from 4:30 to 6:00. Out of the nine, six are sophmores. This will give next years Varsity squad, the experience needed to make a winning team.

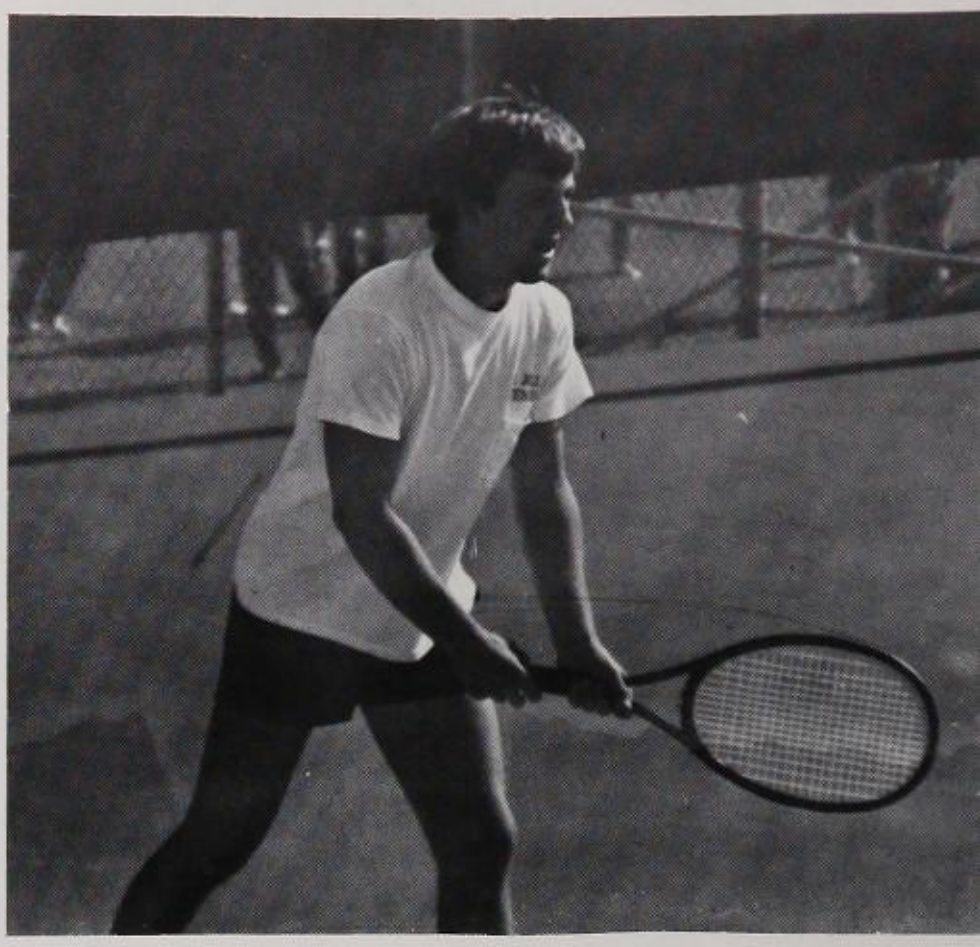
BOY'S TENNIS

La Jolla tennis team members boast an unusual quality because most of the team members have played since they could hold a raquet. In a town that has been labeled, "The tennis capitol of the country," the players are expected to win, and they have. Coach Coral can safely predict winning their 14th consecutive CIF title with an undefeated season.

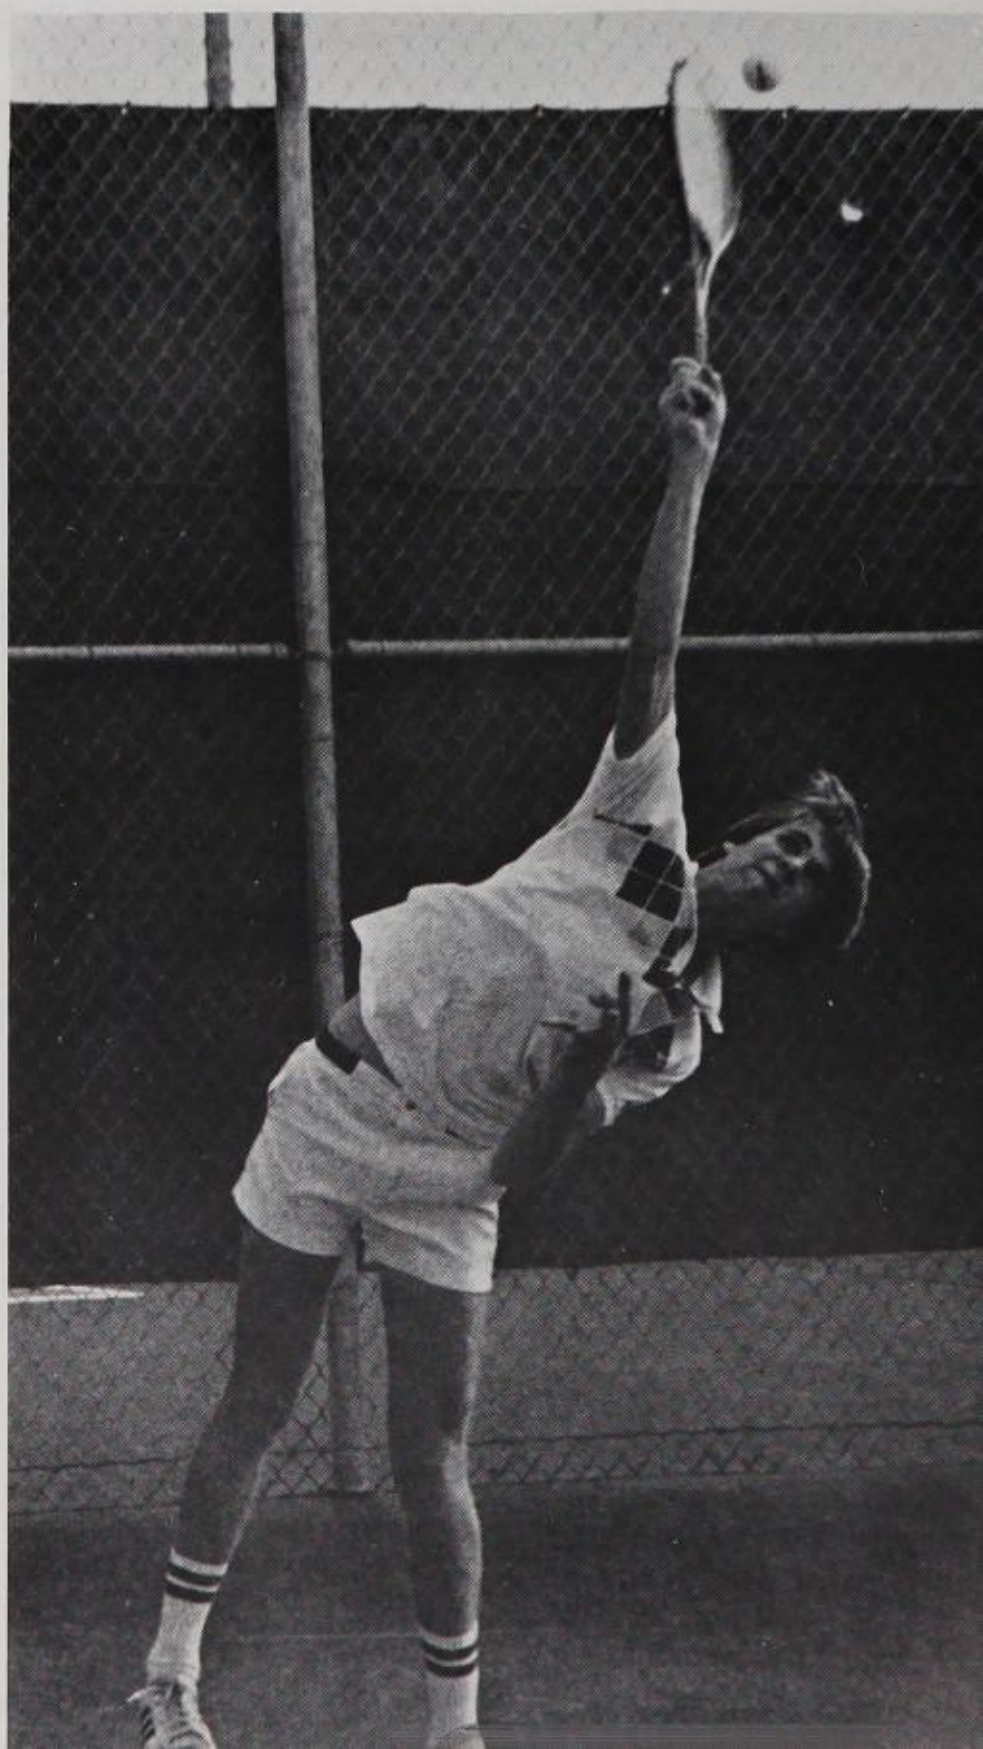
The team is led by the outstanding play of seniors Jack Griffin, Todd Khoury, Danny Shore, Amado Yanez and underclassmen Scott Morse, Chris Colwell, Bruce Steel, Peter Charlton and Jason Halcuist.

La Jolla has seven other skilled players who are trying for a position on the starting team. In that respect, La Jolla has depth which is important in case of injury. Other strong points are a winning attitude and youth. La Jolla has only four starters graduating.

Coach Coral comments on his first year of coaching,"I enjoy it all and find it a very rewarding experience."



(clockwise starting top left): Chris Colwell; Kevin Knowles, group, Keith Marland; Jack Griffin, Bruce Steel.



GOLF

The Vikings look to continue their winning golf tradition with the outstanding play of CIF contenders Bob Grassa and Keith Marland. Golf is a team effort where the five lowest scores are summed and become the overall team score. The team with lowest score wins. La Jolla excelled with the depth and steady play that senior Kevin Knowles and juniors Greg Attiyeh and Mike Riley contributed. Coach Edwards added, "If they play up to their potential they'll make league championships."

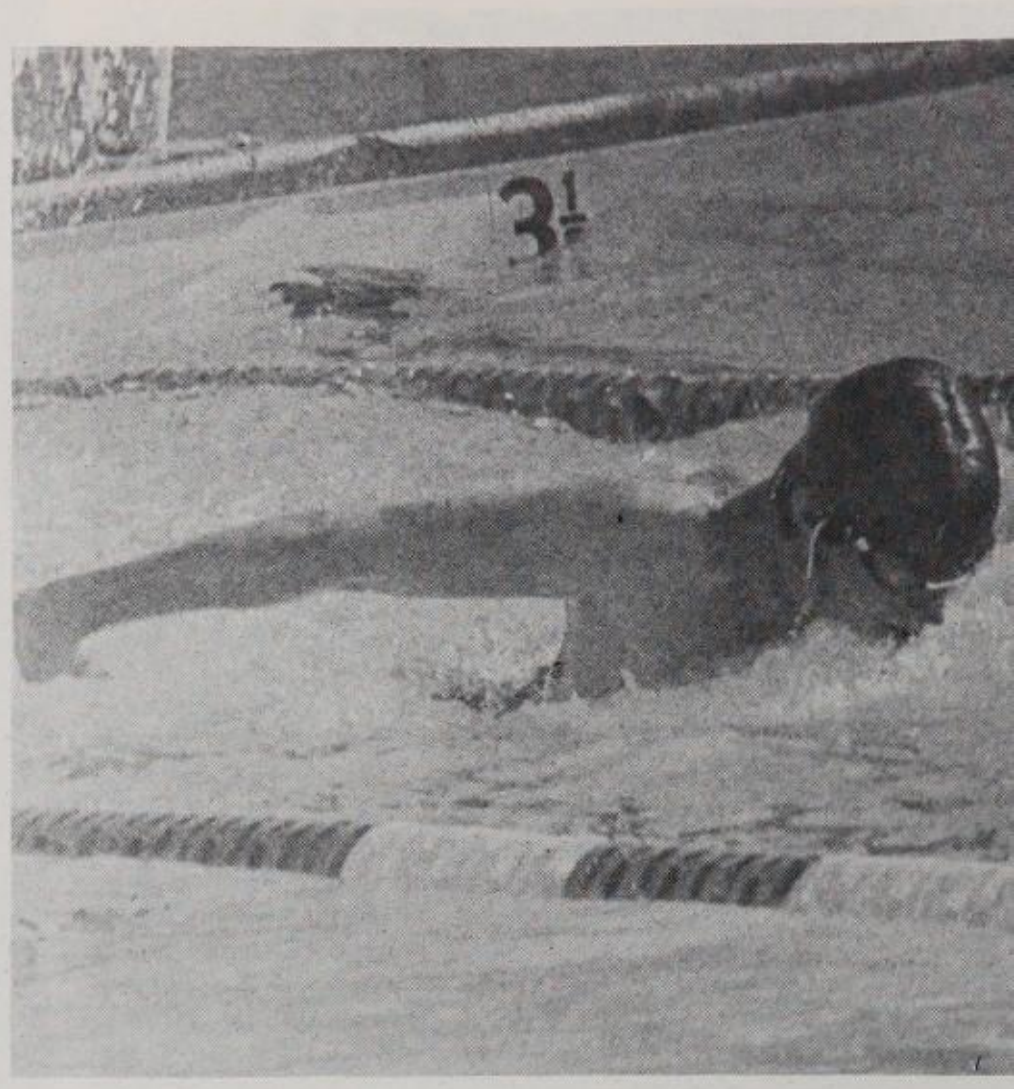
(starting top row from left to right): Bobby Grassa, Heidi Duback, Keith Marland, Coach Gene Edwards, Ed Gotfredson, Kevin Knowles, Lou Major, Tucker Creamer, Greg Attiyeh.

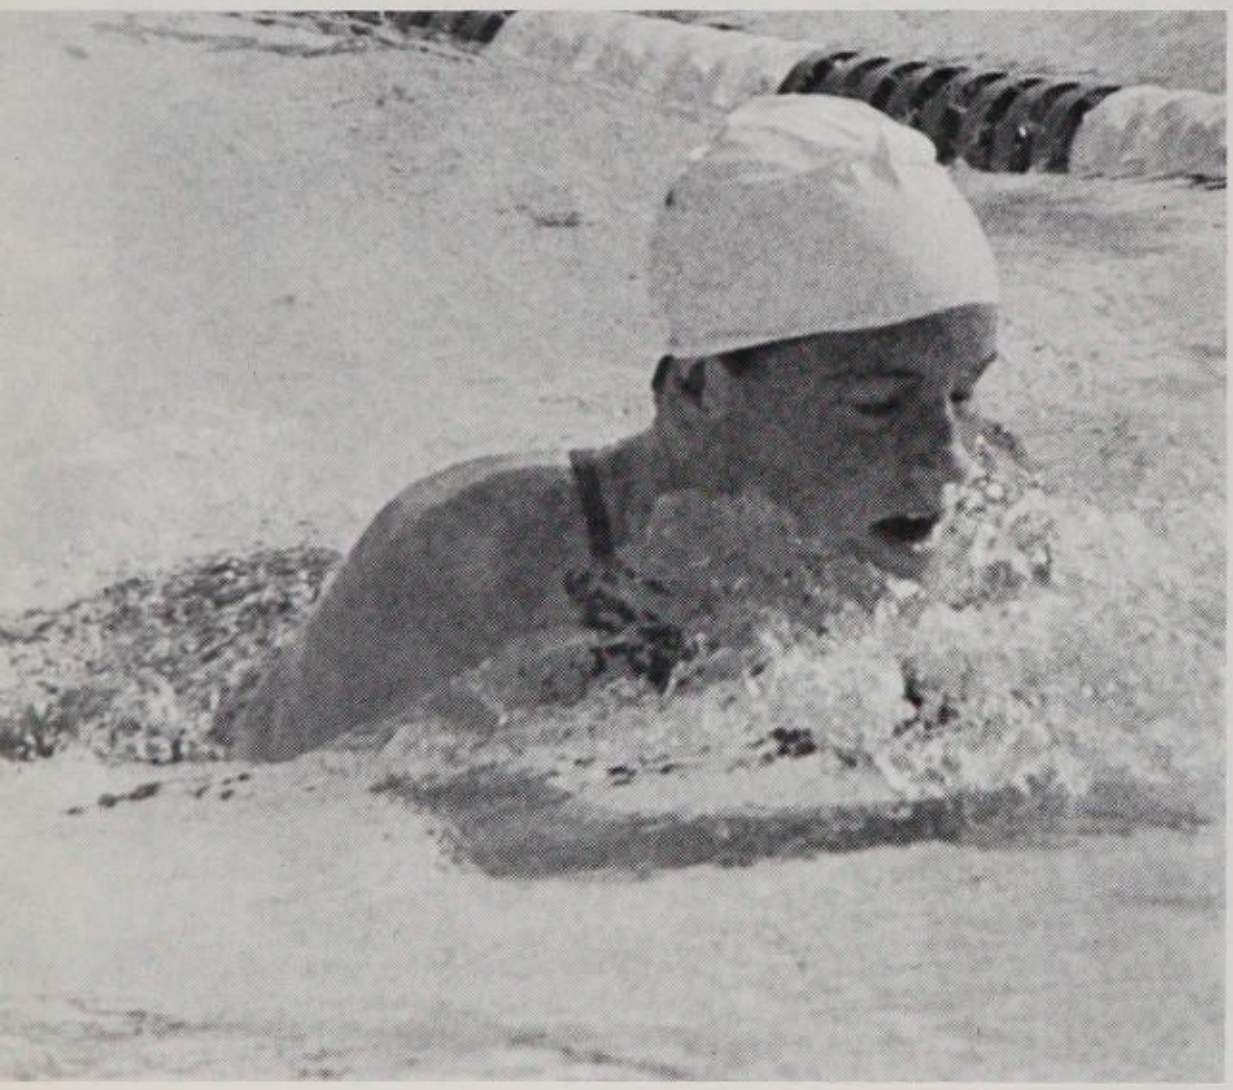
SWIMMING

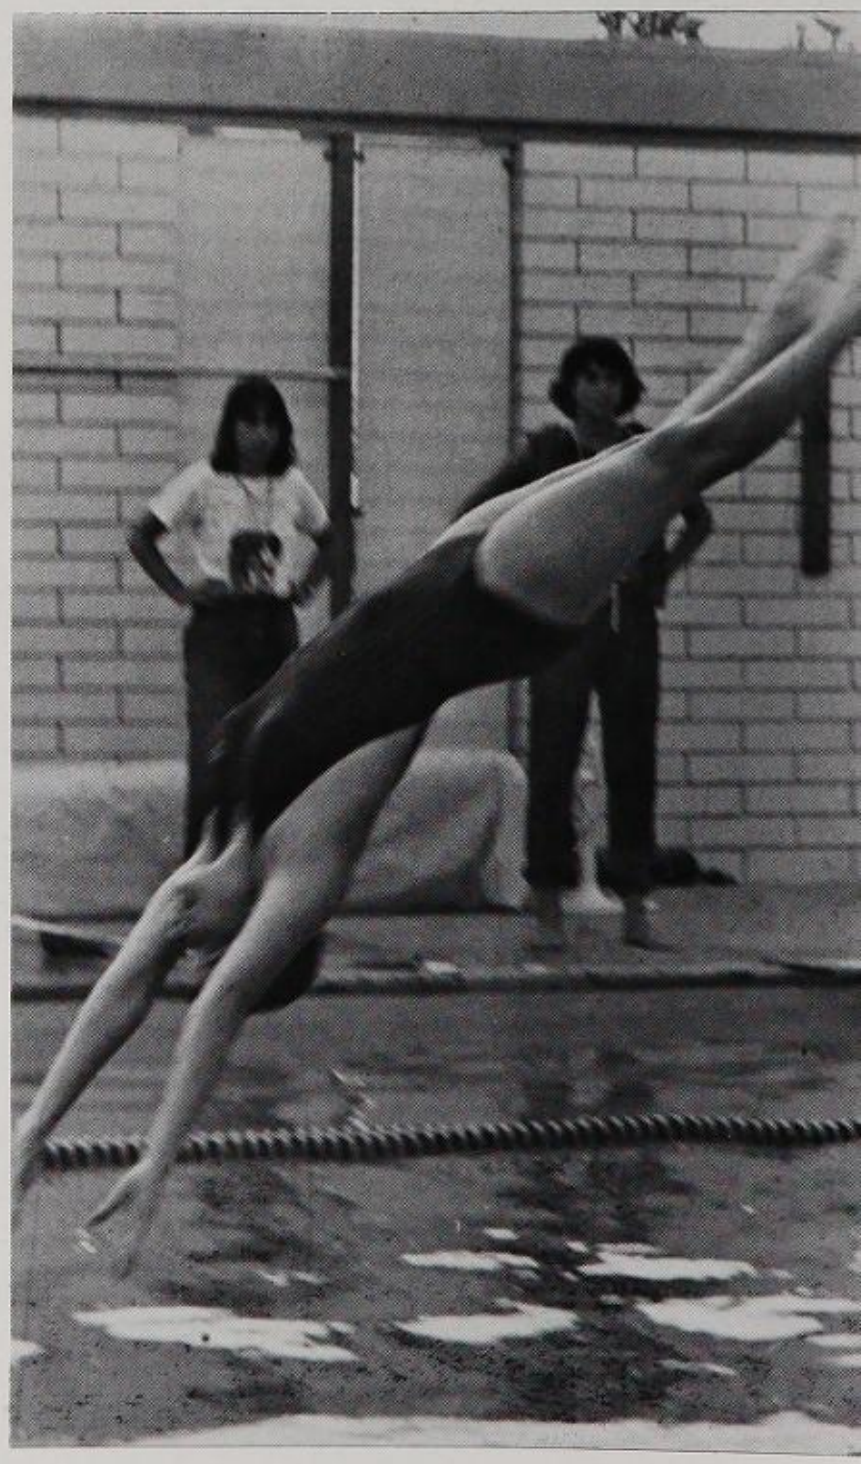
Two major additions have been placed on the swim team this year, girls and a diving squad. Due to budget cuts in the city schools the boys' and girls' teams have been placed together. It's been a positive change, because the swimmers have had more fun and team spirit. The diving squad consists of three girls and two boys, and they were very strong.

With the strong swimming of seniors, Clay Welbourne and Julie Garrett, the team's have done very well. For the first time in four year's, they beat Crawford, and the girls have a strong possibility to be C.I.F. champs.

(clockwise starting top left): Tim Canty; group, Matt Singer, Adam Keller; Teresa Todd, Pam Little.







BOY'S VOLLEYBALL

This year La Jolla High had one of the few boy's volleyball teams in the school's history. The team was organized by seniors Chris Stetson and Matt Singer and coached by Lisa Roach. All of the players who tried out, were divided into J.V. and Varsity teams. Both teams practiced every Tuesday to work on their skills. Unfortunately, boy's volleyball is not an official school sport and they were unable to have league matches and C.I.F. playoffs. For competition, they entered tournaments at Balboa Park and occasionally,invited other teams to matches.

This year's players were: (top row): Tim Collins, Adam Keller, Chris Stetson, Steve Mullin, James Rogan.

GYMNASTICS

Coached by Beth Behnke and Terry McPherson, the girls Gymnastics team demonstrated their self-motivation when they sold candy to raise money for their team. The sixteen members competed in four events consisting of vaulting, floor exercise, parallel bars, and balance beam. The five varsity members have been led by sisters Debra and Karen Armstrong. For junior varsity, senior Sherry Wolf has excelled.

The girls have likened themselves to a family unit and fondly remember Julia Minas' backroll off the beam into a chair and Emily Backus' perfect swandive bellyflop onto the mat.

Coach Behnke boasts, "I'm extremely proud of the progress they've made and am amazed at what they've learned in such a short time!"

Coach McPherson humorously concludes, "It has just been a fun and positve experience. We're not going to win state this year but we've got awfully good looking uniforms!"

FREEDOM OF CONSCIENCE

Freedom of Conscience was a group affiliated with the KiwanisClub and a branch of Amnesty International. They worked for people who were imprisoned for political beliefs in foreign countries. They located prisoners whose rights were not being observed and sent a telegram to the government asking how the Freedom of Conscience club could help the prisoner get a fair trial. They also circulated petitions that called for international diplomacy on political executions in countries like El Salvador and Guatemala. The club president was J.J. Gass.

The music that was played throughout the year included pieces of very traditional forms of music as well as many contemporary pieces.

"Preparing for and going to festivals taught me the great work and dedication needed to be a true musician," added Jeremy Parzen.

SUMMER NEWS

A NEW MAYOR:

On Wednesday, May 4, 1983, Roger Hedgecock was announced victor of the race for mayor of San Diego. Hedgecock beat Maureen O'Connor 52% to 48%. "It was closer than we thought, but we'll take it," Hedgecock commented. The closeness of the election encouraged O'Connor to run again in 1984. Hedgecock will serve the final 19 months of former Mayor Pete Wilson's third term.

EARTHQUAKE:

Tremors are not uncommon in California but on Monday, May 2nd, an earthquake that registered 6.5 on the Richter scale hit the small town of Coalinga, California. The quake caused great damage due to the fact that many structures were old. Ruptured gas lines and downed power lines started fires to add to the chaos. Twenty-five people were injured and doctors were flown in to help. This disaster was followed by several aftershocks.

FLOOD:

The combination of high surf, wind, and tide has done irreparable damage to the California coastline. Locally, the Marine Room was flooded by wind-driven waves of 10-15 feet that crashed through the windows. At the Cove, surfers enjoyed 20 foot swells that provided a rare surfing experience. Property damage was estimated to be in the millions.

FACULTY

Mrs. Maria Lipton was on the leave of absence for the first semester. She returned second semester to resume teaching Independent Study.

The La Jolla High School P.E. department had three coache's aids this year. The aids taught all subjects that included volleyball, raquetball, weights, and tennis.

Coach Allen taught five periods and coached the J.V. baseball team. Coach Saddler helped the trach team during sixth period and after school. Coach La Valley was in charge of coaching several periods, and graduated from college at the end of the semester.

The only requirement to become a teacher's aid is to be a full-time college student; when meeting this requirement they are hired and given a job site by the Education Center.

Teacher's aids help by correcting test papers, homework, and assisting students who have difficulties with certain subjects.

Miss Ibarra helps the bilingual students and Rhonda Morris accompanies Frank Lester, a deaf-mute student. She interprets for him by using sign language.

CAFETERIA AND RETIRING FACULTY

The L.J.H.S Cafeteria stays busy all day. Their morning starts at 7:30 with a warm cup of coffee and breackfast to get the students and faculty going. They begin serving lunch at 12:00 to students who count on a hot meal.

The cafeteria is expected to stay clean by those who use it, and to enforce this, Miss Porter, Mr. Harris, Mr. Northrop, and Mr. Adams supervise the area.

Mr. Pruett was born and brought up in Alabama and like some students, he did not appreciate the values of a good education. He dropped out of High School and started working at different jobs, later he joined the Navy. He was in the Navy for twenty years where he was given the opportunity to travel to a number of different countries. After traveling and seeing more of the world, he realized a good education was important.

Mr. Pruett was attracted to teaching so he enrolled at San Diego State. He was an excellent student and in 1961 he received his Bachelors degree.

In 1962, he started teaching at San Diego High. This was his first job as a teacher, and he enjoyed it. In 1972, he started teaching at La Jolla, and up until this point he gets along well with his students and loves sharing his time with them.

During the time of his retirement, Mr. Pruett plans to travel to the Northwestern states, write about teaching, and raise plants.

This years members of the cafeteria staff were: June Overfield, Mallie Jones, Norma Deg, Teresa Lackey, and Marie Vilchis. Not pictured: Margaret Baylor, Lillian Breng, and Ruth Parrish.
